WARS AND RUMORS OF WARS.

The signs of war impending or highly probable are very marked in both hemispheres. The evidences are strong that the ensuing presidential contest in these United States will be a very close and exciting one. The Indiana and Ohio elections, just had, have largely strengthened that opinion. The indications that the federal administration designs to strenuously support the provisions of the force bill, although it has been declared substantially unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States, are not assuring to the friends of peace. The proclamation of President Grant that actual insurrection exists in South Carolina, and the instructions of Secretary Cameron to General Sherman to concentrate and dispose of the available U. S. forces in the Atlantic military division with a view to immediate active service in reducing such insurrection, if deemed necessary, are steps in the direction may be of peace, but they look much more like war. What a fourth it would be if this centennial year, after all, and notwithstanding all its boasts of peace and good will, should witness the beginning of a domestic war in the various States beside which the late conflict, between the North and the South, would dwindle into insignificance. Utah votes for peace, and every good citizen and friend of humanity hopes peace will prevail, but it cannot be denied that the signs of the times may be interpreted as indicative of an immediate future anything but peaceable.

Turning our eyes to Europe, the signs are not a whit more cheering. As nations, all the nations desire peace, and profess to be willing to do much to secure it. Nevertheless the situation is such that the principal nations of Europe and some others, as to all appearance, drifting helplessly towards war, towards a war of colossal dimensions and wearisome duration, which shall heap up its hecatombs of slain, despoil the fair face of Europe, and perhaps Asia, work irreparable destruction of material wealth, inflict incalculable misery upon all ages and both sexes, and very notably change the features of the map of the old world.

England does not want to go to war, neither does Germany, nor France, nor Austria, nor Russia, nor Turkey, and they will not go to war except under certain conditions. Unhappily the several conditions thus desired for the maintenance of peace do not appear to strike all those nationalities as being existent. The principalities of Turkey went to war with that government. The other nations endeavored to have the quarrel settled. The more conservative portion of the Russian people does not wish for war, but the young, warlike, belligerent portion seems to be as hungry for the conflict as an Irishman for a fight. Germany and Austria apparently would rather the war was staved off. Both of those nations have had enough of war for awhile. Likewise has France, for it is no child's play with great nations, the iron enters the soul, and the burden is grievous to be borne, both by victor and vanquished. In fact, in many respects war leaves no victor but death and destruction, both the contending parties, the conqueror and the conquered, being vanquished and laid low in divers particulars. What has either the north or the south gained by the late war in the United States? What indeed? A heritage of debt, difficult to liquidate. A heritage of taxes, difficult to pay. A heritage of poverty, business depression, and financial distress, difficult to overcome. A heritage of hate, difficult to allay. And worst of all, a heritage of general demoralization and corruption, difficult beyond all the others to remove.

If nations were wise, they would never go to war, except unavoidably, and in the sheerest self-defense. If men were wise, they would seek peace and pursue it with unquenchable avidity. They would never have too much of it.

The "Colon" to Sail—Fallacies.
An arrangement was made with the corporation on which enabled the Colon to sail at the usual time to-day.

The failures reported to the stock and gold exchanges to-day were Home, Nichols, & Co., Henry Dater, J. P. McKewan, and S. A. Josephs. Great Excitement in Wall Street—Stock Panic.

The Evening Post has the following: The warlike rumors from the east, with the possibility that the European powers may become involved in Turkey's troubles, had a marked effect on Wall Street and the merchandise market this morning, all having been thrown into the greatest excitement. In the gold room the scene has been without parallel for years; hoists and excited brokers did for any amount, and at almost any price, and purchases which opened at 110, rapidly carried the price up to 113.

Yesterday morning gold opened at 109, so that in two days the price advanced full 4 per cent. So large an advance in so short a time has not occurred since the great panic of 1873. From 131 there was a fall to 111, and the price has remained steady between 111 and 112. In the foreign exchange there was an advance of 1/2 per cent. in notes for sterling bills in the stock exchange. United States bonds advanced 1/2 to 1 per cent., and stocks of all kinds advanced amid the excited purchases, the rise ranging from 1/2 to 3/4 per centum, war being interpreted to mean greater activity in railroad business and general trade.

A prominent grain merchant, when questioned by a reporter of the Post in regard to the probable effect of a European war upon the market for American breadstuffs, replied, "That definite predictions could only be obtained from merchants who had been a short time in the business. The older he grew the more ignorant he became concerning the future."

Telegraphic dispatches received at the Produce Exchange from Chicago say that the people are crazy over the excitement produced by the sudden rise in wheat in that city.

The Election—Official Report.
INDIANAPOLIS, 18.—The official majority of the congressional vote is as follows: Democrats, first district, 1,669; second, 5,153; third, 5,499; twelfth, 6,356. Republicans, fourth, 3,321; fifth, 1,569; sixth, 273; seventh, 1,388; eighth, 1,000; ninth, 1,410; tenth, 1,148; eleventh, 1,448; thirteenth, 2,022.

The independent vote for Congress is as follows: First district, 1,249; second, 914; third, 1,634; fourth, 358; fifth, 7,470; sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, nothing; twelfth, 223; thirteenth, 1,088. The official vote for the entire State, for Governor has been received, except Stark county; estimating the latter, Williams' majority over Harrison is 5,119.

The Epidemic Decreasing.
SAVANNAH, 18.—The health officer publishes a notice saying: Absent citizens are cautioned and urged to return to the city until official notice is given that it will be safe to do so. The decrease in the mortality report is encouraging, and indicates an early termination of the epidemic, but it is far from safe for absentes to return.

On the Retired List—Appointment.
WASHINGTON, 18.—Brig. Gen. Jacob Sealie, commander of the marine corps, has been placed on the retired list, and Lieut. Colonel Charles G. McKawley has been appointed commandant of the corps, with the rank of Brigadier-General. The changes are to take effect on Nov. 1st.

Meeting of the Army of the Tennessee.
The tenth annual meeting of the Army of the Tennessee was held this morning at the Soldiers' Hall. About 125 members were present, together with a large number of spectators. Gen. Sherman, President of the society, in calling the meeting to order, said that to-day was set apart more especially for the unveiling and dedication of a monument to the unfurling the banner for the McPherson monument, but previous to this there would be several hours for the transaction of business pertaining to the society. The meeting was formally opened with prayer by Rev. Mason Noble, of the U. S. Navy, and a committee was appointed to nominate officers for the ensuing year, to designate the time and place for the next meeting, and to select the orator for that occasion. A note was read from the private secretary of President Grant saying that he would give the latter great pleasure to meet again, and take by hand, such of his associates of the army of the Tennessee as may be pleased to call upon him at nine o'clock on Thursday night. The invitation was accepted, as was also an invitation to visit Mount Vernon to-morrow.

Sheridan, requesting him to give his best love and undying respect to the society.
Gen. Sheridan was unavoidably kept at Chicago by public duties, but his heart was present with the society.

A letter was also read from Gov. Hayes, of Ohio, regretting that important public duties prevented his attendance.

Gen. J. B. Hood, who commanded the Confederate army against the army of Tennessee, and who was a classmate of McPherson's, sent a letter of regret that he was unable to accept the invitation to attend the meeting, but expressed his sincere admiration for his noble qualities.

A letter was also read from Col. W. A. Baggs, of Virginia, in which he said: "Between McPherson and myself there always existed the warmest personal ties. Although in the late civil war we were naturally on different sides, it never for a moment suspended our personal relations and mutual friendship." A satisfactory report was made on the subject of the McPherson monument in Washington. From the decision which followed it appears that the monument will be erected over McPherson's remains at Clyde, Ohio, subscriptions for that purpose having been made.

Gen. Bullock presented, in a few remarks, which were received with much favor, a large and handsome executed photograph of the late Gen. McPherson. The society then adjourned to attend the ceremonies of the dedication of the monument, and at one o'clock the column formed under the command of Maj. Gen. David Hunter, chief marshal, consisting of mounted police, the F. McHenry band, several companies of military, and marine corps and land. The orator of the day, Gen. Logan, and the chairman of the executive committee of arrangements, prominent civil officers of the army of the Tennessee, officers of the army and navy, and invited guests, the Veteran Club, General of the Republic, and officers, soldiers and sailors who served during the late war, were present during the late war. The procession made a fine display.

WESTERN.
Rainy Season—Death of Ex-Chief Justice Tilton—The Chinese Question.
SAN FRANCISCO, 18.—The rainy season began yesterday, with considerable fall of rain, lasting throughout the day and night, and threatening a continuance this morning. Dispatches from various points in the interior report the storm generally. There will be considerable damage, it is feared, to large quantities of wheat piled in the vicinity of the railway stations and river landings.

A dispatch from Tucson, Arizona, reports the death of Hon. Jno. Tilton, ex-Chief Justice of Arizona. He is a native of Philadelphia.

The Congressional commission, to investigate the Chinese question begins its sitting to-day, and in consequence unusual activity prevails among the anti-Chinese organizations with the view of presenting the question to the committee in the most effective manner.

FOREIGN.

The Cotton Spinners and the Wages Question.
MANCHESTER, 17.—At a meeting of the Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers' Association of Northern and Northeast Lancashire, yesterday, it was resolved that the operatives' collieries having given notice that they will be bound no longer by the arrangement by which their wages have hitherto been regulated, an action which would give that body control of the position of wages in the district, the committee resolved to refuse to continue work under the proposed conditions, and have decided to give a month's notice that they will close their mills on Nov. 23rd. A resolution was also adopted declaring that the masters are ready to discuss the present standard with the operatives and arrange for the removal of any irregularities, but refuse any adjustment which would practically advance wages. The lockout, if it should take place, will throw 50,000 operatives out of employment.

Newspaper Sentenced.
A special to the Times, from Barcelona, states that the liberal organ, La Tribuna, has been sentenced to six months' suspension, and thus finally ruined, for publishing an article written by Senor Castellar. Throughout Spain the liberals are now the prey of the government, which daily becomes narrower in tone, and the arrogance of the priesthood increases daily.

Austria Does Not Approve of a Long Armistice.
A telegram from Vienna reports that the Austrian government has not approved of the Porte's proposal for a long armistice; on the contrary, it is understood Count Andrassy will support the steps taken by Russia in favor of a shorter armistice, and will second Russia's action in harmony with the triple alliance.

BRITISH AMERICA.

Heavy Snow Storm.
ST. JOHN, N. B., 18.—The Quebec train yesterday arrived six hours and a half late, being detained by a snow storm in the north, where two feet of snow covered the track in some places.

Excitement at the Stock Exchange.
LONDON, 18, 12:20 p.m.—At this hour the stock exchange is greatly excited, and it is almost impossible to give the accurate quotations. Russian securities have declined 7/8, making a fall of nearly 20 within a week. War between Russia and Turkey is considered as a certainty, and it is generally believed that other Powers will become involved. A commercial and financial crisis in Russia, and consequent heavy fall in Russian exchange, adds to the confusion.

1 p.m.—The funded loan, the only American stock much depressed, has felt the influence of the falling depression, and is now quoted at 105 1/2.

of Biscay has been suspended. Fresh arrests have been made causing great uneasiness. General Quintana is expected here.

Our Country Contemporaries.

Ogden Junction, Oct. 17.—From Mr. Charles Welch we learn that Mr. Thomas Duce and his mother are still recovering, and gradually recovering from the effects of their terrible wounds, received when accidentally shot at the depot.

Mrs. Smout, the old lady on the Bench who recently fell fracturing her hip and breaking two or three ribs, is doing splendidly. She is able to move around, and expects to be well soon.

John Daley, a transient, who was stopping in Ogden some weeks ago, obtained employment in Gentle Valley, getting out ties. While working there he had the misfortune to cut his foot very severely with an axe. He has returned here, and is being cared for by our Captain of Police. He is an object of charity.

Marshal Fife is doing good service in looking to control the small pox. He is energetic in carrying out the regulations of the Mayor and City Council, and in looking after the wants of the afflicted. Two more cases are reported since our last accounts, making thirty-five in all. Several of these are in a fair way of recovery.

Yesterday Dr. P. L. Anderson was summoned to Hooper to attend to the injuries of Mr. Elifah P. Hardy. In company with Dr. E. G. Williams he repaired to the city by the lake, and found Mr. Hardy suffering from a terrible accident. In company with Mr. Hardy he had been hunting, and when near the mouth of the river was preparing to load one barrel of his shot gun, the other barrel was cocked as Mr. Hardy was about to load. The contents of the barrel, which was loaded with shot, entered Mr. Hardy's right arm just below the elbow, ranging upwards, shattering the bone and coming out just below the shoulder. Dr. Anderson amputated the arm as near the shoulder as possible, being assisted by Mr. Williams. The patient endured the operation splendidly, and he is now in a favorable condition for recovery. Mr. Hardy made with great sympathy in the neighborhood where he lives.

Last night, about 9 o'clock, just after Mr. Paul Cullen, who lives at the eastern extremity of Third Street, had retired to rest, he was awakened by a disturbance in the house. Some person had secreted himself on the premises, with the evident intention of plunder. Mr. Cullen's boy was seized by the throat, and raising an alarm, the burglar made his escape through the window. Just as Mr. Cullen arose to see what was the matter, a brick came smashing through the window. Mr. Cullen cried "Murder!" and Mr. Keyes, who lives near by, came to his assistance. Mr. Shipp, who was passing but a little distance from the house, heard the alarm and the crashing of the glass, but could not see any person because of the intense darkness. On searching the house, it was found that a table had been broken up, and the contents of the drawers and drawers had been taken. Mr. Cullen, who had a contract to pay his hands, tried his hand at stealing it. He was fooled, as Mr. Cullen had paid the men and the treasury was empty.
