The Mysterious Tricks of W. H. Vanderbilt.

NEW YORK, 21.—The Public, under the head of "The Great Untaxed," exposes the ways of W. H.
Vanderbilt, and denounces the course of the newspapers which have refrained from censuring his evasion of taxes, and a personal statement in which it is alleged that the Lake Shore speculation, and the statements current in the street about the part Vanderbilt took in the Lake Shore speculation, are either true or false. If true, or half true, exactly the same grade of dishonesty which was shown in the no-personal property return was manifested in Vanderbilt's part in the speculation; if not true, it would be expedient for Vanderbilt to make the fact known without delay. The undeniable facts are that nearly all Vanderbilt's in-imate personal friends and business associates were buying Lake Shore stock to the very top, in the avowed belief that the consolidation of the road with the New York Central was to be made on Thursday.
Many of them refused to believe the contrary, and held the stock in very large blocks, even after there had been a formal announcement of great quantities of the stock had been thrown upon the street by Vanderbilt's sons. They are not even guileless, or so ignorant of the ways of the market in general, or of Vanderbilt's in particular, as to be taken in by the winks or nods.
Does anybody believe that a guest, or blunder made by the General Manager of the Lake Shore, that Mr. Carey, Vanderbilt's family friend, bought 5,000 shares on dream, and held it until the crash had come? Is D. O. Mills, the California capitalist, who is associated with Vanderbilt in the directory, so soft an operator that he had no reason for buying and sticking to 20, 000 shares? Did Henry NeSmith dream he had a slide with Vanderbilt at Saratoga one day, and then come down to New York in haste to operate on a sure thing? Is Keenan an innocent and inexperienced youth, who is prone to buy things upon "understanding?" Vanderbilt made a characteristic speech to his friends at Saratoga, in effect as follows: "I have money enough, all I want to do is to buy and make some yourselves. Buy Lake Shore without any fear; I'll fix things at the meeting on Thursday."

It is high time that the legislature take into very serious consideration the methods and performances of the "great untaxed." His "stand and deliver" policy toward all the commerce and industry over which he holds a monopoly of transportation; his impudent evasion of taxes, both for his great corporations and for himself; and his attempt to fasten more extended and firmer monopolies upon the State by the purchase, or wrecking of roads which may compete with him in some quarters, make it proper to probe the whole business to the bottom.

Falmes's Will.

The will of Harry D. Falmes, of the firm of Falmes & Falmes, was filed for Probate to-day. After bequests of $200 in cash and $500 a year for life to his mother, and $250 a year to his aunt, he leaves the rest of his real and personal property to his wife, who is appointed sole executor.

Convalescing.

WASHINGTON, 21.—Commodore Shufeldt writes from St. Helena that the sick of the Tonawanda are convalescing.

Privileges of Postmasters.

Assistant Postmaster General Freeman has advised the Postmaster General that a postmaster should not be required to testify in a judicial proceeding, who rents a box in his office, or who took letters from it, etc., tending to show what became of certain correspondence.

Convicted.

FITCHBURG, Mass., 21.—Rev.
Henry J. Mason, the self-married advent preacher, was convicted today of lewd and lascivious conduct.
The case goes to the Supreme Court.
The validity of his divorce in Missouri is disputed.

Earthquake.

LOCKPORT, 21.—There was a shock of an earthquake here at 1.30 to-day; there was also a long tremor and buildings were shaken. The tremor lasted about five seconds.

Under Bonds.

YAZOO CITY, Miss., 21.—J. A.
Barkdale has been released on $15,000 bonds.

What One Drink Did.

MISSISSIPPI CITY, 21.—R. B.
Pearson, superintendent of public education of Harrison County, killed John D. Conkerton, of New Orleans, this afternoon. They quarreled about a drink, which Conkerton claimed that Pearson had not paid for. Pearson invited any one that wanted to fight him to come out of the bar-room. Conkerton advanced on Pearson, and the latter drew a pistol and fired. Conkerton started to run, when Pearson fired again.

For Governor.

BOSTON, 21.—Henry L. Pierce will be a candidate for the republican nomination for governor.

Murderers.

Nicola Infante and Antonio Ardito were committed to jail today charged with the murder of Joseph Frye. Vincenzo Bandiera, alias "Chico," was committed on the charge of inciting to murder.
Joseph Donato was held in bonds of $10,000 to answer to the charge of harboring murderers.

A Tramp Murderer.

TOPEKA, Kas., 21.—J. W. Coffin, station agent and grocer at Williamsburg station, on the Kansas Pacific Railroad, was murdered today by a tramp. The tramp called for cheese and crackers, and while Coffin was reaching into a barrel to get crackers the tramp struck him on the back of the neck with an axe, nearly severing the head from the shoulders. A man has been arrested on suspicion.

Deaths, Will, Etc., in the Several States.

SARATOGA, 21.—At the session of the Bar Association to-day, a resolution was adopted declaring that greatly to be desired that action should be taken by the several ## states, by proper and concurrent legislation, to secure uniformity on acknowledgment and authentication of deeds and other instruments affecting real estate, and in the mode of executing and attesting wills.

Yellow Fever Notes.

MEMPHIS, 21.—Two new cases were reported this morning. Four deaths have occurred.

At a meeting of the citizens residing in the southern portion of the city held last night, a strong resolution was adopted protesting against the enforcement of the law recently passed by the State board of health at Nashville, prohibiting citizens to venture beyond their premises between the hours of 6 p.m. and 4 a.m.

At a meeting of the Howard Association, held this evening, it was determined to withhold the appeal to the charity of the nation until every dollar of money in the treasury had been expended. A prominent sick man is progressing favorably, except Gen. G. S. Skiffington, whose condition is considered critical.

Washington, 21.—The National Board of Health has decided not to furnish rations to those who remain in Memphis, or other infested cities, and to furnish rations to persons in camps under supervision only for a limited time, and under exceptional circumstances.

St. Louis, 21.—The deaths from yellow fever in this city during July numbered 475. One death resulted from cholera.

WESTERN.

San Francisco, 21.—The workingmen have endorsed M. D. Thornton, democratic nominee for associate justice of the supreme court, vice G. E. Wilkins.

The Suto Tunnel Company has started another lateral tunnel northwardly at a point 12,000 feet from the entrance, where good assays of gold and silver are obtained.
This is the Tunnel Company's ground, which extends 2,000 feet in the direction of the old tunnel.

Wm. H. Daly, the champion swimmer, started east this morning for a match with Matthew Webb.

In the Twenty-third District Court to-day, John H. Burke brought suit against John C. Flood and James V. Coleman, executors of W. S. O'Brien deceased, to recover $20,015.00. This is a duplicate of the suit against Flood, Fair, Mackay, et al., now pending, and is brought to prevent the distribution of the O'Brien estate.

Correspondence.

YONKERS,
Westchester County, N. Y., August 15th, 1879.

Editors Deseret News:

It having been some months since I reported my labors to the readers of the News, I take this opportunity of giving a sketch of them in the meantime.

On May 25th, I came to Rhode Island, in which State I spent about five weeks visiting academicians and searching old records. In the latter work I met with good success.

On June 24th, I came to New York, visited the saints in Brooklyn and then came to Yonkers, a lovely town on the Hudson, where there is a small branch of the Church, by whom I was cordially welcomed and entertained for a fortnight.

On July 10th, I left Yonkers for Cream Ridge, N. J., where I enjoyed a very pleasant sojourn till the 30th ult., where, in accordance with long-standing invitation at Port Monmouth, I left Cream Ridge to visit that place.

Up till now I had not held a public meeting for months, and in no place had I been visited in the States of Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island, New York or New Jersey, could I find any opening or encouragement for public preaching, and only once in a while did an opportunity occur to expound or bear testimony to the gospel in private.

On arriving there, Sister Watson, by whose invitation I had come, introduced me to an old gentleman, Mr. P., who at once became much interested in my mission, as did some other individuals whom I met soon after my arrival. They urged me to hold a meeting.

Port Monmouth is a scattered country village on Raritan Bay, near Sandy Hook, in the northeast part of New Jersey. There are a few people, many being unable to read or write. But to consider these disadvantages, there exists among these humble people a honesty of heart which is more rare in circles more refined.
In such a place, news travels swiftly, and a written notice posted up in the village store, which was already the post office on the morning of August 2nd, was sufficient to notify the entire village of the meeting in the evening. The house was well filled, and a number of people listened at the doors and windows. The best of order was observed, and at the conclusion persons desired another meeting, and I promised to gratify them. As I left the school-house a crowd gathered around me, some of whom renewed to my questions. One of the latter was a local preacher of the Methodist church named C., who had the frankness to acknowledge that what I had taught was strictly scriptural. Next day, Sunday, in the afternoon, in company with Mr. C. and Mr. P., I attended a Methodist class meeting.
When the time for opening arrived, at the suggestion of Mr. C., the local preacher, the class leader arose and said he would put the meeting in my hands to be conducted as I saw fit. This being insisted upon by a vote of all present I consented, and after singing and prayer, I gave a discourse upon the fall of Adam, and the means which God had provided whereby we might escape its consequences, and obtain salvation, introducing the first principles of the gospel in their order, and bearing testimony to the restoration of the gospel in these last days, with its original gifts and blessings.

When freely from scripture, and quoted freely from the local preacher, bible in hand, was turning to the passages I used. On finishing my remarks, to my great surprise, he arose and bore a strong testimony to the truth of the doctrine I had taught, reading and commenting more fully on some passages of scripture I had quoted, and urged all to attend my next meeting, an appointment for which I gave out for the following Tuesday evening, August 5th. Again the house was filled, and nearly as many remained to listen outside. I gave out another appointment for Thursday evening, August 7th.

Up to this time no opposition had manifested itself, but I took it as a healthy sign when next day some thrash of a disturbance and talk of rotten eggs reached my ears. The devil was becoming alarmed and what alarms the devil encourages an elder. Long before the opening of the next meeting a house full had assembled, and among them an element that seemed bent on a disturbance and threats were rife that the "Mormons" would be roughly used if certain fellows caught him. Mr. P. thought it best for me to stay at his house, which adjoined the schoolhouse, after the meeting, as I might be followed if I walked to my usual stopping place. I did not really do not really think that any plan was afoot to injure me.

The trustees of the schoolhouse thought it best that no more meetings be held in it for fear of a disturbance. One of them, an ignorant but well meaning man, subsequently said to me that he hoped I did not "feel hard because we objected to any more meetings," for my part I liked 'em first-rate, but ye see, some fellows in town didn't begin to understand the law. I suppose the law would perfect a Methodist's or a Baptist's or a Presbyterian's meeting, but I really don't know how they can keep the law to perfect a Mormon meeting, or not, and so we that we better not risk it." His frank acknowledgment that he did not know that there was a "Mormon meeting," evidently made in honest candor, suggested many reflections to my mind. Many a better educated man than he, with far less honesty has acted on the same principle, or else the blood of the Saints would be on the hands of the Lord, or boasted land of liberty to-day, nor would an entire religious community have had to endure the atrocities that form so large a part of the history of the Latter-day Saints.

Further public meetings being thus barred, at the earnest solicitation of two or three families, I held private meetings in their houses and did much conversational preaching. At length I left Port Monmouth on the 11th inst., for Yonkers, having held 8 meetings in all during my eleven days' stay.
The results of my labors are in the hands of the Lord, but I expect, in the near future, to do some baptism there. On my way to Yonkers I passed through New York City, and there, by the providence of God, I met with a man, a native of Sweden, who with his wife, was very anxious to be baptized, but who did not know where to go for that purpose. At my suggestion they accompanied me to Yonkers and, on Tuesday evening the 12th inst., I baptized both of them, to their great joy. They will remain here with the branch, which now numbers 14 members.

I shall remain in Yonkers for some days, when I expect to go up the Hudson to Albany and Troy. My health is good and my spirits excellent, and I desire to continue to labor faithfully for the salvation of the living and of the dead, for I know of no labor in which there is greater joy or which will be more abundantly rewarded.
Your brother in the Gospel,
B. F. CUMMINGS, JR.
