

ADJACENT CITIES

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - SEP. 18, 1893.

REPORT MADE.

Ogden River Can be Made to Develop More Than Ten Thousand Horse Power.

The survey of Ogden river with the view of determining the amount of horse power that could be generated, and the average volume of water, has been completed by Mr. C. R. Doolittle, the engineer in charge, after four weeks of labor.

The final report, together with the maps and drawings made, is now in the possession of the city council committee on water supply.

This work is the outgrowth of a petition, signed by a number of Ogden's prominent citizens asking the council to appropriate $500 for the above named purpose, as an English chemical manufacturing company had signified a willingness to locate a factory in Ogden, which would mean the employment of 500 or 600 men, and the expenditure of a large amount of money, provided 1000 horse power could be obtained from the Ogden river.

The report is an elaborate one and enters largely into the details of the proposition, but is sufficient for the present to say that the amount of horse power that can be obtained by putting in a power plant immediately below Wheeler creek, and placing the water a distance of five miles—a project that in the estimation of the engineer is quite feasible.

The Fair Ended.

Saturday night at 11 o'clock the primary fair of this county was brought to a close after a successful run of three days. The officers of the association and all who entered in the pleasant labor of making the exhibits the artistic, social and financial success that it was, was abundantly repaid for the time and labor employed in directing the prize-worthy enterprise.

It is believed that the exhibition will from this time on become an annual one, and that in future years the little fair will be able to satisfy the effort that has been made in the entire satisfaction of all interested.

An Inevitable Blaze.

Last night at 8:30 while Mr. and Mrs. George Lockhead were at dinner at the Fifth ward meeting house, a lighted lamp was overturned in some unaccountable manner and started a blaze in their residence. An alarm was given and the fire department responded, but they were not needed as the fire was so small and smothered out the fire before the department arrived. Some little damage was done to the carpets and furniture, but is fully covered by insurance.

Probate Matters.

Saturday Mary F. Holbrook, widow of W. B. Holbrook, deceased, filed a petition asking that she be appointed administratrix of the estate. Monday, October 1st, was set for the hearing.

In the matter of the estate of Thomas E. Jones, deceased, defendant 2175 was set for hearing the petition of Mary Ann Jones, praying for this will to be probated.

In the estate and guardianship of John Nicholas and minors, a decree was entered authorizing the guardian, George M. Hart.
