

evil when allowed to run riot. If men give way to ebullitions of wrath the disposition to do so will increase with using. If David Gallifant had contracted the habit of curbing his temper instead of indulging it on trifling occasions, in all probability he would not now be waiting the judgment of a legal tribunal for a deadly act committed in the heat of passion. Let every hasty person, male and female, beware of anger and strive to guard against its ebullitions.

The other evil is the practice of carrying deadly weapons. Officers of the law and persons in extreme danger from violence may be justified in carrying such instruments of defence. But ordinarily there is no need for it. In this city and Territory, except upon extraordinary occasions, civilians have no necessity for carrying dagger or pistol. Some young men imagine it looks brave to carry a revolver in the hip pocket. Not so, it is rather a mark of cowardice, it shows that the wearer does not feel able to "hoe his own row" with his fellows. If David Gallifant had not been in the habit of carrying a pistol, in all probability he would not now be in his present jeopardy. The practice should be discouraged in all civilized places, and ordinarily it should be frowned down as a savage custom unfit for decent society. And the propriety of waiting for any action, either of speech or deed, until violent anger has subsided, must be recognized and conceded by every mind imbued with common reason.

THE OTHER SIDE.

The following is the testimonial of J. F. Burner, Elko, Nev., giving his opinion of the Victor Mower purchased by him of the Judson Manufacturing Company, of California. This J. F. Burner is the author of the article which appeared in the Daily News of this city on the 18th instant, under the heading "A Warning." The mistake in the person's name was made by Mr. Burner to hide his real name, or on account of bad writing which prevented the type setter from reading it correctly.

THE TESTIMONIAL.

Elko, Nev., October 10, 1883.

Judson Manufacturing Company:

The Victor Mower purchased of you last August has been put to the severest test. The obstacles it had to overcome were heavy rye grass, wildflowers, gopher hills, mud, sand and tangled alough grass, and over all these it triumphed. The Victor for lightness of draught has no equal. I hitched in a three-year old cow with an old horse, and worked them day after day, without change, until 240 acres had been mowed over, when the horse appeared as fresh as at first. My reasons for liking the Victor is no side draught, no sore neck horses, no sliding of the wheels, no choking of the sickle (even in the heaviest grass when the sickle is sharp), no backing on starting, or checking on a turn, no striking against the ground, no slipping or sliding, no straining to lift the lever, no stopping to fold up ready for the road and last, but not least, very little wear and tear, and very little oil. I only used one pint of oil, and the machine to-day is as good as when I bought it. All other mowers used on the Humboldt are about played out after cutting 240 acres. Success to the Victor.

J. F. BURNER.

With a view of cheating the Judson Manufacturing Co. out of the price of this mower, after using and pronouncing so high an endorsement upon it he refused to pay for it and the company had to sue the fellow for their money, which was no doubt the real cause of his spleen, and which found vent in the article referred to.

Everybody who has heavy grass to cut should call and see the "Victor," for it is unequalled by any other mower in Utah or anywhere else.

THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE HORROR.

The shocking catastrophe at the Brooklyn Bridge reflects very heavily on the officials who permitted people to crowd upon the structure in such numbers and such a manner that it was impossible for the throng to pass over in safety. The stupidity which permitted crowds to enter upon the narrow footway from both ends of the bridge until the tide of humanity became a solidified mass, pressed together by an ever-increasing force was simply amazing.

After such a successful effort of mechanical genius and skill as the grand bridge which connects the two great cities, it is lamentable that this awful tragedy should take place upon it through terrible blundering and criminal mismanagement. The affair ought to be fully investigated and the blame placed where it properly belongs.

A surging crowd generally loses its judgment and self-preservation, often banishing all regard for the safety and lives of others. But the wrong lies at the door of the managers who permitted the jam of passengers, and they appear to be responsible for the terrible results of the calamity.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

A GREAT deal is being said upon the attitude of the Democracy on the tariff question. The coming political struggle will no doubt turn on this point. Protection and free trade will meet in battle array and the result cannot yet be foretold with reasonable certainty.

That there are some industries in this country that need to be protected until they are able to stand alone and contend without extraneous support for existence and success, cannot be successfully controverted. And on the other hand that protection in many cases means only the enrichment of great corporations at the expense of the public, must be evident to every well informed individual.

Now although free trade is generally considered the doctrine of the Democracy, and protection that of the Republicans, the line between these parties is not very rigidly drawn, and there are many Republican free traders and protectionist Democrats.

The latest position on this important subject taken by live and progressive Democrats is a tariff for revenue, and the explanation of this given by the American Register, which is a true exponent of genuine Democratic principles, is so plain and pointed, and ought to be so well understood by those who are watching the tide of public affairs that we clip it entire, as follows:

On the tariff question let the distinction between a protective tariff and a revenue tariff never be forgotten or overlooked. The main object of the former is protection, not revenue, while the main object of the latter is revenue, not protection. With the former revenue is simply an incident, and where the protection becomes prohibitory no revenue at all is produced, while with the latter (a revenue tariff,) protection can be afforded as an incident where necessary and proper and dictated by sound policy. Under a revenue tariff productive industry and labor can be fostered, encouraged and protected, where necessary, and practicable without creating monopolies. But a protective tariff being that which makes protection its chief object, gives unjust advantages to the few over the many, and creates monopolies. The protective tariff is the tariff of the Republican party and its leaders, while the revenue tariff is the tariff of the Democratic party. Never forget or overlook this distinction, well founded and grounded upon principle. The history of tariff legislation in Congress, from 1789 to the present time, shows this distinction. The opposition to the Democracy have always insisted on a protective tariff, while the tariff for revenue with merely incidental protection has always been the policy of the Democratic party. And such was the doctrine of the leading Democrats in Congress up to the close of the last session. The Democracy has never at any time repudiated incidental protection or encouragement to domestic industry. And the attempt, which has been made to exclude entirely from the Democratic platform the idea of incidental protection or encouragement to home productive industry has been, whether intentional or not, an attempt to keep the Republican party in power.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Portland, Oregon, is to have this year a million dollar bridge, and railroad workshops costing five millions.

Something new has happened in Chicago. After a prize fight of thirty-nine rounds, the principals, seconds and witnesses were all arrested.

It is estimated that about one hundred persons were killed and five or six hundred wounded, by the cyclones in Wisconsin, Illinois, and other parts of the west.

A hundred members of the House of Commons have signed the letter to the Prime Minister in favor of extending the county franchise to women who possess the necessary qualifications.

"United for life" is the heading which the Cleveland Leader puts over an account of a wedding in that city. Seeing that this is an Ohio marriage is not the heading a little rash and premature?

The May report of the department of agriculture, which estimates a yield of winter wheat 37,000,000 bushels less than that of last year, is the statistical point of interest in the breadstuffs markets.

A Baptist pastor has had to leave Germantown, Pa. He was a widower, and paid marked attention to a young lady in the congregation. This was more than the other ladies could endure with "Christian" patience.

The graves of departed heroes who fell, clad either in blue or in gray, will be decorated with flowers to-morrow, while the voice of eloquence and the sound of sweet music will echo around their quiet resting places. Honor to the brave!

Queen Victoria will have seats for her attendants and family servants in the private chapel she is erecting at Osborne, similar to the one at Windsor only smaller. The summer visitors at Wappingham annoy her so much that she is compelled to build a place in which she may worship by herself while at her retreat on the Isle of Wight. Perhaps she will want a private place of worship in the other world.

Some New Yorkers attempt to make money without using much capital. One man has brought his fourth suit in six months to recover damages for the alienation of his wife's affections, a different man appearing as defendant in each action. The claims for damages vary from $5,000 to $30,000. That wife's affections appear to be of fluctuating and extraordinary financial value.

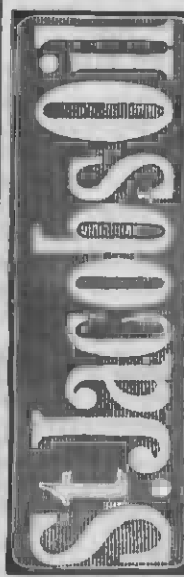

Phosphorus is one of the most violent poisons, even very small quantities proving fatal. Burns on the skin may result fatally if the wound is not well washed out and caused to bleed freely. Employment in phosphorus factories is highly detrimental to the health of workmen, but especially for those that have bad teeth. The vapor produces a destruction of the jaw bone, known as phosphorus neurosis.

The Czar of all the Russias, etc, etc, and so forth, at last has his crown on. There was danger that his crown would be blown off, but the Nihilists have been circumvented and Alexander is now duly installed, with a list of titles which, with the imperial diadem, are enough to crush a King let alone make his head uneasy. For full particulars see the telegraphic dispatches.

Poor Peru at length succumbs to Chili, and the land of the Incas is virtually conquered by a former dependency. The terms of the capitulation will be seen in our dispatches and amount to a complete surrender. Chili will occupy the capital and chief ports of the country, and by the time specified for a popular choice of governments will no doubt have complete control, when the Chilean Republic will stretch from Patagonia to Ecuador.

Bishop Gilmour says that Thomas Jefferson was the progenitor of dynamism, because he "planted the seeds of discord in civilized society when he promulgated the doctrine that all men are created equal, and endowed by the Creator with certain inalienable rights, among them life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." The Bishop regards this doctrine as false in its notions of human equality, and as the cause of communism, nihilism, and general restlessness.

Within three months pig iron has dropped from $24 to 21 per ton, and it is thought it will go still lower as many small manufacturers are forced to sell. The same thing occurred in 1873, when pig iron sold at $30 and dropped to $16.50—several dollars below the cost of production. The result then was the wiping out of most of the small concerns, and the present depression will have a tendency in the same direction, though it may not be so sweeping and disastrous in its results.

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that HOP BITTERS was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprang up and began to steal the notices in which the press and the people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits.

RE-ORGANIZATION

OF THE FIRM OF

Fish Brothers & Co.

TO THE PEOPLE OF UTAH:

The Co-partnership between T. G. FISH, E. B. FISH and J. C. HUGGINS, under the firm name of Fish Bros. & Co., expired by limitation on January 1st, 1883. At that date, J. C. HUGGINS retired from the firm D. J. MOREY and S. S. LYON purchasing his interest. In the re-organization of the new firm of Fish Bros. & Co. which then took place, our Utah trade was thoroughly discussed, and we determined to give the Utah trade that attention in future which it deserves, and which was, to some extent, neglected in 1882.

S. S. LYON, one of the new members of the firm, who had been in the employ of the old firm many years, spent several weeks with Mr. Lowell at Salt Lake last fall, and gave his special attention to ascertaining all defects and all needed improvements in the Fish Wagon, to keep it in the future, as in past years, the STANDARD WAGON of Utah and adjoining Territories.

Call on The John W. Lowell Wagon Company and examine this year's make of the Fish Wagon, for we assure you it will be found a BETTER WAGON THAN WE EVER SENT TO UTAH BEFORE. We are selecting all the timber, and taking special pains in manufacturing all Wagons for Utah trade.

Yours Respectfully,

FISH BROS. & CO.
