DEMOCRATIC JOLLIFICATION.

Last Night's Proceeding a Big One.—Enthusiastic Meeting at the Theater.

The demonstration by the Democrats last night was a big one. Their enthusiasm knew no bounds. The shouts of victory filled the air and numberless banners and mottoes depicted the darkness. The streets were packed with humanity, and when the grand finale procession marched and counter-marched upon the principal streets after cheer went up from the infinite multitude that thronged the sidewalks and looked from the windows, doors and steps of adjoining buildings.

The procession tramped the streets for hours. Many of the marchers carried banners and transparencies expressing their opinions of the administration. The speakers were numerous and their speeches limited to five minutes. Col. Lewis acted as chairman. C. C. Stevens, chairman of the Democratic legislative delegation, was the first speaker. He was followed by Col. W. A. Merritt, Judge Anderson, Judge Noyes, Hon. F. S. Bishop, Dr. John W. Dodge, Senator Rawlings, Hon. W. C. King, Attorney General, Hon. J. C. McNauly, Judge Judd, Editor Blaine of the Oregon Post, Hon. John T. Gaines, Joseph Cohen, H. W. ("Kenny") Smith, F. W. Shaw, Hadley Johnson, J. B. Timmons and A. L. Geddes.

Returned Missionary.

Elder George Langton of Huntington, Wayne county, called at the news office this morning, having returned from a mission to Great Britain. He left on Oct. 1st, 1889, and was appointed to the Nottingham conference where he labored till March 4th, this year; he then spent a couple of months in Germany. On the 11th of August he went to London and here he has remained ever since, laboring in various missions that please the public service, or for some other reason, or for no reason, except because it is fashionable. He becomes popular. His works are branded widely, while New York requires a tall, straight stalk among many shorter and thinner, while others prefer white ones. Fluid gold before the eye is ready, send the penance to market in the most and most attractive condition. Do him well. Secure the sales representative and his assistants. In each city have one reliable dealer to whom you can refer your druggist.

There is an entire change of management in Worcester this week. Among the new attractions announced are the "Knights" in comedy sketching; the Fenton Brothers in the laughable comedy "Blithe Spirit"; and a musical comedy "A Girl in Every Country." This is a strong bill and will undoubtedly be appreciated by the public.

ITALIAN BEES.

An illustrated description by Which They May Be Identified.

When I bring home it is important that you will be able to identify whether or not he is getting what he pays for. To enable a purchaser to identify Italian bees, when he familiar with them through actual experience, Professor Cox's illustrated description of them as given in his "Beekeeper's Guide" is here appended.

The Italian worker bee is quickly distinguished by the bright yellow rings of the base of the abdomen. Perhaps the best way to identify them is to take a few hairs from the body of a female, and if she is a true Italian, the hairs will be bright yellow, while the same color appears more or less strongly on the legs.

The workers have longer bodies than the drones, and they are a little more hairy. They are also more active, and less inclined to sting.

The queen has the entire base of her abdomen, and sometimes nearly half of it, orange-yellow. The variegation as to the amount of color is quite striking; sometimes very dark species are imported right from the Linnaean hills, yet all the workers will have the same color pattern as the queen.

There are quite variable. Sometimes the size and pattern of cells will be very prominent, then again quite obscure. And the sides of the abdomen are a little more hairy. They are also more active, and less inclined to sting.
