

RACING SEASON ON EASTERN TRACKS.

Horsemen Beginning to Agree That it Has Been Somewhat Disappointing.

NOT SO IN THE FAR WEST.

Some Interesting Gossip About the Turf—Two More Car Loads of Runners Arrive in Salt Lake.

Horsemen of the east are reluctantly beginning to agree that the season of 1905 gives every promise of being an "off year" so far as great or even good animals are concerned. Following, as it does, the truly remarkable year in which Herries, Irish Lad, The Picket, Bedlam, Orr Wells, Statute and Delilah, not to mention the other prominent turf performers of 1904, were at their best, the contrast furnished this season is striking as well as disappointing, for to date the only two notable horses of last year who have lived up to their promise are the two-year-olds, Tradition, among the miles, and Bysonby among the colts.

Even of Bysonby there is some doubt, due to his dead heat with Race King in the Metropolitan Handicap. The tame of every horse in the race has been to more or less tarnished by defeats, while there is cause for much regret among racers, that many of the notable horses of 1904, chief among them Herries, Statute and Orr Wells, have not yet been to the starting post and may never race again.

SOME WOULD BE CHAMPS.

Jokes About "Irish Giants" and Others Who Failed to Deliver.

John Middleky's entry into juggling recalls a few years ago ring jokes that were popular upon the turf when the big Indian was brought forth for the gaffaws and jests of critics and public.

Just who was the original joke back of the name is hard to determine, but the naming accented him was wretchedly, a mifler and nothing more.

By a peculiar circumstance Monroe succeeded in staying off Jeffries for four months. The man of Butte had put Mary McLean, star of the stage, in the limelight and the Miners' union and other independent bodies of Butte passed resolutions condemning Monroe to public notice, and pointing to the fact that Butte, first in everything, had not won a race. The fact of producing a wonderful night, Even Monroe himself was deceived, but the deception was knocked out of his coat when the miners met the hollermaker of Frisco. He was back to the mines with Jack.

Jack Skelly of Brooklyn was another of the peculiar jokes relied on the public by a clever manager. While not engaged as a jester, he was a great hit, and the Miners' union and other independent bodies of Butte passed resolutions condemning Monroe to public notice, and pointing to the fact that the colts are badly heating the tracks. The shifting of places in the running of each important race has led many good judges to believe that actually the best colts have been beaten in the running of the winter and early spring. William Shields' Oaklawn, It remains for Oaklawn to be tried against the best of the stake division with weight up and as his only opponent, the colt, is in the Salsbury special, the owners are entitled to think that big shooting event are already beginning to figure in Oaklawn as the most formidable horse that will be encountered.

TWO MORE CARLOADS COME.

While the season thus far may be termed an "off year" so far as the east is concerned, the same cannot be said of the west, especially with reference to the meet now going on under the auspices of the racing association and the racing association and the races in California. Local horsemen are congratulating themselves on the fact that Salt Lake is on the Western Association circuit, and that horsemen of other states are anxious to be shown by the fact that they are taking a great deal more than ordinary interest in the coming meet.

Two carloads of fast horses which have been feeding in the south are now in this city, and their trainers are getting them in shape for the six-day meet. Two more carloads came in yesterday afternoon, those that came in yesterday are part of Wednesday's entry, and a third a strong contingent, led by "Chief" Russell, a jockey of considerable fame. The horses are now quartered at Agricultural park, J. S. Bradford's two partners from Los Angeles are here. They are Tom Cornell and Mistake.

THE OLDMOBILE

Gives Satisfactory Service.

Oldsmobile Standard 7 h.p. Runabout

The New Improved Standard Oldsmobile 7 h.p. Runabout is superior to any runabout ever built before. It will not get out of order with intelligent handling, a fact proved by the records of hundreds of these cars, that in three months steady use have not cost one dollar for repairs.

They have plenty of power to climb hills, go over sandy, muddy roads and will take you as fast as you want to go. Easy to start from the seat; easy to stop (three brakes).

The single cylinder horizontal motor gives durability without complication. Two cars like this, taken from stock, made the 3500 miles run from New York to Portland, Oregon—a tremendous strain for a $650 car. But when a runabout is built to do hard work like this it is sure to give you satisfactory service. You wouldn't ever call upon one-tenth its real durability.

An Oldsmobile gives you all your money's worth in value, pleasure and saving of time in business. We will be very glad to demonstrate it to you. Handsome catalogue mailed on request.

Send for catalogue showing the Oldsmobile line: 7 h.p. Standard Runabout, 7 h.p. Touring Runabout, 20 h.p. 2-Cyl. Touring Car, 16 h.p. Commercial Car, Railroad Inspection Cars.

agement of Joe Keane, are also on the ground. J. H. Armour came in with nine. Practically all the horses here are runners. The harness horses will be coming in the first of next week, and Manager Jones will bring along gray trying to find room to fit.

In local sporting circles about all one can hear these days is horse racing. The sport has certainly "caught on" here and seems to be making quite enough entertainment for lovers of the game, especially for running races, and making them a feature of the big meet. Manager Jones has pleased horsemen and patrons of the field, out of town, by having the best ever seen here as there will be no such a thing as a walk away for any one or two horses. Mr. Jones is working hard on the program and will soon have it ready for the final round.
