

MR. TAFT TALKS IN CHATTANOOGA

Given Enthusiastic Reception, Committee Composed of Democrats and Republicans.

IS REMINISCENT AND HAPPY

First Visited South as a Judge, Has Fallen from That High Estate and Now After Presidency.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 16.—Judge William H. Taft's first argument to southern Democrats together with his reasons for giving the south its first glimpse of a Republican presidential candidate, was delivered here this morning to an audience which packed the auditorium, the largest hall in the city. The candidate was met at the station by a large reception committee upon which it was said were as many Democrats as Republicans. Mr. Taft will spend the entire day in the state.

His reception here was characteristic of the extreme cordiality for which the south is noted.

Judge Taft, who was introduced with warm words of praise by H. Clay Evans, was in a peculiarly happy mood. He told of his excursion to the south when on the bench, and continuing said:

"When I knew you before, I was engaged in the respectable business of trying to administer justice. I have fallen from that high estate and am engaged in running for the presidency, and it seemed to me that with the disinterest I have always had in the south it was only proper that I should come here, and as a candidate for the presidency on the Republican ticket, express my presence, and what I might say here, my interest in bringing about such a result as will more closely unite the sections than they have been united."

"It is quite possible that we may not get a single electoral vote in the south. I think we will get enough without, but nothing would gratify me more than if I could enter the presidential chair with the feeling that in the electoral vote that put me there was the vote of Tennessee and Kentucky."

"We all know the history of the country and we know the natural results of the war. We know how the south was ruined, how the Democratic party, we know its natural conservative tendency. We know the homogeneous character of its people, the preservation of traditions of the family."

"Why, I remember when I went to Nashville and got into the families of some of the lawyers there; they were telling and enjoying the jokes, the forensic jokes and repartees and forcible arguments that had been uttered 50, 60 and 70 years ago by the leaders of the bar. That would not be possible north of the Ohio river, because we have changed so that our family recollections don't go back that far."

"So it is entirely natural that even after all reasons have disappeared, why the intelligent southern people should vote the Democratic ticket and go on voting just to preserve the historic traditions."

"I am here to see if we cannot make a beginning of disturbing that tradition and to place where tradition and relegating it to the place where useless traditions ought to be. The enormous industrial expansion of the south, which has taken place since 1895 and largely under the auspices of Republican administrations ought, it seems to me, to demonstrate to the thoughtful men of the south that their logical position is in the party which makes such prosperity possible."

"There are a great many men in the south, and doubtless many within the sound of my voice, who are strictly Democrats. They are to be divided into three classes. The first class are going to vote for me. The second class are not going to vote at all. And the third class are going to vote for my opponent and hope that I will be elected. I think, my friends, that you know, as I know that it is a fair statement."

"I am here to see if I cannot convince the two latter classes that what they ought to do is to come right out and just take their first vote and vote for the historic tradition that naturally is dear to their heart and come right into the party whose principles they approve."

SEAL SKIN CATCH.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 16.—The first of the homing seal fleet, the schooner Jessie, arrived last night with five sea.

Lord Bacon

Said, "Digest"

This is the Secret of Life in Business or in Health.

It is claimed that Lord Bacon struck the prime keynote of life when he wrote: "Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested."

He wrote of books; many who have followed him have written likewise of life. The man who digests his business makes success; the man who swallows it, who digests his or her art brings fame; the man who lives life and digests it as he should lives as was the intention he should live.

It is not the food you swallow or taste that brings happiness to you; it is the food you digest.

If you swallow and taste and don't digest and chew, Nature cannot give you health, for you do not furnish the ammunition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain in nature, concentrated form the essence which, when they reach the stomach, turn dyspeptic conditions into those of healthy digestion.

These little tablets are dissolved in the mouth by saliva; they mix with this fluid and are passed down into the stomach, where they immediately set to work upon the food and digest it. They are many times more powerful than the human digestive fluids, and thus replenish Nature with their juices, which sickness, abuse or wrongful eating have exhausted.

The world's best chemists in Europe and America agree on the ingredients best adapted to perfect digestion. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are these ingredients presented to the stomach in the most pleasant and lasting form.

other skins, and 471 seal skins. News was brought that the eight schooners from Victoria had 3,865 seal skins, about double the catch made by 12 schooners last year.

PLANTER THREATEND.

Chlor Night Rider Orders Him to Organize a Band.

Plaquemine, La., Oct. 16.—S. Cooper, a prominent planter of Maringouin, this parish, has received a letter from "Determination," whom detectives are now tracing, as an organizer of night riders. The letter differs from others written by the same individual to other persons in this state in that it commands Cooper to organize a band of night riders among his neighbors and calls upon him to "immediately call together a few of your trusted neighbors and have this notice posted on all gins."

"Notice: You are notified not to give any more cotton until the price advances to 15 cents per pound, under penalty of fire. (Signed) 'DETERMINATION,' 'Chief Night Rider.'"

BRAZILIAN SUGAR INDUSTRY REACHES CRISIS

Washington, Oct. 16.—The sugar industry has reached the most critical period of its history and is now the center of a great conflict in the Brazilian business world in which producing and refining interests are at war. Writes Consul Gen. Anderson at Rio to the state department here, "Even if the present high duty is maintained, he says, the market will dwindle until it will not suffice to support the present volume of the industry. Without artificial support many sugar concessions will have to stop business. The present contest is between the planter-factory, as the producing interests, and the refiners. There is a very high import duty and largely decreased consumption and a coming bumper crop. Besides, a sugar trust exists in Brazil, not for importation and domestic sale of sugar, but for the control of domestic market by controlling the country's sugar exports, imports, being taken shut out. The conflict affects American exports to Brazil and directly affects American markets because certain amounts of Brazilian sugar are likely to be forced upon the American markets at any price."

The planters and factory people who have bought modern machinery, mostly from the United States, are making profits without support of any duty. The shipments of Brazilian sugar to the United States will be much increased in the near future, it is predicted.

CHORUS GIRLS CAUSE A YOUNG MAN'S DOWNFALL

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Chorus girls, who suppers and automobiles are the causes for the downfall of a young man of many names, who last night changed his abode from a downtown hotel to the central police station.

The name by which the prisoner is known is a charge of passing bogus checks, is Perry T. Marquette. He also is known as Bert Maerker, Robert Maucher, Robert Mercher and various other cognomens.

His arrest was caused by C. W. Motley, proprietor of an automobile livery. Last Tuesday Marquette engaged an automobile with chauffeur from the Motley company for three days. He tendered in payment a check for $120, drawn on a Philadelphia bank.

The Philadelphia bank was asked by wire if Marquette had an account with the institution, and a negative reply was received.

Detectives found Marquette at a downtown cafe surrounded by a number of young women who are appearing at a west side theater.

The prisoner is 25 years old. He told Inspector Lavin that his real name was Marquette. His father, he said, was Herman Marquette, formerly a wealthy lumberman of Milwaukee, now living at Big Timber, Mont.

"I'm a graduate of the Culver military academy," he said, "and was assigned to the United States battleship Mississippi as a midshipman. I was discharged for physical disability."

A check book of the Girard Trust company of Philadelphia was found in Marquette's possession. It shows he has an account of $9,721, but Inspector Lavin believes it is bogus.

RARE CHINESE CURIO.

Judge's Staff or Sceptre from Forbidden City of Peking.

New York, Oct. 16.—Dr. Herman C. Bumpus, director of the American Museum of natural history, has announced the acquisition by the museum of an exceedingly rare Chinese curio from Kin Ching, the forbidden city of Peking. It is called a "judge's staff or sceptre" and is fashioned of lacquered wood more than a century old and at one end is an elaborately carved crested dragon, the winged dragon, the imperial emblem of China and the other end is sharpened to a point.

After a judge had heard the evidence in the case of a prisoner charged with a capital offense, he takes up the sceptre. If he points the dragon's head at the prisoner the latter goes free, but if the prisoner is confronted with the sharpened end he must be beheaded. This is said to be the only specimen of its kind ever obtained from the forbidden city and brought to this country. It is the gift of M. F. Savage of this city, who obtained it for the museum some time ago, from an East Indian merchant.

Mr. Savage says that this judge's staff or sceptre was only used in the forbidden city at the trial of great nobles. It was obtained by an American artist named Mueller, a soldier of fortune, who rode with Soboleff in the attack on Plevna and who entered the imperial city with the American troops at the time of the Boxer uprising of 1900.

WASHINGTON AMERICANS WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Actions on the cases of players of the Washington American league team who took part in a barnstorming trip hereabouts this fall probably will be taken by the National commission at its meeting in this city tomorrow. At the same time a petition from Chicago baseball patrons calling for an investigation of the sale of tickets for the recent world's series games will be considered.

The Washington players subjected themselves to investigation by playing games here after their season closed. Investigation of one of the rules of the commission.

MALICIOUS FABRICATION FROM COLORADO TOWN

A malicious story has been sent out of Colorado Springs, where the Utah university eleven meets the Colorado college this afternoon. Why the story was manufactured is not known. There can not be an atom of truth in it. The fabrication follows:

Colorado Springs, Oct. 16.—George Young of Ogden, Utah, claiming to be a grandson of Brigham Young, student in the university of Utah, was caught concealed behind the grandstand on Washburn field watching the secret practice of the Colorado college Tigers yesterday afternoon.

He was roughly handled, and it was with difficulty that the students were prevented from throwing him in Monument creek. However, he was allowed to go on the promise that he would not return. About 40 minutes later he was seen back of the grandstand at the west side of the field. He had a kodak and was trying to get some snapshots.

He was escorted to a train by the students, and sent out of town toward Utah.

Pine Crest, Colo., Oct. 16.—Coach Joseph Maddock, of the Utah football eleven, when questioned regarding the report from Colorado Springs of the discovery of an alleged Utah "spy" on the Colorado college campus, denied the man was in any way connected with his aggregation, or, in fact, the university.

"If the incident happened at all," said Maddock, "it certainly was not known to me or any of the boys here."

When the "pipe" fell under the observation of Dean Byron Cummings

he said no such person is enrolled. Miss Beatrice Wilkinson also denies that there is a George Young attending the "U."

CHICAGO CUBS DIVIDE A NICE FAT PURSE

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The world's champion "Cubs" and Charles Murphy today divided among themselves their share of the receipts of the five world's championship games played with Detroit. As the winning team, the Chicagoans received $27,669.

Prior to the meeting, Manager Chance conferred informally with "Cal" Ewing and Henry Berry of the Pacific Coast league with reference to a series of games between the Cubs and teams of the Coast league. Manager Chance told of the proposition of Berry and Ewing, which included a guarantee of $10,000.

The Californians also offered to pay all expenses, but the Chicago players demanded a guarantee of $1,000 for each player, and after considerable discussion the scheme was abandoned.

Mr. Ewing said that in view of the uncertainty of weather conditions he could not raise his first offer of $10,000 and expenses.

McGoy forced the fighting all the way and in only one round, the fourth, did Stewart have anything like an break. It was a case of McGoy everywhere with forcing tactics, and the big man backing away continually.

Though the law does not permit of a decision being rendered, there can be no doubt as to who the winner was since the days before the repeal of the Horton law has such a representative gathering of sporting men been seen at a boxing contest in this city, every one of the on-lookers was anxious to see whether the old McGoy had come back or if the Brooklynite who had made weight championship sagittans could all the bill. McGoy was greeted with cheers as he jumped into the ring. Stewart seemed to be terrified from the outset of the bout, and a hard left smash on the chin, which sent him to the floor in the opening round, took all the steam out of him. McGoy weighed about 135 pounds, fully 40 pounds less than the Brooklyn man. While McGoy did not look anything like his former self, he showed wonderful ability in footwork and his sparring and feinting were as clever as ever.

McGoy's last ring match was a 20-round decision over Jack Sullivan at Los Angeles, in October of 1904. Not
