RUDOLPH STEIN MISSING.

sudolph Stein, president and manaet as well as principal stockholder in as steh Mercantils company, a pawn sking and mercantile business on fwenty-sixth street, is missing Thursday. His store is in the s of the sheriff and it is claimed mest of the goods with which it stocked have been taken away.

A young man by the name of Court Malder, employed at the Ogden General hospital, is suffering from a painful wound in his hand, which was inflicted in a rather peculiar manner. He opened a bottle of soda water and after getting the cork out started to push it back in. The bottle burst into a hundred pieces, one of which embedded itself in the fleshy part of his hand, making a gash two and a half inches in length and losing a splinter of glass next the bone.

HOLST HOME BURNED.

The residence of Carlos Hoist, 137 Thirty-first street, was partially de-stroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The blaze was started by the dropping of a match into a box behind the kitchen stove. The fire worked in be-tween the laths and the outer wall and climbed up into the attic. The roof of the building was burned away, but most of the furniture was removed, and the fire department saved the walls of the building. The damage is about $250.

WM. W. TRACY DEAD.

Death claimed another of Weber county's highly respected citizens and pioneer sons, William W. Tracy, Saturday afternoon at about 4 o'clock, after' years of suffering from Bright's disease. He was the son of Silas Horace Tracy and Elmire Bebee; was born in Ogden City May 24, 1853, and has resided here all his life. He was a man of sterling qualities, and worked energetically for the building up of this commonwealth. A loving wife, two children—Charles Tracy and Mrs. Sarah A. Slater, an aged mother, four brothers—J. M., S. H., E. L. and W. F. Tracy, together with a host of friends, will mourn his demise. The funeral services over his remains were held at the Marriott ward meetinghouse this afternoon at one o'clock Interment took place in the city cemetery. COALVILLE BURGLARS CONFESS. The Coalville People's Co-op burglars

who were captured here Friday eve-ning, Moore and Wilson, have made a full confession of the crime to the police officers. The burglars were determined not to make a confession of the crime, and denied absolutely any knowledge of it until little by little evidence was gleaned from sweating them, and they realized they had told enough to con-vict themselves when the case came up for trial. They made a full confession and said they will plead guilty to the charge of burglary. Sheriff Charles. Mair and Deputy Wilde came to Ogden yesterday and took the prisoners back to Coalville.

Special Correspondence.

Raymond, Alberta, Canada, Oct. 28 .---We are having some politics in Canada, but so different from what they have in the states, or that you are having in Utah. Here when the Liberals call a meeting they invite the Conservative candidate or his representative to be present and speak from the same plat-form and the Conservatives make the same kind request. Premier Haultain of the Northwest Territories was here talking for the Conservatives, and on Saturday, the 22nd., we had the Hon. Clifford Lifton, the minister of the interior for Canada, talking the Liberal side of the questions before the electors. There was an absence of rant and abuse that is met with so often in the abuse that is met with so often in the United States. The sugar factory is still making a most successful run, and all is hustle in the beet fields. LEO BOYLE IN JAIL AGAIN. Leo Bolye, who on Saturday finished serving a 30 day sentence in the county jail for disturbing the peace (drawing a pistol on a Rio Grande Western akeman while coming down Spanish Fork canyon on the train), was re-leaved in the afternoon and immediately proceeded to get himself into furth-er trouble. He began to drink as soon as he got out, and about 7 o'clock en-tered Wilkins & Homers saloon when the drew a gun on Mr. Homer and Ed Vincent and after some threatening language left the place going with the new Wilson saloon. There he demanded a bottle of whisky and upon being re-fused pulled a gun on Mr. Dallin, the proprietor. In the meantime the sheriff's office had been notified that a man way raising a disturbance and a man was raising a disturbance and threatening to kill people, and Deputy Sheriff Barnett went down to investi-gate. Boyle was in the back part of the saloon, and as soon as he saw Barnet coming through the doors of the parti tion dividing the front of the saloon from the billiard room, he said, "Dave, you are the - - - I am after, and pulled his gun on the sheriff. Mr. Barnett talked to him and followed him, David believe the back of the Boyle backing towards the back of the saloon and the sheriff watching for an opportunity to draw his gun. When Boyle found he could not get out of the back door he passed the sheriff, whom he kept covered with his gun, and backed out through the front door. There he ran into the arms of Ted Wilkins, of Wilkins & Homer, who had been waiting on the sidewalk with his pistol in his hand for the desperado, A scuffle ensued and Mr. Wilkins' pis-tol was knocked from his hand, and Sheriff Barnett came out just in time to prevent Boyle from shooting Wilkins, for which purpose Boyle was trying to get his pistel in position. Mr. Wilkins states that the reason he did not shoot was that he thought the man was an escaped lunatic. Boyle was taken to the county fall by Sheriff Barnett. He has previously threatened to kill Mr. Barnett on acthreatened to kill Mr. Barnett on ac-count of Barnett arresting him, while Barnett was city marshal of Payson, and threatened to "get him yat," after the arrest this evening.
