LOCAL NEWS.

A Violent Dog.—This afternoon a small dog climbed up on the back of a wagon standing in front of Z. C. M. I., when a large dog jumped on him and bit him on the back.

Electrotyping.—The electrotyping foundry connected with this office, which was closed for some time, has been again opened, and is in charge of a competent workman. Work will be executed promptly and at Chicago prices. Parties desiring electrotypes of cuts, orders, ornaments, job advertisements, etc., can obtain a first class article, shaved leads and slugs, of all sizes and lengths; quads, spaces, stereo-plates, etc., will be furnished to order.

Worthy of Patronage.—Captain E. Spillert, a seafaring man for over fifty years, and long and favorably known to the Saints of Faversham, Kent, and Whitechapel, London, is now residing in the 10th Ward of this city, and engaged in the manufacture of netted work, such as adult and children's hammocks, horse fly-nets, seines, etc. By leaving your orders at G. F. Calmer's store or at the 10th Ward Co-op., the captain will wait on you with pleasure.

Extradited.—A couple of years ago Louis Reggel, who kept a clothing store on East Temple Street, and who failed in business, was arrested at the instance of a Pennsylvania firm, on the charge of obtaining goods on false pretenses. He applied to the United District Court of Utah for a writ of habeas corpus, which was refused; an appeal was taken to the Territorial and then to the United States Supreme Court, and this morning the decision of the latter affirming the action of the lower court, was filed, ordering that the accused be remanded to the custody of the marshal, to be by him delivered to the agent of the State of Pennsylvania, who was provided with the necessary papers. Mr. Reggel will probably start for the Keystone State to-morrow, as a prisoner.

A Curious Proceeding.—We learn from a gentleman by the name of Cade, a resident of Sandy, who recently returned from a trip to the Snake river country, of a new species of imposture which the Idaho officials are inflicting upon the "Mormons" of that region. As is well known, there has been a large immigration to that territory from Utah. Our informant learned on reaching Snake river, that 100 teams of parties removing their families to that region or going to examine the country with a view to settling there, had preceded him already this year in crossing the ferry, and on his return he met, on an average, nine teams per day for eight days, making their way thither. These teams pass through Blackfoot, and there the travelers are interviewed by the county tax collector, who levies an assessment on their property and requires them to pay property and poll tax before allowing them to proceed upon their journey. Some who happened to get through or by the tax collector before being discovered by this arbitrary and argus-eyed official, were followed up by him on horseback, and when overtaken compelled, on pain of legal process, to submit to the imposition. The sum of $4 in cash was invariably demanded as the poll tax, and the property tax was correspondingly high, one poor fellow having to pay on a common span of horses and wagon a tax of $2. So far as our informant could learn all who had passed through Blackfoot up to the time of his return from there had submitted to this fleecing process, however exorbitant the demands, without objection, as they were to the courts for redress, not having confidence enough in local tribunals in that country to hope for a "Mormon" ever getting justice. Possibly Idaho may have a law that will sustain an officer in such high-handed and arbitrary proceedings as taxing travelers without knowing their destination and compelling them to pay down; but the probability is that it is done without warrant of law, on the presumption set forth in the message of Governor Benn and acted upon by the Legislature of that Territory—that the "Mormons" have no rights in common with other people and are therefore not entitled to any consideration at the hands of those who make or execute the laws. It is more than likely, too, that it is done with a view to checking the influx of "Mormons" into that territory, but if so it is as far from right in accomplishing its object.

Mile. Almee at the Theatre.—The engagement of the popular actress and songstress, Mile. Almee, will commence next Wednesday evening at the Theatre. Concerning this artist the Philadelphia Nines says: "To see Almee, the queen of French opera bouffe, act in English comedy, is in itself a sufficient reason to draw such a large audience as she did last night at the Chestnut St. Opera House. The question arises, is she worth going to see for more than the mere novelty? Decidedly yes. In the first place Messrs. Jessop & Gill, those clever tailors of plays, have fitted Mile. Almee with a part greatly suited to her, and their play is in itself bright and amusing. Many lines are very funny and keep the audience in a good humor that the actress increases. The comedy is called "Manzelle." In it Almee plays as pretty French milliner, living in New York. She is engaged to enter into a plot to fascinate a Mr. Tupper, by Tupper's friends, so that Mr. Tupper, to whom history has seemed too uxorious, should become jealous. In the complications arising out of this plot there are abundant comedy incidents well taken advantage of by author and actors. Almee speaks English as well as French, with great distinctness and in a pleasant tone. She always has been a clever comedian, and speaking in English adds to her attractiveness. Incidental to the play there was one scene in the play like that in "Edmund Kean" and John Brougham's farce, "This House Will Be Sold Too," in which the actors are scattered all over the theatre, and create surprise by interrupting the stage and apparently talking in the boxes. Mile. Almee's company is excellent, and the whole performance is a "hit."

A Moving Well at Pleasant Green.—Mr. John Moore, who lives near Pleasant Green, is very much elated over his success in obtaining a dowing well on his premises, this week. Reading the late accounts of similar wells in various localities, he resolved to try to obtain one on his place; and with this view he purchased some 1 1/2 inch pipe, a steel point, and a cap for the end of the pipe. He then built a rude scaffold, a number of feet into the air, plumbed the pipe, which was held in position by board braces, and with a sledge hammer drove it into the earth. Eight hours' labor of himself and a companion sunk the pipe a distance of twenty-nine feet, when the water rose six feet above the surface of the ground. He cut off the extra amount of pipe and now has a flowing stream of excellent water sufficient for all household purposes, and to water two or three acres of land. A larger pipe would, of course, have produced a larger stream. The total cost of this well to Mr. Moore is only $3.75, exclusive of the labor of boring the pipe. Several of his neighbors, seeing his success, are following his example with a view to obtaining similar wells; and if equally fortunate, it will prove a great blessing to the settlers in that locality who have had much difficulty in getting water suitable for culinary purposes.

Horse Thieves Heard From.—We published a communication a few days since giving an account of two young reprobates burglarizing the co-operative store at Kanosh and stealing a couple of horses and saddles. The following interesting account they took in making their escape, and though nothing is said in it of efforts being made to arrest them, we trust that the clue here given is already being followed up, and that we will soon learn of their capture. SANDY, Washington County, May 11th, 1893.

The Kanosh horse thieves came to my ranch, five miles north of Silver Reef, on the evening of May 1st. Port Morse, who was with me, and Mr. Boyington, a relative of his, and that his home was on the Sevier, but both of them were good riders, and they were in the Silver Reef making a sale of some beef stock; and if they could get their supper and beds for their horses, they would pay for the same when they came back the next day at noon (that was the understanding). Both of them wore new clothes, also new overcoats, etc. One of the horses had fresh cow marks, as if just taken out of a team. Perhaps they had traded both the horses off before they came here. I think they went by way of St. George for Arizona. PETER ANDERSON.

District Court Proceedings.—In the case of M. C. Phillips vs. B. W. Driggs et al., which was heard yesterday, a judgment for $398.44 was given to the plaintiff. In the matter of ex parte Louis Reggel for a writ of habeas corpus, the attorney for the State of Pennsylvania, upon the mandate of the Supreme Court of the United States filed, asked in order remaining the applicant to the custody of the U. S. Marshal, to be surrendered to the agent of the State of Pennsylvania. The trial of the case of Elias Morris vs. the Mammoth Company, was resumed and is still in progress.

TERRITORIAL ITEMS.

CUTLED FROM LATEST EXCHANGES.—The employees of the D. & R. G. in Colorado, are still on the strike, and there is at present no indication of their resuming work. The trouble work at the mouth of Provo canon was recently washed away by the high water. A force of men are at work repairing the damages. Two stages running between Kathlamet and Court d'Alene City, Idaho, were recently stopped by highwaymen and the passengers relieved of their coin, watches and revolvers. In the District Court at Deer Lodge, Montana, a man named Alfred Boyer was found guilty of murder in the second degree on the 13th inst., and sentenced to imprisonment for life. He murdered his wife some time ago, and at his first trial the jury brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree, but his lawyers succeeded in getting a second trial with the above result. He feels greatly relieved at the verdict. (Special per Deseret Telegraph.)

BEAVER COURT ITEMS. BEAVER, U. T., May 16, 1893. Editor Deseret News: The case of the United States against Wm. Fotheringham is progressing. Six out of the twelve members of the defendant's family were subpoenaed and were examined yesterday afternoon. The evidence closed early this forenoon. Two hours were occupied in arguing, and instructions to the court. The main feature was the legal definition of cohabitation. The court will give instructions to the jury and ruling on the points argued. The case will be begun to the jury this evening. The people are taking great interest in the trial. The court house is filled to overflowing. MOONSHINE.

Another Arrest at Ogden.—Mr. Job Pingree of Ogden, was to-day arrested on a charge of unlawful cohabitation, under the Edmunds law, and taken before Commissioner McKay, who bound him over to await the action of the grand jury. Coming Musical Treat.—Brother E. Stephens has obtained permission to have the free use of either the large Tabernacle or the Assembly Hall to give a farewell exhibition with his singers before retiring for study. He is not charged any compensation, however, and it is probable that the large Tabernacle will be thrown open to the people to enjoy a feast of home-made music free of charge. The chorus will number nearly 500 voices, and a program almost similar to that which would have been rendered in the anticipated concert will be rendered. The chorus will try both buildings to-morrow afternoon after the services are over, and decide whether to use the Assembly Hall, and limit the number of spectators to invited friends, or the Tabernacle and admit all. It will probably be given on Monday, the 23rd inst.

"Mormon Battalion March."—This is the title of a new piece of music, for the piano or organ, composed by Prof. Jos. J. Daynes. The following is the dedication, which appears in the title: "A Tribute of Respect to the Mormon Battalion.—Perhaps no incident in the history of our people better illustrates their patriotism than the hearty response made when the Government called for volunteers to aid their country in its Mexican war. In 1846, the valiant 500, known as the Mormon Battalion, left to the care of a kind Providence their wives and children—all the despoils of their land left them on earth—and commenced their memorable march of 2000 miles through the Great American Desert, inhabited only by the Indian races. The noble self-sacrificing deed of their will never cease to be an interesting topic for the poet and musician, nor will it ever be forgotten by this great people. "It is with a deep and sincere regard for those veterans that the author respectfully dedicates this march as an humble tribute of the musician to the noblest of his countrymen."

County License to Liquor Dealers.—We understand a proposition to reduce the license of saloon keepers to $500 per annum is to be considered by the Salt Lake County Court at its session on Tuesday next. Though there may possibly be others beside the saloon keepers themselves who would favor such a reduction, we cannot see how the County Court can consistently entertain such a proposition one moment, in view of the expressed will of a very large majority of the inhabitants of the County, as presented in a petition upon the subject not a great while since, and the manifest evils which have been wrought in the community by the low license system and lax enforcement of the law heretofore. The District Court has manifested a disposition of late to sustain the County in the enforcement of the high license, and if, in the face of this fact and all the other reasons why a high license should be exacted, an officer of the County feels like conceding to the liquor dealers and reducing the license, we have no hesitancy in saying that he is unworthy of his office; and the public ought to see and doubtless will assert their opinion to this effect in the most emphatic manner possible in his case on the next election day.

The letter of "Rustic," to be found elsewhere in this issue, gives an authentic account of the outrageous proceedings of the deputy marshals in Paris on the occasion of the recent conference in that place; affords us an idea of what "Mormons" who have been elected to office in that Territory as County Commissioners Matthews was, may expect in the shape of vexatious prosecutions, and shows up with photographic vividness the disreputable character of the men employed as deputy marshals to operate against the "Mormons"—in contempt of all of which one may well wonder whether this is actually the land of boasted freedom—America—and the enlightened age of the nineteenth century.
