

APPROPRIATION BY CITY COUNCIL

It Will Cost at Least Three Thousand Dollars to Clear Away
Trees and Debris.

TEAMS AND MEN AT WORK.

Leading Merchants File Protest Against Paying Certain License—Claim
It is Double Taxation.

It will cost the city about $3,000 to clear away the trees and debris left in the streets and gutters by the recent windstorm. The street department has been working its hardest to place the streets in good condition again and every team and man available has been put to work by the supervisor. A complaint was received by the city council last night from Street Supervisor Raleigh in which he stated that it would be impossible for his department to restore the streets within a reasonable time with the regular force of men, and he asked that the council appropriate $3,000 to his department to be used in putting on extra men and teams to clean the streets up in the quickest time possible. The money was appropriated as requested.

KICK ON LICENSE.
A petition was received from 56 of the leading merchants of the city in which they protested against the collection of a license for the reason that it is a double taxation. The petition follows:

"We, the undersigned merchants of Salt Lake City, do hereby request that you abolish the ordinance of Salt Lake City requiring merchants of this city to pay a license."

"We believe that the taxation of merchants of the city by a license is double taxation. We pay a full pro rata share of all taxes regularly assessed, and in addition the city seeks to tax us an exorbitant amount under the name of a license. We deem this a gross injustice and double taxation, and ask that you give us an early reply."

A committee representing the merchants will appear before the committee on municipal laws on Thursday night and make a strong fight for the abolition of the license. It is believed that should the council fail to give them relief they will make a test of the matter in the courts. The city attorney was associated with the municipal laws committee in the consideration of the matter.

PROTEST AGAINST FENCE.

The merchants on the east side of East Temple street between Second and Third South streets submitted a protest against the fence which blocks the sidewalk in front of the new building being constructed in that block by the Utah Savings & Trust company. The merchants claim that the obstruction of the sidewalk is injurious to their business. A protest was also made against the fence maintained across the sidewalk on Third South street in front of the new P. A. Peterson building and the owner of the building was asked to appear before the council Thursday night and show them why the fence should be removed. As to the fence in front of the Utah Savings & Trust company building a motion was made and carried that the street supervisor order the fence removed within ten days.

MARTIN'S RESOLUTION.

Martin introduced a resolution on that subject, which will prevent the streets from being blocked by the new buildings in the future. The resolution states the contractor to construct a stable board platform at least 10 feet wide in front of the building, and to keep the sidewalk clear of all material from falling to the sidewalk completely. Where an excavation is being made under the sidewalk the contractor of the building must keep a board walk over the excavation, so that the sidewalk may be used. The resolution was adopted.

MORE ARC LIGHTS.

The committee on improvements recommended the installation of 11 arc lights in various parts of the city, but the report was held up, and will not be reported until the following locations: Center of Washington avenue; Hawthorne street, between Seventh and Eighth East streets; Belmont avenue and Lincoln avenue; Belmont avenue and Twelfth East street; between Ninth and Tenth South streets, 100 feet south of a side; Maple avenue, 30 feet west of the intersection of B and Eleventh East streets; B and Twelfth East streets; and B and Thirteenth East streets; Fifth East street and Vernon street; Commercial street and Plumb street; and Second South street and Plumb street.

FRANCHISE ASKED FOR.

A petition was received from the Salt Lake Public Service company asking that the franchise granted to the City Heating & Power company be amended to include the time within which the city shall be paid, and in connection with the city to Oct. 1, 1907. The petition was referred to the municipal committee. The same company also petitioned for a franchise to run a cable car line through the city, and the petition was referred to the streets and public works committee with the city engineer associated.

USE OF CANAL.

City Engineer Kelley notified the directors of the East Jordan Canal company that they had tendered the city the use of its canal to run water to the city. The city council has agreed to let the city use the canal to run water to the city. The city council has agreed to let the city use the canal to run water to the city.

TO CLEAN UP STREETS.

Tuddenham introduced a resolution instructing the board of public works to require the contractors who are installing the sewer and gas mains to clean up the streets and sidewalks on First and Second streets from the surplus stone and earth from the same. The board was also requested to see that the work of laying sidewalks in extension No. 89

HUMAN BLOOD MARKS.

A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Bae, Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since. ### AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—George Ade's "Peggy from Paris" had a handsome welcome from a big audience at the theater last evening. While no one can truthfully say that this particular work ranks alongside of "The County Chairman," or "The College Widow," it is full of the humor of the slangy sort that made Ade famous. Added to that is a hard working, scintillating chorus that does any number of pretty turns, and two or three people whose work on the rough and tumble order, is of the best sort of that special class. It has two or three others whose achievements could not be called more than mediocre. The main feature this season remains as it was before, the work of Arthur Deagon, whose singing, tumbling and dancing in the part of Roginald, are something to be remembered. He was well aided by Miss Croft in the part of Lily. Miss Haynes in the role of the German girl was heartily cheered for her singing, and the others in the cast belong in the line to average class.

The same bill runs tomorrow afternoon and evening, when the engagement closes.

HI Henry's Minstrel's play the latter part of the week, opening Thursday night, at the theater.

"Parasol" is one of the nearby big attractions at the theater. The version is the dramatic one, not the operatic.

Orpheum—Not since the deep snows of last winter, have there been opening night delays at the Orpheum, until last evening, when it was announced from the stage that substitute performers would be necessary in two of the acts, on account of the big storm which had prevented the arrival of the principals. One of those who did not appear was Miss Lee White, billed as a dainty singer of good songs. Her place, however, was very acceptably filled by Miss Fitzpatrick, a young Salt Lake artist, who soon demonstrated that she, too, was a dainty singer of good songs. Though manifestly nervous at first, she made an excellent impression and was heartily applauded for her work. The other absentees, Eckhoff & Gordon, musical laugh provokers, had substitutes who did the best they could to fill the gap. A decidedly entertaining twenty minutes was that given by McMahon & Chapelle, in a talk, dance and song turn with many clever things in it. Lillian Appel, designated as some of her sex as beautiful, and by the men as "stunning," appeared in an act that is entirely novel in this section and which is called a piano-louge, presumably from the fact that she gives an instrumental accompaniment to her elocutionary efforts.

Happy Hooligan's troubles with a table, with Ben Turpin as the trouble maker, was the curtain raiser, and McMahon's minstrel maids and watermelon girls furnished the closing act of the night. There were nine of them, all told, and they gave a very satisfactory and pleasing imitation of the real article. Particularly fine was the big melon scene preceding the final drop of the curtain.

The showman pictures, depicting the troubles of a fireman and life in India, were rather above the standard of excellence. The acts that were missing last night will be given the remainder of the week without interruption.

Grand—"A Deserted Bride" is the bill at the Grand for the first half of this week. A good-sized audience witnessed the play last night and liberally applauded the efforts of the leading members of the cast. The scenes of the play are laid in Mexico, and deal largely with the misadventures of a woman, who learns to her sorrow that most men are believers in the double standard of morality and are not willing to forgive as they wish to be forgiven. While dealing with the stern and more or less sorrowful phases of life, the play contains a liberal sprinkling of wit and humor, and with the between-act specialties, affords an interesting evening's entertainment. The next attraction at the Grand will be "A Mad Love," an adaptation from Barba M. Clay's novel, "Lady Audley's Secret," and which will be seen for three nights and Saturday matinee, commencing Thursday evening.

Lyrics—"Thelma," dramatized from Marie Corelli's famous novel of that name, was the bill at the Lyric last evening, and it was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic audience. It is one of those plays that is better understood when once the book has been read, yet as rendered Monday night one has little difficulty in following the interesting scenes from Norway, where the story begins, to England and back again to the land of the midnight sun, where Thelma retreats, after she has come to believe, though the notion is groundless, that the man she loves is perfidious. The members of the cast acquitted themselves with credit, and especially was this true of the Misses Wilbur and Bittner and Messrs. Carpenter and Moore. "Thelma" will be the attraction all this week.

THIEF LANDS IN JAIL.

Grabbed a Woman's Purse and Then Followed Exciting Chase.

Last evening as Mrs. C. Silvers, who resides at 653 south Fifth East street, was walking near Third South and Main street, her arms filled with bundles, a sneak thief grabbed her purse and ran westward along Third South. A number of persons saw the act and several gave chase. Among the pursuers was Frank Stark, an employee of the Utah Light & Railway company, and he caught the robber before West Temple street was reached. Stark held his captive until the arrival of a policeman, who took the thief to the city jail. The latter gave the name of P. S. Coney, and claimed to be a stranger in the city. He threw away the purse while being pursued, and when it was found it contained but 21 cents.

The Munkres on Fire and Has Been Burning Three Years.

(Special to the "News.")
Buffalo, Wyo., Oct. 23.—It is feared that the Munkres coal mine near this place will have to be entirely abandoned as a result of the fire which has been slowly burning therein for the past three years. Of late this fire has been increasing to a considerable extent, although every effort has been made to check the flames. A dozen men were overcome by smoke and gas in an attempt to erect masonry barriers about the burning area, and for a time it was feared that some of them would not recover, artificial respiration being resorted to to save their lives. Although completely walled in, the fire still continues.

Mr. Robert Whiteley, of Pittsburgh, Pa., writes: "My wife was subject to chronic stomach trouble and terrible nervousness; she was thin, and had a worn-out look. Doctors after great expense, all failed to help her. At last she tried Vinol, and soon the change in her condition seemed almost miraculous. She continued its use, and today she is in perfect health and has gained 36 pounds—her friends hardly know her so great is the change. To Vinol we give all the praise, and everywhere I recommend its use, and today I have more faith in it than I have in doctors or any other medicine."

Mr. Druehl of Druehl & Franken, says: "Vinol is successful in cases like this because it contains in a concentrated form all of the curative properties contained in cod liver oil, the useless oil eliminated, and tonic iron added, and it is the greatest strength creator known to medicine. Vinol tones up the tired, weakened nerves of the stomach; it purifies and enriches the blood and strengthens every organ in the body. Try Vinol on our guarantee." PETITION FOR FRANCHISE

Filed With County Commissioners by Utah Light & Railway Co.

A petition for a franchise for an interurban electric line throughout the county has been filed with the county commissioners by the Utah Light & Railway company. It is asked that the company be permitted to construct and operate an interurban line over the highways of the county from Murray to point of the mountain; west from State road to Bingham Junction and thence to Bingham; west from the limits of this city to Garfield; and east to the city of Salt Lake. The line will run southeast from the city to Halliday. It is asked that the franchise be granted for a period of 50 years and that the company be permitted to haul passengers, freight, express, mail and baggage on the cars.

The application was referred by the commissioners to the committee on roads and bridges, together with the applications for franchise filed by H. P. Clark and Institute Electric Light & Power company.

Poison Interchanged for Whisky Caused Death of Austin Toole.

(Special to the "News.")

Cody, Wyo., Oct. 23.—A jug of bug poison interchanged for a jug of whisky was the cause of the death of Austin Toole, who has been employed on the Corbett tunnel work near here for the past three months. Toole was in the habit of placing a jug of whisky under his bed and taking several drinks during the night. A jug of bug poison was also placed under the bed, and during the night in question Toole reached under the bed for the whisky, but instead took the poison. He died a few hours later, suffering intensely.

AS "MILLE. TELORES."

That is the Title Under Which Manager Court Would Star Nannie Tout.

When Manager Court, the well known theatrical and operatic manager, returns to Salt Lake a week or so from hence, he will receive an answer from Miss Nannie Tout, who appears in the tabernacle on Monday night next in a big Wagnerian music festival, to which he will not accept his offer for a 75 concert engagement next year.

It will be interesting to "News" readers to know that should she go under the management of Mr. Court on her return from Europe, she will be starred in the part as "Mille Telores," the title that was conferred upon her by the National Welsh Eisteddfod in June a year ago. However, her professional appearance under this name will only be made in the east. In the west, where she is known as Nannie Tout, she will remain, says Mr. Court. If the contract is signed, then Miss Tout will cover practically the same concert tour as that made by Calve last season.

"Reincarnated" Quail.

"I was dining last night at one of our best restaurants," writes Mr. Frank Richards in the Fall Mail Gazette, "and in analyzing my quail, I found that it was analyzing a scenario. That the skeleton existed but the bulk of the bird had been made up with potted meat. My quail was a quail, I noticed, asked a leg, N. W. what happens is this. During a long dinner the chances are that one only cuts off the breast of the bird. The rest remains intact. The quail is then carefully collected, taken to the kitchen, and reconstructed."

"Most of the best hotels and restaurants are run in connection with cheaper restaurants, and to them the quail 'reincarnated' is sent. It may then be provided it has not been too seriously damaged by the dinner, be sent on to a third, fourth, and even a fifth restaurant."

Neither in London nor in Paris is it prudent, we imagine, to inquire too closely into the vicissitudes of fortune undergone by any dinnered bird or beast on the table, even though the restaurant be one which is beyond suspicion of its food coming from China. Curries, mince, salmon, dressings, and yamds in apple are rarely made of fresh meat, and the wooden, scorching taste of the meat in them is among the least of their disadvantages. They are quite out of fashion.

FIREMAN FRED GULBRANSEN.
Who is in the Hospital With Severe Injuries Received in the Terrible Gale of Saturday Night Last.

Capt. William F. Cahoon of the Salt Lake fire department, whose leg was badly shattered by a falling tree during the windstorm of Saturday night, is resting easily at the Latter-day Saints' hospital, whither he was removed from the Salt Lake Private hospital. The break is of a serious nature, but it is hoped by the captain's many friends that no permanent effects will result from the accident.

Driver Fred Gulbransen is at the Salt Lake Private hospital, where he is receiving the attention of Dr. Alvin Lewis. Word comes from his bedside this afternoon that he is very much improved, and the attendants express a strong opinion that he will soon recover.

It may be added (with the exception of the apple) in most first class restaurants. Mr. Richardson's quail in sight, however, by a perfectly honest bird. To pick the flesh from a quail, pound it up, replace it on the skeleton, and serve the bird in apple is a common, if foolish, effort of cookery, utterly ruining the two or three delicious mouthfuls of which a quail consists. Chickens are sometimes served in this fashion, and in the family "canton rouennais" certain parts of the duck are pounded up into a sauce for the rest.

One likes, however, to be well acquainted with the restaurant where these dishes are presented. At a cheap table dinner in Boho or the Palais Royal they are best left alone.—London Mail.
