COMMISSIONER FOR IDAHO.

Bill to be introduced Similar to That Of Wilson,

Boise, Ida., Feb. 8 .- It has developed that a plan is on foot to pass a bill through the legislature providing for the appointment of a railway commissioner. The matter is kept very quiet, but it is understood the leaders of both houses are agreed upon the program and they have strength enough to pass t. The bill is to be similar to a meas-are now pending in the state of Washington, but will provide for a single missioner instead of a commissio This commissioner is to be given the power to regulate and fix rates for passenger and freight, to look after bridges, tracks, etc., with the view of insuring safety in travel. A system of appeals will be provided for. The commissioner will have authority to summon witnesses and to punish for refusal to give testimony. The understanding is that the bill will be made a party measure.

Elder J. M. Tanner, assistant general superintendent of Church Sunday schools, spent Sunday at American Fork, where he went to place the new outlines before the teachers. He found the schools there in good order, all concerned manifesting great interest in the work of training those under their care. The interest has been especially marked since the introduction of the outlines referred to, and all feel that their publication is the most important step taken by the Deseret Sunday School Union since its organization This, says Elder Tanner, is the feeling generally, Sunday school worker, throughout the Church being more generally. workers than anxious to thoroughly understand the work in order to intelligently apply it in their respective schools.
