NEW EXECUTIVE ON STATE NEEDS.

Expresses Hope That Next Senator To be Chosen Will be a Man Of Ability.

HE SHOULD BE NAMED EARLY.

· Estimated Expenditures for the Next Two Years $2,033,500 and Total Deficits $88,975.

THE SAFETY OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

The St. Louis and Portland Fairs-Utah Successful at One-What is Wanted for the Other.

Governor Cutler presented his first message to the Utah Legislature today. it was read this afternoon immediately after the meeting of the members of both branchs in the house, to which they had adjourned for that purpose. The document is a very lengthy one, and deals with the various departments of state.

In the opening words of his message Governor Cutler compliments his predecessor in office for his executive abilfry and wise administration. He trusts that the prosperous conditions that came with the advent of statehood will continue Indefinitely Regarding the election of a United States senator for the six year term, he expresses the hope that the legislative choice will fall upon a man of reputation and ability, and concludes that Hah's prestige and influence in the United States senate will depend in great measure on the man chosen. He adds that next in importance to doing this work well is the necessity of doing It without delay.

In recounting the financial condition of the state, he points to the fact that the report of the state auditor shows that all the matured obligations of the commonwealth have been met, and that all warrants have been paid when due. but says that owing to certain appropriations out of the ordinary there is not so much cash on hand as was the case two years ago. The total deficits reach the sum of $88,975, and the money needed for the state government in all its branches, exclusive of that to be expended for roads and bridges, is placed at $2,033,500.

In the matter of the examination of public accounts, Gov. Cutler recommends greater strictness than has been the case heretofore; that it be the duty of the state auditor, "to audit all pub-He accounts at least once a year." He also recommends that a law should be enacted with reference to state and other public funds, requiring them to be placed under a board of loan commissioners or some other such body State lands, the manner of their handling, acreage and value and other matters of importance connected with them received considerable attention. The statement is made that the experiment in sinking artesian wells under the provisions of a previous legislature have not proved satisfactory.

Under the heading of education, the reflectory of Utab's public school system is given considerable attention, and the needs of the University of the needs of the University of he State Normal school, which is part of the same institution, the Agri-tultural college and the State Indusrial school, are pointed out with much attention to detailed requirements.

The state board of insanity is complimented for its intelligent management of the Meutal hospital and the charges which it contains. The state dons are represented as being ef-

The two state fairs since the last legislature met are said to have been in advane of any previous displays made under the auspices of the Deseret Agricultural and Manof the Deseret Agricultura, and the ufacturing Society. It is shown that the architects' estimates for the completion of the new building, now well under way, requires an appropriation of $10,000, and the board's estimate for regular expenses are $15,000.

The governor reports that the 27 inorporated banks and flye private banks in the state are in good condition. That the operation of building and loan associations, both domestic and foreign, should be made the subject of careful examination and supervision.

Public health conditions are gone in to in much detail, and the use of pareferred to the Legislature,

In the matter of appointive state offi-cars, Governor Cutler asks for legis-lation that will put the control of state boards in harmony with the political policy endorsed by the electors at the polis. He recommends that the com-mencement and closing of the terms of these officers be made contemporaneous with the opening and closing of the with the opening and closing of the terms of the general state officers.

The citizens' soldiery, commonly known as the national guard of the state, has a strong place in the governor's message. Their splendid services are adverted to and favorably commented upon, both with reference to the Carbon county campaign and other work. Every seasonable inducement, it is breed, should be given to the able hodied men of the state to do militia dity as required. The salary of the adjutant-general is said to be wholly indequate, and a material increase of the suggested. The entire appropriation for the maintenance of the guard for the next two years is placed at $65.16. the next two years is placed at decrease in the number of Utah A decrease in the number of Utah heep amounting to nearly 200,000 is noted. At the same time a very large increase in the number of pounds of wool is pointed out. Utah's world's fair commission is heartily thanked for its good work at St. Louis, and the recommendation made that the $10,000 deficit occasioned thereby should be wiped out by legislative appropriation. The $30,000 additional money asked for by the commission of the Lewis-Clark exposition at Portland next year is referred for consideration.

Fish and game matters receive their due attention. Another experimental farm, such as has been so successful in the southern part of the state, is recommended to be established somewhere in north-central Utah. The viglence of the dairy and food inspector in excluding bad and unhealthful foods from the local markets is commended. The desire for preserving the relics of the State Historical society is mentioned, as is also the work which has been done by the state statistician.

One of the concluding recommendations of the message is the repeal of the law which created the Utah art institute.

THE EXECUTIVE MESSAGE.

Full Text of Governor Cutler's Admotion to the Legislature.

To the Legislature of the State of the Legislature of the State of Utah:—I esteem it a great pleasure, as it is made my duty by constitutional requirement, to greet this honorable body in its sixth regular session, and to submit for your consideration a statement of the condition of the state of Utah and suggestions. of Utah, and suggestions as to needed egislation.
Since the last session of this body since the last session of this body, a change has occurred in the position of thief executive of Utah. On the completion of his second term, the first governor of our state, the Honorable Heber M. Wells, has retired from the office, leaving behind him a splendid record. The same can justly be said of all who have had part in the state administration. I am sure that the deministration. I am sure that the desire of every member of this Legislature is, equally with mine, that Utah's high position be maintained, and the interests of the state advanced. I know I can count on your active and intelligent co-operation in the work required to keep our state in the line of progress and prosperity.

In his last message to the Legislat-tre, my predecessor called attention to e favorable conditions then prevailing Utah. I am pleased to be able to state that those conditions have con-tinued and are still prevailing. Capita is still seeking avenues of investment in Utah, and the products of the field and flock are plentiful, and command good prices. Farmers and mechanics—the bone and sinew of a community—are partaking of the benefits arising from improved markets for their prod-uce and labor.

A notable feature of our industrial growth is seen in the establishment of growth is seen in the establishment of manufacturing enterprises, and the support afforded to such industries. The money kept at home by these manufactures, which would otherwise be placed in circulation elsewhere, is forming now, and will form more and more in the future, an important part of the wealth and the revenues of our state. Home production of goods, and the securing of outside markets for them, is proving a most important factor in Utah's development and wealth. It is a cause of sincere congratulation that on account of the industry and enterprise of our citizens, the products of our farms, mines, and factories are finding an ever-widening market abroad. The wise, statesmanlike policy

So far as legislation will aid in continuing this prosperity, I am sure you will keep this essential object in view in your enactments. As you are aware, your legislative work will consist of two parts amending or repealing existing laws, and framing new ones. Every law should be able to stand two tests: 1. that the enactment is necessary, and 2, that the law is clear in all its terms. It is pos-sible for a state to be overloaded with statutes. Over-legislation is fully as harmful as insufficient legislation. I trust that the mambers of the present Legislature will show discretion and

ELECTION OF SENATOR.

One of your most important duties is the election of a United States senator for the six-year term.
In common with all the other citizens of this state, I am, of course, desirous that Utah shall be worthly represented in that exalted body. Your choice for that position should be a ma choice for that position should be a man of great reputation and ability. It is the highest office in the gift of the state, and the character of our citizen-ship will largely be judged by the man-ner of man you send there. Not only that, Utah's prestige and influence in the work of the senate will depend, in great measure, on the legislative ability of the man chosen as senator.

Next in importance to doing this work well, is doing it without unnecessary delay.

FINANCIAL.

The report of the state auditor submitted herewith, shows that all the matured obligations of the state have been met, and all warrants paid when due. Owing, however, to certain appropriations out of the ordinary, there is not so much cash on hand as was the case two years ago. PANAMA BAILBOAD

House Committee Authorizes Favorable Report on Shackle. ford Resolution.

DIVIDENDS EXCEED EARNINGS.

Resolution Recites that United States Owns 98 Per Cent of the Capital Stock.

Washington, Jan. 10 .- The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce today authorized a favorable report on the Shackelford resolution providing for an examination by that committee of the affairs of the Panama raffroad company.

Mr. Shackelford said it was known that the railroad was maintaining offices in New York at an expense of $200,000 a year. It was known to at least 14 members of the committee, he continued, that in 1903 the directors of the road had declared dividends of hetween $200,000 and $300,000 in excess of the net earnings.

The resolution recites that "the United States is now the owner of more than 98 per cent of the shares of the capital stock of the Panama Railway company, and it is for that reason expedient that Congress should have full knowledge of the affairs of said company. Therefore be it.

Resolved. That the committee on interstate and foreign commerce be, and it is bereby directed to investigate the operation, management and condition of said railway company, and all fran chises and property belonging thereto, including steamships owned, operated, or controlled by it, or under any contract or agreement of any kind or character with it; that said committee make such investigations and report testi-mony with their conclusions thereon as soon as possible and that said committee or any duly appointed sub-commit-tee thereof, shall have power to examine any or all records, books, docu-ments, accounts and vouchers of said company or of any official or agent thereof, or of any person, company or corporation which may have had any agreements or relations with said rail-way company, and all records and min-utes of the acts and proceedings of any meeting of the stockholders or directors of said railway company, and shall have power to administer oaths, to employ or have the services of a stenographer, clerk, accountant, and mes-senger, and incur such other expenses as may be deemed necessary."

News Received in London Says Both Countries Are Preparing for War.

RECRUITS FROM ASIA MINOR.

Action Took Place in Connection Turkey Takes This Means of Strengthening Her Army-May Come Together in the Spring.

London, Jan. 10 .- The active preparations already reported to have been made both in Turkey and Bulgaria for a possible war this year are fully confirmed by a private letter received in London from a minister accredited to the Balkan courts. This minister, who States infantry, Capt. Halstead Dorey | has just completed a four of the Balkan capitals, writes that the Turkish and Bukrarian governments are energetically preparing for eventualities. Large shipments of arms and ammunition have been made and recruits from Asia Minor are arriving at Salonica weekly for service in the Turkish army. The Bulgarian and Creek bands in Macedonia are increasing daily and are tighting cach other and the Turks. This ing each other and the Turks. Addresses by Prest. Hagenbarth and Ex-President Springer-Question Of Reorganization Discussed.

Denver, Jan. 10 .- With 1,000 delegates In attendance the annual meeting of the National Live Stock association was called to order this morning by President Frank J. Hagenbarth,

After an invocation by the Right Rev. M. H. Hart, dean of St. John's cathedral, an address of welcome was delivered by Mayor R. W. Speer of Denver to which Vice President George Truesdell, of the National Wool Growers' association responded. The annual address of President Hagenbarth was

An address of welcome from the governor of Colorado was on the program, but up at the capital Gov. Peabody was closing up the affairs of his office, and Governor-elect Adams was preparing to step into his place, and it was impossi-ble for either gentleman to be present. The address of President Hagenbarth was read: John W. Springer of Denver, for eight years president of the livestock association, delivered a short ad-dress in memory of the members of the association who had died. It was heard with marked attention and elicited much favorable comment.

The convention then took up the question of re-organization and was bustly engaged with it for several hours. In the afternoon no session of the livestock association was held, the hall being turned over to the National Wool Grawers' association, and a meeting of the cattlemen on the range question.

GOV. ALVA ADAMS IS INAUGURATED.

At His Side Stood Ex-Gov, James A. Peabody When Oath Was Administered.

IT WILL BEGIN A CONTEST.

And Will be the Most Energetic and Bitter that Colorado Has Ever Witnessed.

Denver, Jan. 10 .- Standing beneath the draped folds of the American flag while the walls about him, and the floor beneath him, trembled in response to cannon that roared a salute in his honor. Alva Adams was at noon today inaugurated as governor of Colorado.

While he stood with uplifted hand, taking the oath of office administered by Chief Justice Gabbert, there was at his side the athletic form of ex-Gov. lames H. Peabody who will tomorrow naugurate the most energetle and bit-er contest that Colorado has ever een for the right to fill the position that Gov. Adams had just sworn by the ever-living God to administer to the test of his powers of body and mind. The inauguration ceremonies were simple in the extreme. A few ininutes before 12 o'clock Gov.-elect Adams, called at the office of Gov. Peabody, who was to accompany him to the house of representatives where the inauguration was to be held. Arm in arm, the two men, Peabody on the right, Adams on the left, entered the house, which was eked almost to suffocation by sena-Gov.
