

STORAGE OF WOOL IS PROGRESSING

Plans Being Laid to Erect Warehouse to Care for 100,000,000 Pounds.

BANKERS BACK OF SCHEME.

Chicago Men Will Advance All Money Needed by Growers and Open Up Ready Market.

(Special to the "News.")
Cheyenne, Wyo., June 22.—President F. W. Gooding of the National Wool Growers association, and members of his committee that last year conferred with leading manufacturers in Chicago, relative to the establishment of large wool warehouses and a wool market in Chicago, passed through the city yesterday en route to their homes in the western states. They are enthusiastic over the prospects of building up a market at Chicago, which, through the storage plan, followed by the establishment of large manufacturing plants in and about Chicago, will offer them an "avenue of escape" from the middlemen and present unsatisfactory methods of marketing their wool.

BANKERS LEND AID.

President Gooding said the Chicago bankers offered to not only advance all of the money needed by the wool growers but they would see to it that all wool stored in Chicago found a ready market and at top prices. There are no less than 20 woolen mills within a radius of 100 miles of Chicago, and these mills alone will consume an enormous quantity of wool annually, and which wool they will prefer to secure at Chicago rather than to go to Boston and Philadelphia for it as has been the custom for many years. By stopping the wool at Chicago the grower will save large sums in freight charges annually.

The National Wool Growers association, with headquarters in this city, is boosting the Chicago storage plan, and as soon as the storage company is organized, which will be in a few days, and the warehouse secured, every effort will be put forth to have western growers ship their clips to Chicago, where they will obtain advances of from eight to ten cents per pound and at a very low rate of interest, the interest not exceeding five per cent. The banks will loan the money for as long periods as the growers wish. A very nominal charge for storage, grading and insurance will be made. Indeed, it is estimated that the growers can store their wool much cheaper in Chicago than at home, and can secure money at a much lower rate of interest.

VALE VAIL.

Former Fire Chief Vail Packs Up His Effects and Promptly Steps Down.

Former Fire Chief Vail gathered up his personal effects at headquarters this morning and said his final farewell to "the boys" at the central station.

Mr. Vail did not care to make any statement whatever concerning his removal beyond saying:

"I wish you would say through the 'News' that I wish to heartily thank the mayor and councilmen for the loyalty they have shown me during the time of my service as chief of the fire department."

With reference to the petition to make him custodian of the firemen's relief fund, ex-Chief Vail had little to say.

"The main object was," said he, "to make me custodian of the fund until the association is formed. The boys wanted to show their confidence in me and I thoroughly appreciate it. They all know that I will do anything in my power for them to benefit their condition. In other cities where there is a fire department, it is in the hands, in many instances, of those not connected with the fire department."

Mr. Vail said he expected to go into business, but did not say what it would be. He expressed himself as being satisfied with his administration of affairs at the fire department, and said he had no regrets whatever.

Captain Ayland is now officially the head of the department and will remain as such until a successor to Vail is chosen. Acting Chief Ayland has taken hold of department affairs, and this morning had the men out for their usual drill.

MYSTERY OF AN AUTO.

Motor Car Left Outside Wilson Hotel Is Still Unclaimed.

The police are trying to solve the mystery of an automobile. It is a Ford machine and is now tied in front of the station with purple and yellow ribbons made into a rope.

The "mystery" machine was found late yesterday afternoon in front of the Wilson hotel, by Sergeant Johnston. The latter placed the machine under arrest and then hunted up somebody who knew how to run it. The machine was without the necessary plug to make the connection with the engine, and Johnston managed to find a man who knew how to make one for temporary use. The auto was then driven to police headquarters and tied in front to a pole.

Since the machine was taken to headquarters, the police have searched diligently for the owner, but the latter is not to be found. The plate on which the number was inscribed has been torn off, but there was a small card bearing the number of 119. This number, according to the automobile guide book belongs to the machine owned by D. E. Burley, but the machine it headquarters is not Mr. Burley's.

BECAUSE OF A FOOL LAW

Young Mother With Sick Child Without Adequate Shelter While Authorities Wrangle.

A sad case of neglect, destitution and sickness is that of Mrs. Marie Grow, divorced wife of E. R. Grow, now at police headquarters with her little four-year-old son who is suffering from an attack of scarlet fever. The young woman called at the police station last night leading the little fellow by the hand, and asked for assistance. She said the child was ill and that she was without a home and no money. Chief Pitt had the young woman and the baby placed in the girls' ward of the jail and Dr. G. S. Paul was summoned. Mrs. Grow said that on Monday night she slept with the child in a cellar at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. Fricke, 327 Center street. She says she has a stepfather, Francis Tate, 763 east Third South street, but he will render her no assistance.

Mrs. Grow is young and handsome. About 18 months ago she separated from her husband who is said to be a worthless person and one who has a police record. The fellow was arrested on June 4, for petit larceny and again on June 11, for a similar offense.

Dr. Paul has been busy all day trying to find a place for the unfortunate young woman and her baby and hopes to find a comfortable place for them where the little one can be properly cared for.

The case of Mrs. Grow has brought up the old discussion about who should care for such cases, the city or the county. The need of a detention hospital is also made clear by the case. Dr. Paul said this morning that such a hospital can not be built, "because of a fool law" which provides that no such place can be built within a quarter of a mile of an open stream or within 20 rods of a public road. "What is the use of a hospital on a desert?" he asked. "If we can not have good pure water and proper drainage there is no use building a hospital. We will have this condition of affairs until that idiotic law is repealed."

Dr. Paul stated that now there is little or no conflict between the city and county authorities as to the care of unfortunate, but in times past there were cases where money and men suffered and even died while the authorities were wrangling as to who should assume charge of the case.

The instrument provides that the widow, Julia C. Howe, shall have the homestead, during her life, and an income of $5,000 per year. After her death the property is to be divided equally between the children of deceased. The children who will inherit are George E. Howe of Provo, C. R. Howe, Edgar Howe, Julia M. Cora M., and Amy M. Streetcar Passenger Had Trouble in Stopping the Car.

Sarah A. Brimhall filed suit against the Utah Light & Railway company in the district court yesterday in which she seeks to recover $20,100 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained by her on May 2, 1908, while alighting from a car at the intersection of Fourth East and Ninth South streets. Mrs. Brimhall says in her complaint that the car was crowded at the time, and that the conductor failed to announce the names of the streets, and that she was unable to secure the motorman's attention when she wished to get off, on account of that functionary being engaged in discussing a fire in the neighborhood, with some of the passengers, neglecting his business and compelling her to walk to the front platform. When the car did stop, she alleges, it was with such a lurch that she was thrown from the platform and was severely injured about the head, shoulders and spine.

BARBERS TO BE TRIED.

Five complaints have been filed against barbers doing business without a state certificate as a result of the investigations made by Charles E. White, police barber inspector. The complaints name the following offenders and their cases will be taken up immediately: W. F. Ferguson, keeper of the tonsorial parlors at 526 west Second south street; his son, Earl Ferguson, and Edward Arnold, a barber employed there; R. G. Matthews, keeper of the shop at 274 west First South street; and Max Jones, employer by Matthews.

TRUST DEED FILED.

A trust deed for $100,000 was filed in the office of the county recorder yesterday, in favor of the John E. Dooly company and issued by the Clayton Investment company. POLITICAL POINTERS

The "American" party judicial convention will be held Saturday and a full judicial ticket will be nominated, including a district attorney. A. J. Weber has a clear field for the district attorneyship, while Ogden Hiles, C. S. Varian and W. C. Hall are talked of for the judgeship nominations.

Mayor Brandford and the inner circle are far from being on good terms and may be this week a number of "sting" developments in the struggle to determine who is mayor.

The Young Men's Republican club is preparing for a great day at Wandamere tomorrow. About 5 o'clock a rally will be pulled off with a full equipment of fireworks, limited of course to the oratorical brand, followed by a program of sports and musical numbers. Speeches will be delivered by members of the congressional delegation reviewing the recent Chicago convention, if the delegation members can be located.

"American" party primaries for the district judicial convention will be held tomorrow evening in the various Salt Lake voting districts.

William Roylance of Provo will very probably come out as a candidate for the Democratic nomination as governor. L. R. Martineau of Salt Lake and Mr. Roylance were the nearest keeping definite announcements, although both have not yet emerged from "the hands of their friends."

ESCAPED DEATH AS BY MIRACLE

Stone Weighing Forty Pounds Barely Misses Friend of L. D. S. Missionaries.

EXPLOSION IN EARLY MORNING

Police Believe Act Was Committed by One or Two Persons—Warning in a Note.

Particulars of the attempt to blow up the house of Mrs. E. E. Howell at Eugene, Or., June 17, are given in a letter from C. Workman, president of the Portland branch. Early on the morning of that day giant powder or dynamite was placed under the corner of the front porch, and the explosion that followed completely wrecked the front part of the building, including the porch, steps, and all the windows.

Sleeping in the house at the time were Mrs. Howell and her three children, her brother, Mr. Buchanan, and his five children, and Elders C. L. Dunford and C. A. Williams, the latter two being missionaries. No one was injured, but that fatalities did not occur was miraculous. A stone weighing 40 pounds was blown from the foundation and hurled into the room where Mr. Buchanan was sleeping. It missed him by only a few inches, striking the heavy iron railing of the bed.

POLICE AT WORK.

The police were at once summoned, and they made every effort to apprehend the guilty parties, but without avail. The act was doubtless that of one or two persons. The people of the neighborhood deprecated the affair, and their sympathies were extended to those in the Howell home. The following note was left on the premises:

"This is a warning to your tribe. You have tormented the public enough. The next shot will do more. This means the Mormon tribe."

"The Prevention of Tuberculosis"

In the lungs depends, says a prominent Medical Journal, in part upon food thoroughly munched before it is swallowed, and upon the avoidance of constipation, not by taking physic, but by eating sufficient vegetables, fruit and other food containing cellular waste, also thoroughly munched, to maintain the muscular tone of the stomach and intestines; for the beginning of consumption often follows indigestion and constipation."

It is well known that if "good digestion waits on appetite" all the forces of the body are better able to ward off disease.

Grape-Nuts

by restoring digestive power and rebuilding nerve tissue, is ideal as a basis of food for strengthening the individual with a "tendency toward tuberculosis."

With cream it is delicious, appetizing, easily absorbed and highly nourishing.

BLOOD KILLS GERMS

Good Blood Made by Good Food.

If one can surely turn food into good red blood it will combat any and every disease known and conquer completely more times than the disease will win.

Any physician will tell you that good, rich blood and plenty of it is the best germicide known and surely and safely cures disease when medicines fail; the effort of the doctor is to give food that digests and quickly makes blood.

No food ever discovered will do this as certainly as Grape-Nuts, which is predigested at the pure food factories where it is made.

One of the many illustrations is that of tuberculosis, which refuses to yield to medicine but must give way to good blood. A man from Philadelphia writes:

"I have been fighting tuberculosis for some years and, with a weak stomach, was losing ground slowly every year."

"I had tried all kinds of food and finally got far along with the disease that my stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, and lungs were affected. My stomach got to a point where it would retain no food but peptonized milk and I was down to 90 lbs. in weight."

"The doctors said about two years ago that I had but a month or two more to live. About that time I was put on Grape-Nuts and cream. It never showed the first sign of coming up, but agreed from the start and in a few days I began to feel increased strength, so I kept on, with the result that the healthy blood has driven the disease from every organ of my body except the lungs and is slowly driving it from them."

"I have gained greatly in vitality and strength and added 75 lbs. to my weight. If I can keep on as I have been, it seems clear that I will get entirely well, thanks to old Dame Nature, whose work was made possible by Grape-Nuts food, which I could digest."
