

RUSSIA WILL NOT QUIT MANCHURIA.

Inform Chinese Foreign Office
That Her Latest Demands
Must Be Granted.

CHINA APPEALS TO JAPAN.

United States Does Not Feel Called Upon to Make Protest so Long as Its Interests Are Respected.

Yokohama, Oct. 7.—According to information reaching here, the Russian minister at Peking, M. Lomax, has informed the Chinese foreign office that Russia will never evacuate Manchuria unless her latest demands are granted. China, it is added, has appealed to the Japanese minister, M. Uchida, for Japanese assistance.

UNITED STATES' ATTITUDE.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The state department has not received direct confirmation of the Associated Press information from Yokohama, but officials say they would not be surprised to receive such confirmation any time from the Chinese minister. They say they are fully prepared to believe the news that Russia has served notice on China that she will not evacuate Manchuria until her latest demands are granted. Exactly what those demands are no official of the state department is prepared to say, but the belief is strong that they are practically the same as those reported by the Associated Press from Peking last spring and disavowed by the Russian foreign office. It was said tonight on the highest authority that this government had reason to believe that Russia was insisting on the very demands which Count Lamsdorf assured Ambassador McCormick had never been presented, and which Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, told Secy. Hay were merely presented as bases of negotiations. It was stated by the same authority that this government would not feel called upon to enter protest against Russia's action so long as our commercial treaty, which is to be signed tomorrow, is observed and the two ports in Manchuria promised by Russia remain open to the world's commerce.

JAPAN IS MENACED.

Yokohama, Oct. 7.—The Japanese residents of Jiefu have filed a petition with the foreign office at Tokio asking that a Japanese warship and troops be sent to protect their interests in view of the menacing attitude of Russia. The reply of Japan is not yet known.

The press, which reported the fortification by Russia of Yungpung, on the Korean bank of the Yalu river, considered this action as a possible cause of war, as being an infringement of Korean integrity. The report, however, is not confirmed officially.

The temporary Korean minister for foreign affairs has been relieved at his own request.

Baron von Rosen, the Russian minister to Japan, had another conference with Baron Komura, the Japanese foreign minister, yesterday. The Japanese premier, Viscount Katsura, had an audience with the emperor the same day. It is now feared that the promised concessions on the part of Russia are insufficient to offset her continuous menace to Korea, nor is the Chinese-Japanese commercial treaty to be signed Oct. 8 thought adequate to compensate for a permanent Russian occupation.

A rumor current tonight says that definite Russian demands concerning Manchuria and Korea have been presented to Japan by Baron von Rosen.

The town of Jiefu is probably within a Korean town near the estuary of the Amnok, on the frontier of China, and a great depot for overland trade with that country.

JAPAN'S RIGHT QUESTIONED.

London, Oct. 8.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Tokyo, on Oct. 4 presented a note to the Japanese government contending that Japan had no right to interfere in the question of the evacuation of Manchuria, which was solely concerned Russia and China. The note further proposed the partition of Korea, and suggested that Japan should take the southern half and Russia the northern provinces.

The note was dismissed by a council of ministers Oct. 5, and Marquis Yamagata, commander-in-chief of the army, had consultations with the ministers of war and marine. The Japanese government, adds the correspondent, then sent a reply to Baron von Rosen rejecting the Russian proposal. A crisis is possible at any moment.

HEAVY WIND IN OMAHA.

Kills One Person and Injures Several Others.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 7.—A windstorm which struck the eastern portion of Omaha this afternoon blew down a brick wall at the north end of the new Union Pacific shops, burying workmen, one of whom, A. T. Raiter, of Lawrence, Kan., was killed, and the other three seriously injured and several others slightly hurt. Those seriously injured are, L. Pennington, Brown and Joseph Leonard, all of Omaha. While all three were seriously cut and bruised by the falling brick, none died.

C. P. Robertson, a cigar dealer, who was saving the Merchants' National bank during the storm, was knocked senseless by a falling screen, but was not dangerously hurt.

Several buildings in the east end were shaken considerably, among them being the five-story building of the Union Pacific headquarters. The newly completed walls of the shop building were being made ready for the roof and were thought to be substantial. The heavy wind, however, crashed them in, causing a complete wreck.

The injured men were removed to a hospital in ambulances. It was believed for a time that several seriously injured were buried in the ruins but all the workmen have been accounted for.

NEW YORK POLITICS.

Fusionists Formally Repudiate Grout and Fornes.

New York, Oct. 7.—All uncertainty regarding the action of the Citizens' Union and Republican organizations on the question of ousting Messrs. Grout and Fornes from the fusion ticket was removed tonight when both conventions renewed and voted unanimously to rescind the nominations for comptroller and aldermanic president, made at the original convention, and to nominate instead, Frederick W. Johnson of Brooklyn and E. J. McGuire of Manhattan. At the Citizens' Union convention in Cooper Union, presided over by Francis C. Huntington, little interest was shown in the nominations. At the close of the convention the delegates from the Bronx met and nominated Coroner Joseph L. Berry, who

PHILIPPINE CENSUS.

Shows Population of Islands to be About Seven Millions.

San Francisco, Oct. 7.—Gen. J. P. Sanger, former chief of staff of Gen. Chaffee, but latterly in charge of the census work in the Philippine Islands, has arrived from Manila on his way to Washington.

The census taking began on March 2, and in six weeks it was completed. Two months' preparatory work was necessary before the task was undertaken. It was accomplished with the assistance of 7,000 enumerators, and this was especially true of the 7,000,000 names, representing the civilized portion of the native population of the islands. By carefully compiled figures the uncivilized population is about 600,000.

In discussing the work Gen. Sanger said: "There was no serious opposition encountered in any of the larger islands, and this was especially true of Samar and Leyte, where there was no interference whatever with the enumerators."

"In the island of Zamboanga, north of the province of Misamis, Mindanao, the enumerators were threatened and opposed and it was necessary to use force, but Gov. Carrles thought the demonstrators had other objects in view, and that the census merely precipitated the movement."

"Vicious people of Cebu spread a report that taxation was the real purpose of the government in taking a census and in two or three barrios of that pueblo some objection was made to it."

Of the Mob.

The negro warned them not to approach, but they continued to advance, when the negro fired, killing Charles Brown, a young man recently from Georgia, and wounding a young man named Gossett. The negro is in the hands of the sheriff.

RETALIATION AND RECIPROCITY.

Chamberlain Says He is a Free
Trader but Wants Free Exchange With All Nations.

RESPECTS "AMERICAN COUSINS"

He Declares that if a Tariff War Came
England Would Not Come Out
Second Best.

London, Oct. 7.—Continuing his fiscal campaign, Mr. Chamberlain tonight addressed a meeting of 4,000 persons in the town hall of Greenock, a seaport on the Clyde 22 miles from Glasgow. He spoke for one hour and a quarter and dealt particularly with the questions of retaliation and reciprocity.

The late colonial secretary said that he was a free trader and wanted to live harmoniously with his neighbors, but he desired free exchange with all nations. If they would not exchange he was not a free trader at any price. He respected "our American cousins," had considerable respect for the Germans and great respect and greater friendship for the French. The policy of these nations was to use the tariff to ease the home trade and exclude foreign trade, while under the present system in the United Kingdom trade was steadily decreasing.

Mr. Chamberlain asked why all protective nations prospered more than the unprotected ones. If the Cobdenites would satisfy his question that he would be allowed to hide his diminished head. His occupation would be gone.

Replying to the newspaper criticisms that he selected 1872, the greatest boom year of British trade, as the basis of his statistics, the speaker admitted that the first 25 years of Cobden's free trade was a flourishing period, and free trade had been called "probably best for the country. But he was willing to take any period during the last thirty years to illustrate his arguments. Asking why the foreign protective countries, even small nations like Sweden, had all prospered, he said that he believed they were better strategists. Their policy was enunciated by the late President McKinley and by the greatest of Americans long before, namely, Lincoln: By Bismarck and other distinguished statesmen, had a great deal behind it.

He continued: "You are adopting a suicidal course. If you persist in the present policy your workmen must either take lower wages or lose their work."

Mr. Chamberlain proceeded to refer to the enormous output of the United States steel corporation works and the diminishing home demand in the United States for steel, owing to financial difficulties, the reduction in railway construction, etc. He quoted from an American paper an interview with a director of the steel corporation on the falling market for steel, which the director declared that they had no intention of diminishing the output and throwing out of employment thousands of American workmen. Instead they would invade our markets.

Mr. Chamberlain contended that this steel would be sent to Great Britain, the only free market, and said: "I warn you that within two or three years you will have dumped here 10,000,000 tons of American iron and thousands of British workmen will lose employment for the sole benefit of American manufacturers and American workmen. I sympathize with American workmen, but, after all, I belong to England and I am not cosmopolitan enough to see the happiness and prosperity of American workmen secured by the starvation and misery of the British."

Concluding his general restatement, the speaker said that agriculture in Great Britain was practically destroyed, the sugar trade was gone, the silk trade was gone, the iron and wool industries were threatened and the same fate would come to the cotton trade.

He continued: "How long are you going to stand it? England is not afraid of foreign countries. She is the greatest market in the world, where foreign countries are her best customers. If a tariff war came England would not come out second best. One reason advanced for America's prosperity is her enormous population of 60,000,000, all white, and some 200,000,000 of other races, all prospective customers of the mother country."

In conclusion Mr. Chamberlain said that he trusted that he was not risking his political life, but he had risked it before and he had no fear for the personal result.

A mark, note, token or symptom, indicates that by which anything may be known, that is, we are forewarned if evil is to befall us, or we have the pleasure of anticipation if the signs betoken a fortunate occurrence. Accidental occurrences have their signs, every disease has its symptoms. The points is to heed the former, and counteract the effect of the latter. ## As You Like It

That is about the way The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York issues policies in these days of varied requirements in business and family life. The postscript to a letter written by Mr. Ebe Walter, of Clarksville, Del., enforces this thought:

"The contents of the dividend addition of $607, making my policy $1,000, or a total cash value of $107.10 are fully appreciated, but the sentiment which I have chosen to be the best suited to my present circumstances."

What Mr. Walter did take was a dividend check for $156.98 on the paid-up policy of a $1,000, which cost him all told $48.02. He says:

"The feature which I particularly like about my policy is that the longer I live the more I get and that during the balance of my life there is nothing more for me to pay."

In writing for terms for a policy of this kind, state what you would like to receive in cash at the end of limited payment period, amount you would like your beneficiary to receive in event of your death, and give your age.
