

Monday, we launch the greatest merchandising project that has been attempted this season. Thousands and thousands of dollars worth of very desirable ready-to-wear garments, piece goods, house furnishings, etc., to go at in most cases less than 50 per cent on the dollar. It involves the greatest sacrifices in every department ever made—not a corner in the great store has escaped close scrutiny and every piece of merchandise, not strictly Xmas goods has been reduced for immediate clearance.

No samples—no exchange—no approvals during the Pre-Christmas Clearance Sale.

Stocks must be reduced—space is needed—Xmas goods piling in on us waiting room in the departments. A slow season left our stocks unusually heavy for this time of year—this must be remedied. Here's the way we do it. You gain, we lose, but these things are expected sometimes in a great business—and we need the space—it's worth it. Come Monday and revel in this vast display and sale of merchandise—priced in nearly every instance at less than we would have to pay the manufacturers today.

No samples—no exchange—no approvals during the Pre-Christmas Clearance Sale.
