ILLINOIS.

Another fool likely to die.—Extract from a French letter.

QUINCY, ILLINOIS.—Last night, John Davison, a pedestrian, completed the task of walking a hundred and five hours without sleep or stopping to eat; his life is despaired of. Paralysis has set in.

The Times publishes a letter from A. De Sella, a prominent grain merchant of this city, enclosing the following extract from a private letter from his brother in France. Mr. De Sella adds that his brother never was a Bonapartist, but is a Frenchman: "Our brother Henry is well. He has just started with the frigate Joan of Arc, Admiral Pribout. He is full of vigor, fire and energy, as are the whole fleet and the army, which are wrought up to the highest pitch of excitement, and think that they have the opportunity to revenge insults and to kill or die. I have never seen the country worked up to such a pitch of faith, anger, hope and patriotism, and it is not probable that I shall ever see the like of it again."

The Chicago Tribune's New York special says it was, up to midnight, indicated that the Prussians are making an effort to reach Paris by getting between the French forces, stationed at Chalons and Metz. The Crown Prince's intention is, no doubt, to throw himself with his forces upon the enemy, break his lines, and check the army at Chalons, while the right wing, under Steinmetz, combats with the center under the Prince Royal, will engage the enemy at Metz.

Paris specials say the French wish to draw the enemy as far as possible into their country, give him the impression of the demoralization of the army and then, falling upon him suddenly, drive him out of the country. Frenchmen here seem well satisfied with the situation.

NEW YORK.

The "Democrat" checking German enthusiasm.—Prussian Vessel Threatened.—Extraordinary, but fatal surgical operation.—Cattle still runs high.—Riots in France.—A Bas L'Empereur.—A Collision.—A French Officer's opinion.

NEW YORK.—The Democrat, German, throws cold water upon the enthusiastic confidence of its contemporaries. It says they have been in too great a hurry to chant the songs of triumph, to hail the death of the Emperor, the revolution at Paris, the proclamation of a republic, the end of the war, the fraternity of the people and a multitude of fine things, but the war is not ended nor nearly so, and the Prussians will do well to make haste, if they wish to profit by their first advantages. The long delay of a general engagement is excused by the fact that the Germans, after their late important victories, have been gathering up the killed and wounded on both sides, and the prisoners and materials of war left behind by the defeated and retreating force, and they have been compelled also to hold the places captured and the important city of Strasbourg in their rear; and they have been bringing up their reserves and ammunition, and have been repairing the damages suffered by their columns in the late battles, so as to advance with a well-compacted amount of force upon the enemy. The French on their right wing, beaten on every point, have been working hard to reorganize their broken and scattered forces, and to strengthen their new line on the Moselle against an expected attack. The report of the evacuation of Strasbourg is not credited; there is no probability of its truth. It is believed here that a general engagement must take place within two days, as the armies seem now within a short distance of each other. The appointment of Trochu to the command of the French army has made all the soldiers more hopeful, and a report from Paris says they are so anxious for a battle that it is difficult to restrain their ardor.

A Tribune's special correspondent telegraphs from Dublin on Sunday that a mob, 800 strong, headed by a band playing French airs, attacked a Prussian vessel lying at Kingston on Friday evening, and threw stones at her; they failed in trying to board the vessel and left, threatening to return the next night and cut the throats of the bloody Prussians. The police now guard the vessel. Bands of people, parading the streets this evening with French flags, were stopped by the police; a riot was threatened.

The Tribune says that President Royce, of the Siberian Republic, in Africa, and his Private Secretary, who arrived by the steamer Palmyra, applied for admission at several well known hotels, but were not permitted to enter on account of their color, and they were conveyed in a coach to the office of their agent in Wall street, who succeeded in having them cared for at a private house.

Dr. Marcus Berge was bailed to-day, in twenty-five hundred dollars, for trial, for malpractice, consisting in removing the entire womb of Mrs. Lena Fuller, from the effects of which she died the next day.

A cable special to the Herald, to-day, says that on the 15th a disturbance of a serious character occurred at Marseilles and Lyons: crowds collected in the streets shouting "Bas l'Empereur."

Three persons were killed. A great rebellious feeling was manifested and fears are entertained of trouble to-day. The press in all parts of France resolutely denounce all overtures for peace till the Prussians are driven from French soil. The Gaulois says Drouyn de l'Huys has been offered by the Emperor Regent, the post of ambassador to Vienna.

A cable dispatch, London 15, to the Herald from Forbach, says the French, while retreating to the west of the Moselle, were attacked by the Prussians under Gen. Steinmetz; the French were thrown into confusion, and after a gallant stand were routed by the Prussians; the slaughter was great.

A cable dispatch, London 15, to the Herald from Forbach, says the French, while retreating to the west of the Moselle, were attacked by the Prussians under Gen. Steinmetz; the French were thrown into confusion, and after a gallant stand were routed by the Prussians; the slaughter was great.

A dispatch from Carlsruhe says the Prussians now occupy Mulhouse and Besancon; one hundred thousand of the Landwehr are crossing the frontiers. Chang and Eng, the siamese twins, arrived in this city on the 13th in the Cunard steamer Palmyra, from Liverpool. On the 2nd day out Chang was attacked with paralysis which affects his left side, and almost wholly deprived him of the use of his limbs and of the power of speech. Eng, so far, has felt no symptoms of illness.

As the steamer Norwalk was rapidly steaming from Covey Island to the city, with a thousand passengers on board, she collided with a sloop; the shock was extremely violent, shaking the steamer from stem to stern, and causing a frightful panic among the passengers. Several were knocked into the water, among them two children, who fell from their mothers' arms. It is supposed that at least eight lives were lost, but neither the names nor number of the lost can be ascertained. The Toronto tug boat hurried to the rescue, but picked up only two men. The Norwalk was found to be seriously damaged; her wheel house was carried away and a large hole was made in her side through which water was pouring into the hold. The tug took her in tow and reached the Atlantic dock, Brooklyn, just in time to discharge all passengers, before the steamer went down.

Victory—Germans expelled from France
BERLIN, 15.—The Queen of Prussia today received the following dispatch, dated "In the vicinity of Metz, Sunday evening: A victorious combat occurred near Metz to-day; the troops of the first and seventh corps participated, 1 hasten to the scene of the conflict."
(Signed) WILLIAM.

Hundreds of German families have been expelled from Paris. Many have just reached Cologne. Subscriptions for their relief have been opened in different parts of Germany.

ITALY.

Mazzini Arrested.

FLORENCE, 15.—A despatch from Palermo announces the arrest, yesterday, of Mazzini; he had just arrived from Geneva. After arrest he was taken to Gaeta.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Prussians near Metz—Benson returned—Fere Hyacinthe's visit—The Prussian Prince Royal decorated—Steamship burned—Revolution imminent.

LONDON, 15.—A second pitched battle it is reported, occurred near Metz this morning, in which the Prussians were victorious.

Ten days, and not fifteen as at first reported, have been accorded to neutral ships to quit German blockaded ports.

Fere Hyacinthe has volunteered as a private in the regiment for the defence of Paris.

The sale and circulation of English and Belgian journals are now prohibited in Paris.

Private letters from Paris describe the Empress as sadly changed and worn by heavy and sleepless nights.

Letters from the seat of war notices that the practice of the Prussians in all engagements is to station sharpshooters on the right of each platoon, to pick off French officers.

The Prince Royal, for his victory at Weissenburg, has received the order of the Iron Crown.

Dispatches from Cologne state that the Germans would be compelled to leave Paris by the abuse and hostile behavior of their French fellow-workmen, without any order from the government.

The Prussians have arrived at Vigneul, a few miles from Metz, and are swarming up the Moselle. The French blew up two bridges at Vigneul, to check the advance of the Germans.

It is said that the reason of the Empress Charlotte has been re-awakened by events now transpiring in Europe; she manifests the deepest interest in the war.

The steamship Pennsylvania was destroyed by fire here, late on Saturday evening.

Revolutionary movements of a formidable character have recently occurred in Italy as well as in Spain. A proclamation establishing republics in both countries is hourly expected.

Some of the papers assert that the Prussians make the country people march in front of their advancing lines so that the French troops may be forced to fire on their own countrymen when they attack.

The report that Prussian spies had spiked the cannon on the walls of Paris is pronounced false; the forts are in excellent order. Two Prussian spies have been arrested in Toulon.

Lyons has been put in a state of defense.

Two persons were killed and several injured by a boiler explosion in a brick yard near Leicester on Saturday.

Sir Samuel Baker, explorer of the Nile, is stated to have been at Tenkief on the 12th June.

FRANCE.

Algerians want to fight.—A big loan to be raised.—Men and guns for the defence of the Capital.—A French victory.—Troops safe.—A riot.—Proclamation by the Emperor.

PARIS, 14.—The Journal Officiel contains the following intelligence, which is authorized by the government:

"At the beginning of the war with Prussia the Emperor received addresses from the principal native chieftains of the three provinces of Algeria, who asked that they might be permitted to march and fight on the side of our troops, and to open subscriptions for the sufferers by the war."

PARIS, 15.—Last evening, at eight o'clock, by order of the government, all telegraphing throughout the French empire was suspended. This morning, at nine o'clock, these restrictions were again removed. The following important dispatch to the Empress Eugenie is just made public:

"Longville, 14, 10 p. m.—The army commenced to cross to the left bank of the Moselle this morning. Our advanced guard had no knowledge of the presence of any force of the enemy; when half the army had crossed over the Prussians suddenly attacked in great force, and after a fight of four hours they were repulsed, with great loss to them."
(Signed) NAPOLEON.

In the Corps Legislatif yesterday, Jules Simon presented a petition, praying that members of religious communities be required to do military service like other citizens; the petition had 8,000 signatures. Arago, Pelletan, Ferry, Raspail and others introduced similar petitions.

Argence recommended that a loan be raised of two billion five hundred million francs. The Minister of Finance stated that, having consulted with the officers of the bank of France, he would support the proposition of Argence.

Thirty thousand troops of McMahon's army, who were cut off and it was believed had fallen into the hands of the Prussians, have arrived at Strasbourg safely.

General Frocheau has assumed command at Chalons. Gen. Canrobert replaces Baraguet D'Hilliers in command of the army of Paris.

The Journal Officiel reports the arrest, on the highway, of an individual, in whose house were found a quantity of poignards, revolvers of large number of daggers, revolvers of large calibre, and ammunition. He was followed the night before last to an isolated house in the neighborhood of the fortifications, where he was found a list of names, a number of red flags, different rallying signals, description of troops occupying the surrounding capital and a carte de visite of a person in the service of the sovereign at war with France. On the afternoon of yesterday about four o'clock, a band of sixty to eighty men, all armed with revolvers and poignards of exactly the same pattern as those previously seized, attacked the engine house on the Boulevard Voltaire; they attacked the guard with daggers and revolvers. One of the officers received a wound in his breast, and a fireman was very seriously wounded with three bullets; four guns kept at the station were carried away. The policeman of the 19th Arrondissement, who ran there, and also received a volley, and one fell instantly dead, and others were seriously wounded. Physicians think there is little hope for recovery of two of them. A little girl was also killed by a stray ball from a revolver. The police, led by their officers, under orders of the commissary of police, arrested immediately the ring leader and four accomplices; the population co-operated, and full of enthusiasm, proceeded on their own account to make other arrests. The guns taken from the firemen have been re-taken; weapons abandoned by the insurgents were also secured; and a call to arms having been spontaneously made, a goodly number of national guards were got together, who, with the aid of citizens, contributed towards the re-establishment of order. A squadron and a company of the guards of Paris, which immediately arrived, were hailed with warm acclamations. The sergeants de ville a la received applause, merited by their courage. The commissary and agents of the police made great efforts to protect from public indignation the individuals under arrest. They numbered about fifty. They are imprisoned in a depot of the Prefecture. During the evening two persons were also taken there who are students; they were pointed out on the Boulevard Michel, and carried daggers identical with those seized on the Boulevard Voltaire. They offered resistance on being taken, and refused to answer the first question put. After five o'clock the Boulevard Voltaire resumed its usual quiet. A crowd of three to four thousand persons continued to search for rioters, and manifested the highest indignation. At a quarter-past six o'clock some persons made an attack on the sentries of the same station; two were arrested by the national guards and locked up in the barracks. The rioters will be brought before a court martial to-day. The Emperor has sent a letter of condolence and aid to the parents of the little girl killed last night.

Twenty French citizens of Worth have been shot by the Prussians, in retaliation for alleged cruelties to the Prussian wounded.

Durney, the recent Minister of Public Instruction, has volunteered as a private in the French army.

L'Opinion Nationale computes the force for the defense of Paris at 130,000 men; six hundred guns are mounted.

Metz, 14.—The Prefect of the Moselle has telegraphed the following on to the Minister of the Interior:

"The Emperor left to-day, at two o'clock, for Vernier, accompanied by the Prince Imperial. Before leaving his majesty caused the following proclamation to be issued: 'On quitting you to fight the invaders, I confide to your patriotism the defense of this great city. You will never allow the enemy to take possession of this bulwark of France, and I trust you will rival the army in loyalty and courage. I shall ever remember, with gratitude, the reception I have met within your walls, and I hope to be able to return to thank you for your noble conduct.'"
