

A SUMMER DRINK FOR LABORERS.

WARM weather is rapidly approaching and a summer drink will soon be demanded by the public. Alcoholic beverages are neither wholesome nor thirst-quenching. To the farm laborer or other toiler in the sun, cold water is often insufficient to supply the wants of the body because it increases the perspiration passing through the pores in a hurry and leaving a sense of exhaustion, and supplying no stimulant such as the system often craves during active physical exertion. The sudden action of cold water when taken during extreme heat, is to some people very injurious. A drink that will impart some nutrition and stimulus while quenching the thirst, will be a great boon to the harvest hand, the railroad builder, and other out door laborer.

Such a beverage has lately come into use in England, and we believe it can be adopted to advantage here. It is simply oatmeal and water, mixed in the proportion of three or four ounces of meal to a gallon of water. It is said to satisfy the thirst, act as a slight stimulant to the skin, have a comforting effect upon the stomach, and be beneficial to the whole system. It is "vital and drink" combined, and is perfectly harmless.

We bring this to notice here for the special benefit of workers in the heat of the summer sun, not expecting that those who indulge in fancy drinks will pay any attention to it. But in the harvest field and other places where men toil in intense heat, we think it will fill the bill of the required thirst-quenching, body-strengthening and non-injurious beverage. Try it.

LET IN THE SUNSHINE.

We notice with pleasure the large number of houses that have been erected lately with bay windows. We approve of them, not only because they add to the pleasant appearance of a neat dwelling, but because they admit of the entrance of pure air and bright sunshine into the rooms which are favored by their presence.

There is too much dread of the sun among many people. Its rays are necessary to health and good spirits. Yet people use all kinds of contrivances to shut out the life-giving beams, and, as a consequence, suffer from depression, languor and various nervous and other disorders. Sunshine is full of vitality to man and the higher order of animals and plants, but is destructive to many of the lower forms of life, those which bring destruction and woe to mankind.

Many diseases, such as spread like the plague, are fostered by darkness and fetid air. Let in the sunshine, friends! Open your doors and windows and give all your rooms and their contents a daily sun-bath. If you can't boast a bay window, use to advantage such as you have, and don't be afraid of the effects on the furniture. A stuffy, dim, uninviting and sunless room is a deadly hole if it contains ever so costly and tastefully arranged appointments. Let the light of heaven in and the golden beams of the royal sun, and if the colors of curtains and covers should fade a little, you will lose the blues yourselves and gain in the bloom of your cheeks and the joy in your hearts. Welcome the merry, merry sunshine!

SHAM LIBERALISM.

INGRESSOLLI the infidel is a great clamor for liberty. He advocates not only liberty of speech but liberty of action. And particularly he inveighs against the interference of any professedly divine power in human affairs. He would have the mind of man free from every trammel, and rejoice at every palpable opportunity afforded him of ridiculing all that religious people hold sacred, and assailing with ribald abuse, coarse jokes and blasphemous epithets, the motives, acts and aspirations of the best part of humanity, of all ages. He claims the right to do this without let or hindrance. Yet, at one of his recent lectures in New York, when he used language more than commonly offensive to believing minds, and the response was a hiss, the objecting individual was at once hustled out of the hall. The audience was at liberty to applaud, but not to exhibit any mark of disapproval.

This is the kind of liberty that a great many so-called "liberals" accord to others. They desire to throw off all restraint, to attack whom or what they please, to do just what they have a mind to without check. But let others who disagree with them claim similar privileges, and they are in arms at once, ready to crush by force in others the freedom they demand for themselves. We have seen just such consistency in "liberal" movements in this Territory. The slanderers and liars who defend the good and misrepresent facts and principles, cannot endure in others the liberty of speech they claim for themselves, even when assailed with the simple truth. Blatant demands for perfect freedom for the shouters, but a muzzle for the mouth of a dissenting hearer. There is a vast deal of humbug in the professional shrieker for "liberty or death."

FINDING HIM OUT.

Cook, the Boston surface philosopher, reckless asserter of guessed at figures and facts, anti-"Mormon" lecturer, and "Christian" blatherer, is getting to be generally appreciated by the better class of minds. The more he is known the greater lie is despised. His assumption of learning and pretended quotations from standard authorities have given him weight with the superficial, but the well informed are able to see through his assumption and detect his unscrupulous falsehood.

Professor Hall has been paying his respects to the Boston declaimer, and says:

"Mr. Cook's mind, temper and work are at every point exactly contrasted and opposed to that of a man of science. A man of science is often the very first to correct his own errors; Mr. Cook ascribes to Schopenhauer, Lotz, M. D. Conway, and I know not at this distance how many others, opinions the exact opposite of those which he himself labored to inculcate, and allows them to circulate uncorrected through the 'more than five hundred thousand' printed copies of his lectures, despite the most prompt and urgent correction and protest."

How much respect can be entertained for a religious teacher who takes such a course as that described by Professor Hall? Cook adopted the same kind of tactics in his assaults on "Mormonism." Perhaps in this he offered no contrast to his religious confederates of different sects. But in the face of exposure from different sources, how much longer will the people of the hub, support and countenance one of the greatest clerical charlatans of the age? Thinking people everywhere else are fast finding him out.

In selecting the site for the Asylum did each director stand for his county or for the best place regardless of individual desires? The former was intended by the law.

As an evidence of how much printing matter is being mailed in the country, showing the value placed on the use of printers ink, we cite the sale of one cent stamps at the city post office at Washington, which has gone up to 300,000 a month during the present year.

Chicago might now with propriety be called the Bear Garden City. It is crowded with politicians, all eager for the fray and ready to devour each other on the slightest pretext. The kind of scramble for office that will go on for a few days is one of the most disgraceful features of our system of government.

"Professors" claim far higher rank than trades. The demand of the former for higher compensation than the latter is based on the supposition that the cost of education and the practice necessary to skill are so much greater. Yet there are many trades which require far longer time and more expense to insure proficiency than some of the "professions." Take cabinet making in contrast with dentistry for example. A dentist in San Francisco, in bringing suit against a lady to recover a claim, justified his bill, when on the witness stand, by testifying under oath that his usual charge for work was $16 per hour. If a wood carpenter were to pretend to such prices as the tools carpenter, he would be hooted for his imposition. Dentists on the Coast ought to wax fat on such figures as these.

New York Press Comments.

New York, 2.—The morning journals are filled almost exclusively with details of the Chicago convention. The Times cannot see how Grant can be defeated and is claiming that enough votes are pledged to nominate him on the first ballot. The Tribune, reviewing its special dispatches, is full of hope, and says: "The main protest of the anti-third term delegates from New York is followed by a similar one signed by 14 of the Pennsylvania delegates. Those breaks in the Grant States cannot be mended. In another article the Tribune appeals to the patriotism of the delegates to save the party and nation. The World is non-committal and hopes the democrats will profit by republican machine mistakes, confessing that the democracy itself has a machine, but declaring it is not likely it will be of any use to Tilden. The Sun says: Whatever may be the voting in the Chicago convention the name of Ulysses S. Grant will ever hereafter bear an ineffaceable stain. That at some stage either in the nomination or the election he will be thwarted in his selfish ambition we cannot doubt. But his defeat will not render the attempt to essentially change our free government any the less transitory. That he tried to grasp a third term of the presidency to take the first step toward imperialism will remain an unchangeable and hateful feature of his biography. He is disgraced any how."

Indians Captured.

SAN ANTONIO, 2.—Sergeant Ridd, of the State troops, has secured four of the 12 Mexicans who murdered Bishop and plundered his store. They were caught in Mexico, Mexican and Texas officials combined to bring them to punishment. They have been deprecating on the border for years.

Canadian Royalty.

NIAGARA FALLS, 2.—Louise, Leopold and party spent the day on the American side, purchasing many souvenirs, which they carried about in their walks. They leave Thursday evening for Chicago.

Pushers on Strike.

LOUISVILLE, 2.—About seventy pushers struck to-day, throwing out of employment about four hundred other laborers. The prospect for an early adjustment of the difficulty is not favorable, as the proprietors of the rolling mills rather than give time at existing rates would prefer to remain closed all summer.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Opening Business—Hon. Elected Temporary Chairman.

CHICAGO, 2, 11:40 a.m.—The Exhibition Building in which the National Republican Convention is being held, is the scene of striking interest. The platform occupies the south side, right under it being a section arranged for the committee men, guests, reporters, correspondents, who are here by hundreds. The roof and sides are every available point of the building are handsomely decorated. At the extreme north end is a large picture of Abraham Lincoln in the center of a convalescent strip, bearing the celebrated motto, "And that a government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the face of the earth."

At 12:30, the delegates are generally in the seats, but the galleries are filling slowly. No signs yet of calling to order. At five minutes after one, Chairman Cameron, of the National Republican committee, called the convention to order and called upon Rev. Dr. Kettner, of Chicago, who opened the proceedings with prayer. The chair said: "I have been requested by the National Committee to designate Hon. George F. Hoar as temporary chairman. (Tremendous cheers.)

The Chair appointed Gov. Davis of Texas, Mr. Frye, of Maine, and Gen. Baum, of Illinois, a committee to wait on Mr. Hoar and conduct him to the chair.

Temporary chairman George F. Hoar was elected unanimously and addressed the convention.

On motion of Hale, of Maine, the roll of States was called for the appointment of committees on resolutions and credentials, Utah being excluded on the roll of States and Territories.

Frye asked that it be included. Conkling objected. The chair decided that it be called.

All questions on the pending resolutions have unanimously been referred to the committee on credentials and the protests of the contending delegations from Alabama, Illinois, Louisiana and Pennsylvania were presented and referred to the committee on credentials.

On motion of Logan a resolution passed granting 500 seats daily to veterans of the war.

Conkling moved that the convention adjourn till 11 o'clock to-morrow.

Hale opposed the motion but it was carried.

The Mite that Waited for the Submarine Cable.

In 1858, Dr. W. H. Russell, as Times' correspondent with the Atlantic cable expedition of 1858, wrote: "But as a mite waited in all probabilities never have been seen but for the invention of cheese, so it may be that there is some undeveloped creation waiting perdu for the first piece of gutta-percha which will be called to force his faculty and fulfill his functions of life—a gutta-percha boring and eating ferret, who has been waiting for the mite since the beginning of the world." While the Doctor wrote these words, his prophecy was being actually fulfilled: the borer was at work. The Leyard cable, laid in 1858, and taken up the next summer, was found to be beset by "millions of small shell fish or animals," accompanied by small worms, which had completely destroyed the hemp of the outer sheathing, and eaten circular holes in the gutta-percha core. Prof. Huxley, on examining these shells, wrote: "I am sure you sent me remove all doubt as to the nature of the mischief-maker in the cable. It is a bivalve shell—the xiphophora—closely allied to the ship worm (Teredos), but distinguished from it, among other peculiarities, by not lining its burrow with shelly matter. The xiphophora turns beautifully cylindrical burrows, always against the grain, in wood, and I have no doubt it perforated the hempen coating of the cable in the same way. On meeting the gutta-percha, it seemed not to have liked it, and to have turned aside, thus giving rise to the elongated grooves which we see."—Chambers' Journal.

The Best Vehicle.

An anecdote is told of a physician who was called to a farm family to prescribe for a case of incipient consumption. He gave them a prescription for pills, and wrote the direct to be taken three times a day, in any convenient vehicle. The family looked in the dictionary to get at the meaning of the prescription. They got out well until they got to the word vehicle. They found "cart, wagon, carriage, buggy, wheelbarrow." After grave consideration they came to the conclusion that the doctor meant the patient should ride out, and while in the vehicle he should take the pill. He followed the advice to the letter, and in a few weeks the fresh air and exercise secured the advantage which otherwise might not have come.

"You must admit, doctor," said a witty lady to a doctor of divinity with whom she was arguing the question of the "equality of the sexes." "You must admit that woman was created before man?" "Well, really, madame," said the astonished divine, "I must ask you to prove your case." "That can be easily done, sir. Wasn't Eve the first maid?"
