

REUNION OF FOLK FROM SOUTH SEAS

Pacific Islanders' Day Occasion
Of a Big Gathering at Farmington Resort.

PRESIDENT SMITH THERE.

Venerable Church Leader Tells of His Experiences—Interesting Program
Is Enjoyed by Visitors.

Yesterday's reunion of the Pacific Islanders' day which took place at the Lagoon was remarkable for the large attendance of former missionaries and members of the Church who have come from those parts. This is true of nearly all the missions of the Pacific, and it was noticed that there was also a larger representation than usual from the Australian mission.

The day was an ideal Pacific Islanders' day, the warmth giving the suggestion to many of those present of the island life of the sea-girt tropical islands, or summer in New Zealand and Australia. Some of those present who have lately come from those parts, remembering last winter, said "this weather is something like the sunny south," and they almost forgot they were thousands of miles away from the palm trees and coconut groves of the islands and the eternal "bush" of New Zealand and Australia, which to the natives of those parts seem almost a part of themselves, and hundreds of miles from the ocean which some of them thought they could never leave.

SOME FORMER PRESIDENTS.

In addition to a large number of leading elders from the various missions, the following former presidents of missions were present in the throng: New Zealand: Elders Richards, Stevenson and Hoagland; Tahiti: Elders O'Brien and Hall; Samoa: Elders Brown and Sears; Australia: Elders Smith, Isaacs and Armstrong; Hawaii: Elder Noell. The visitors came from as far north as Idaho, and some were present from Wasatch, Sanpete and Tintic in the south.

A feature of the occasion was the presence of several natives who came in from Skull Valley with a number of Hawaiians. These natives constructed a Samoan house, which was a faithful reproduction of the regular native house on the islands, even to the pebbles which composed the floor. It was the object of much curiosity on the part of the visitors during the day, together with the curios which were shown, they having only recently been brought here from the islands. Naturally the unusual things connected with the islanders' lives attracted much attention, and the program which was given in the afternoon contained a number of such features, among them being the greeting of missionaries by the Maoris, and an exhibition of the "hongi" or rubbing of noses, the traditional greeting of the Maoris, and the benediction of the Hawaiians bequeathed their friends on arrival and departure, were very much in evidence, and perhaps to those who have visited the islands help to recall their beauties more forcibly than any other one thing. Samoa was also represented for the first time in a dance, which was given just as it is done on the islands.

For the purpose of giving the above exhibitions a stand was specially constructed in front of the grandstand, which was crowded with people when the time for the exhibition came. As the opening hymn those present sang "High on the mountain top," the benediction was pronounced at the close of the program by former President Sears of the Samoan mission.

PRESIDENT SMITH'S ADDRESS.

President Joseph F. Smith was to have been present at the reunion to give an address on the occasion of his first trip to Hawaii. He was detained on the way, and did not arrive until late in the afternoon. After partaking of dinner he addressed the guests of the Lagoon management, numerous requests were made for President Smith's address shortly after 6 o'clock the big crowd adjourned to the dancing pavilion, where the people were called up close to the music stand, where they stood while President Smith, in a short talk, expressed his pleasure at being present, and then said:

"I believe that John T. Cairne and many others are the pioneers of mission work in the Pacific. In 1854 a company of young men, including myself, left Salt Lake to come out to the islands. We came to the desert with mule teams and took steamer from San Pedro to San Francisco. After staying there several months in order to get money to pay the fare to the islands, we shipped in a small two-masted barque. The captain boasted that he would cross to Honolulu in eight days, but he landed in 27 days. When we landed in Honolulu it was a mere village. There were a few dwellings and met-cattle houses, but nearly all the houses were made of mud. We were scattered over all the islands where some of us stayed four years learning the language and trying to win the natives to the Christian faith. I never knew of one of these islanders losing faith in the gospel after he had espoused it. They may sin and sever their ties, but they turn bitter against the work. Those who have fallen away, generally humble themselves and ask to be restored to the fellowship. It is no wonder that the elders are attached to the natives and that they desire to keep up the acquaintance by means of these reunions."

Referring to his visit there last February, President Smith said: "We were warmly received by every one. The Royal Hawaiian band met us at the wharf and honored us by following us to the conference house and there playing for us for two hours. This band is equal to any band in the country. In an international contest at San Francisco a few years ago they took the first prize. The leader of the band said to me, 'Mr. President, we have come of our own free will to play out of respect for you and your people, and out of remembrance of your treatment of us while we were in Salt Lake.' We were loaded down with flowers and feasted everywhere. When we remon-

The state board of health is in receipt of complaints from Kanab about a mysterious fever disease which threatens to ruin the goat industry of that part of the state, and affects the herders as well as the goats. ADVERTISING SALT LAKE.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Real Estate association, a committee consisting of O. F. Peterson, H. B. Anderson and R. A. Rank was appointed to ascertain the cost of publishing 100,000 copies of a booklet describing the city, and setting forth the natural resources of the city and state. Col. Newhouse was present and made a brief address, declaring himself in favor of any plan of advertising Salt Lake and Utah, that the association might adopt. He suggested that some permanent, general fund be provided.

WIZARD OF WASATCH WILL SWOOP ON CITY

Escort to Meet Him at Mouth of Emigration Canyon and Show Him G. A. R. Decorations.

"The Wards of the Wizard of the Wasatch," is the name suggested for the organization to be incorporated in this city, for the purpose of annually greeting the sage of the mountains as he deigns to make his visitations with his royal power, according to the proceedings had with regard to the matter in a meeting held last night.

The meeting was held at the Commercial club. The report of the committee, named at a previous session and consisting of Judge E. F. Colborn, H. Vance Lane, H. L. A. Colborn, and Dr. G. A. R. Harris, made the suggestion as to the name of the organization. It was also recommended that any reputable citizen of the United States, Canadian or Mexican be eligible for membership; that the board of directors consist of not more than 50 members, and that the temporary officers elected at the previous meeting be made permanent.

The report further recommends that on the evening of Aug. 2, 1909, a band of 25 "Wards of the Wizard" marked and wearing dominoes and mounted on snow-white steeds proceed to the mouth of Emigration canyon to meet the wizard. Then return to the Brigham Young monument at the head of Main street, where they will be joined by 300 horsemen, 500 native Indians, 300 red devils, and young men and women. After a parade about the principal streets of the city, the party will proceed to the Commercial club, where the wizard will be received by Governor Spry, Mayor Bransford, Commander-in-Chief Nevius of the G. A. R., and Col. F. M. Sturges, executive director of the G. A. R. movement.

The Wizard will then inspect the decorations prepared for the reception, and the G. A. R. veterans should they be satisfactory his wizardship will assure his valley subjects of his complete approval, set a date for his coming next year, and with the swan song on his lips will vanish into the ethereal empyrean of the Wasatch. Next year it is proposed to make the reception and entertainment of the Wizard a pretentious affair. The meeting on Wednesday evening was an enthusiastic one. The presence of President J. C. Leary, B. F. Redman, vice president, presided. Committees for carrying out the details of the annual celebration were appointed as follows:

Finance—John S. Critchlow, J. A. Foley, Sam Parks; Committee on attendance—Dr. J. J. Snider, Dr. G. Paul, C. S. Williams; committee on badges and design for stationery—W. A. Lieblein, W. S. McCarthy, J. Harris. The members of the committee on finance will choose other members to assist them, so as to form three complete committees. These three committees will also constitute the committee on membership.

S. V. DERRAH RETURNS FROM EASTERN STATES

Finds Steel Plants Rushed to Their Capacity—Western Pacific Equipment is Ordered.

S. V. Derrah, assistant general freight agent of the Denver & Rio Grande, and general passenger agent of the Western Pacific, has returned from an extended trip to New York and the east. Mr. Derrah visited at his old home in Pennsylvania, and spent some time in New York, where he was in consultation several times with the head officials of the Gould lines. "I was unfortunate," however, said Mr. Derrah, "in not seeing George Gould himself. He had sailed for Europe just the day before I arrived in New York."

Mr. Derrah said he visited a number of the big steel works at Pittsburgh, and that they were crowded with orders and had more work on hand than they could get out. Business conditions in Pittsburgh, continued Mr. Derrah, reflect a healthy period for the balance of the country. Men past middle life have found comfort and relief in Foley's Kidney Remedy, especially for enlarged prostate gland, which is very common among elderly men. L. E. Morris, Dexter, Ky., writes: "Up to a year ago I suffered from enlarged prostate gland and bladder trouble and several physicians pronounced it enlargement of the prostate gland and advised an operation. On account of my age we were afraid he could not stand it and I recommended Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the first bottle relieved him and after taking the second bottle he was no longer troubled with this complaint."—F. HORTICULTURAL EXHIBIT.

This Year's Show at State Fair Promises to be a Winner.

If the predictions of President J. G. McDonald of the State fair association are fulfilled, and there is no doubt they will be, visitors to the fair this fall will do well to watch the horticultural exhibit. Both in regard to the number and excellence of the exhibits and the decorations of the building, the show is expected to eclipse every exhibit given hitherto.

President McDonald was busily engaged yesterday with Decorator J. B. Ferguson, picking out decorations from two boxes of samples which came from Germany through a New York firm. Such faithful representations of fruits, leaves, grasses, flowers and grain, have never been seen here before. The grapes and other fruits are so life-like that at a distance of a couple of feet, a person would have to look twice to be sure they are not genuine. Mr. McDonald is very enthusiastic about the matter, and he says they propose this year to eclipse everything in the horticultural department. In addition to intimations from other places that a large exhibit of fruit will be sent, says Ferguson, the word that Bear River valley will be represented by a car of fruits and vegetables. Hemenway & Co. has also entered for all premiums covered by apples, pears, peaches and plums. Although the fruit exhibit this year is expected to be the best yet, the result of the light crop of early fruits. The women also sent in large quantities of fruit, and a number of inquiries about premiums for exhibits are coming in, and it is the intention of the management to encourage these exhibits, by offering a number of premiums.

tion was taken in the matter before the Fourth, and consequently are led to believe the thing was dropped on account of the "lateness of the day." No doubt the resolution was the outcome of the general sentiment prevailing in favor of a saner and more orderly observance of our nation's birthday and of course was presented with the best motives. But would it not have been greatly unjust to the dealers of fireworks had the matter carried just before the Fourth or at the time it was first introduced? These people had already laid in their stock at considerable expense and to have deprived them of the privilege of selling upon such short notice would have been so manifestly wrong that even the city council acted wisely in not taking definite action under such circumstances. But conditions are changed now. Practically all the fireworks mentioned in the resolution have been sold, and the merchant has his money back. The contemplated move could be made now without serious damage to anyone and it is a better time to pass it than now? Unfortunately the agitation of this subject has heretofore been delayed until a week or two before the holiday or until a time when it is quite impossible to act in a manner fair to all concerned. Immediately after the Fourth, practically all discussion ceases and the whole matter is dropped just at the most opportune time for definite action. Fourth and at the same time have reasons to believe the majority of the city councilmen are with us in the belief in the same celebration. We should not rest in its pigeon hole until the next Independence Day but should receive it in the same manner as before over the schedule dealers have placed their orders. "Do it now."

Social and Personal.

This afternoon Mrs. F. W. James entertained at a luncheon at the Alta club in honor of Mrs. George L. Nye and Mrs. Lydia Read of Denver, the table being laid in the green room and covered with red. The table is round and has for a centerpiece a large mirror almost its own size, and this has in the middle a large bouquet of pink sweet peas and the same flowers make a border round its edge. The place cards correspond with the prevailing idea.

Mrs. Sam Park entertained at a charming luncheon yesterday at the Country club in honor of Mrs. G. L. Nye, the table having for a centerpiece a basket of pink sweet peas, with smaller ones at either end of the table, and with strands of ribbon reaching from a large bowl on the central one to the corners. Crystal chandeliers with pink candles and shades were used and pink bon-bons and other details aided the color scheme. Covers were laid for 24 guests, and bridge followed.

The luncheon given by Miss Elsie Parsons at the Country club yesterday was for 30 guests and the decorations and place-cards were in sweet peas.

Mrs. Karl Scheidt's table was done in marguerites in compliment to her guest.

Daly, Mrs. Glendinning and Mrs. William M. McCrea. The other guests invited were Mrs. Mark W. Lillard, Mrs. Edward J. Roberts, Miss Edna Dunn, Miss Lena Myers and Mrs. Ralph McBroom.

Last night Miss Bessie Brooks and Victor C. Jensen were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brooks, the ceremony being performed by Bishop Christensen at 7:30 o'clock in the presence of the two families and intimate friends and a large reception following. The rooms were beautifully decorated, the parlors in pink roses, the dining room in red sweet peas, and the library in white and green, with roses, carnations and ferns used in abundance throughout the rooms. Music was furnished by the Hawaiian troubadours. The bride wore a handsome gown of Irish crocheted lace over taffeta and carried bride's roses. She was attended by Mrs. B. G. Strasser of Los Angeles, Mrs. C. Clive, Miss Rhea Jensen and Miss Nellie Brooks, and Mr. L. C. Clive acted as best man. Mrs. Strasser was in blue, Mrs. Clive wore pink chiffon, and Miss Brooks and Miss Jensen were in white. The lawn was lit with colored lanterns, and the Hawaiian troubadours furnished delightful music. Mr. and Mrs. Jensen left later for an eastern trip and will later return here to reside.

A pretty morning affair of yesterday was the lawn party given by Mrs. J. R. Walker for the Misses Stutzer of New York, who are guests at the Prospector country home. Bridge was the amusement, and later tea and served indoors, the rooms being bright with flowers. Prizes were won by Mrs. W. G. Flair, Mrs. J. E. Woodward, Mrs. C. H. Post, Miss Dorothy Kimer, Miss Bancroft and Miss Bonita Pettijohn of Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. M. J. Chessman, Mrs. C. H. Post and Miss Bancroft assisted.

Weiser, the table being decorated in pinks, and a dainty china dinner set, including silver, silverware, flowers being used. Covers were laid for eight, including besides the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Quigley.

Principal William Bradford of the Lowell school and Mrs. Bradford leave tomorrow evening for Seattle to visit the exposition. While gone they will be the guests of Prof. Robert Bradford of the University of Utah, who has charge of the Utah mineral exhibit at the fair. Principal Bradford will be home in time to assist in carrying for the throngs during the G. A. R. encampment.

Mr. and Mrs. David Fowler arrived yesterday from Independence, Mo., where Mr. Fowler served as assistant editor of Liahona, the Elder's Journal. At present they are staying with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wardro.
