A French lady returning from Havana carried with her a pretty little negro boy, for whom she tenderly cared. One day Bamboula said to his mistress: "Papa told me when I was big I must kill you and carry him all your money. I'm going to kill you, but I shan't go back to him, for he would take all the money away." Bamboula is on his way home.

Vast ruins have been discovered in the Zulu country in South Africa—obelisks with colossal carvings, terraces, and hails of hewn stone, or cut out of the solid rock. The natives regard them with mysterious awe, and keep strangers from them, for fear that If they are approached no rain will fall Stoves and Stove Furniture for three years. Who'll tell us of their

Liszt recently declared to a party of distinguished musicians that the most skilful octave player on the piano is the Emperor Napeolon III. His hearers were greatly surprised and Liszt then explained to them that Napoleon, owing to the peculiar construction of his hand, was able to surpass the most celebrated planist in this point. The beggary of Italy has at last crept into its gay and romantic capital, and compelled a condescension on the part of an ancient family which will make the dead and gone Florentines turn in their graves. James Ewing Gooley, of New York, a walking bank-book, has bought the Baclochi Palace in Florence. It forms a part of the vast Picci palace, built by the ancient family of that name, and was built before Columbus stood his egg on end. The ball-room, which is magnificent, is 46 feet high, and will doubtless soon resound to the clatter of genuine Gothamite "hops." Mr. Cooley is probably the first Ameri-

His house opened upon an inclosure called the elephant's park, containing a pond in which he would lay himself under the water, concealing a pond of the water and the water and the water a pond of the water and the wate ing every part of him except the very end of his trunk, a more speck, that to the animal's habits. A crowd would often assemble around the enclosure, and, not seeing him in it, would watch in expectation that he would soon issue from his house. But whilst they were gazing about a copious sprinkling of water would fall upon them, and ladies and gentlemen, with their fine bonnets and coats, would run for shelter under the trees, looking up at the clear sky and wondering whence such a shower should come. Immediately afterwards, however, they would see the elephant rising slowly from his bath, evincing, as it seemed, an awkward joy at the trick he had played. In the course of time his amusement became generally known, and the moment the water begen to rise from his trunk the spectators would take flight, at which he appeared exceedingly delighted, getting up as fast as he could to see the bustle that he had caused. often assemble around the enclosure,
