LINEN SHIRTTWAIST WITH DUTCH COLLAR.

If sleeves have come down for the warm weather, at least collars have, so if our arms are uncomfortable our throats may be delightfully cool. All the summery blouses are cut in this collarless style, some not even having narrow collar bands. This pretty waist is of linen, inset with heavy lace, and the collar and jabot are edged with a pleated frill of finer lace in a Val pattern. Shirttwaists of this character, with close-fitting long sleeves, have buttons and loops on the outer seam of the sleeve so that the latter may be pushed up on very warm days.

A "BASKET" HAT OF SHIRRED C HIFFON.

The inverted tub and basket shapes are not confined exclusively to straw by any means. These drooping, mushroom shapes are shown in shirred fabric over wire frames, and such a hat is pictured here, the material being black chiffon cloth, very closely shirred over a big basket shape. The trimming has the effect of simplicity, but several varieties of material are shown, draped around the crown. Natter blue velvet ribbon is folded over the stems of pale pink flowers which keep out above and below it. On the blue velvet ribbon are laid roses in the deep "beauty" shades, and bunches of green and purple grapes are tucked in here and there.
