IN RELATION TO MR. HOLLISTER.

In another column will be found a communication from Col. Hollister. We do not believe we have done him an injustice. We do not know of any person living from which such a complaint could come with a worse grace.

We believe there is gall in his heart. He even affects venom in the manner of his disclaimer, by designating a noble and free community as an aggregation of slaves and hoodlums. No gall in that, of course, especially when he knows it to be false. He is more of a slave than any man in the "Mormon" community. When in office he dared not vote the Democratic ticket in any form, but he has been disposed. His official head would have been the price. We have heard any number of non-"Mormons" denounce him as paltry, selfish and insignificant in his unjust and unscrupulous opposition to everybody and everything "Mormon," while with his more intimate friends his venomous disposition in that regard has been a sort of standing joke.

All classes of people know that his anti-"Mormon" course in Utah has been a constant stream of vituperation, abuse, disgusting and extravagant comparison, falsification and insult. He has insulted the ladies, by whom he is deeply loved. When he has made them the subjects of his sneers he knew that there were no better nor purer women on earth, if the absence of sensuality is an evidence of virtue, even from the very nature of the institutions in which they believe.

When his false statements have been pointed out to him he has crawled out of the matter by stating that he had been told the things he published and that he did not believe them to be lies. He knows that he never took the trouble to find out whether they were false, but eagerly seized them for disreputable and unjust use.

We have heard things about him that if told would make his head swim, but we would be ashamed to descend to his level, and do even him an injustice, by throwing his say around at him. Nobody with a speck of manhood would resort to such cowardly process. We prefer to have matters substantiated first, and then only use them should occasion demand. That condition might possibly arise.

Evidently Mr. Hollister is among those who are ready to believe the opposite of the truth, that their condemnation may be complete. Our young men as a whole are not hoodlums. There are instances of a few of them acting in that direction, but they are comparatively isolated. He knows that such a result is not caused by "Mormonism," but chiefly by drinking saloons, which the "Mormon" sentiment has sought to suppress, while they have been forced on the community by Federal officers and others. If he did not persist in believing, or rather professing to believe, that which is untrue he could ascertain from reliable statistics that four-fifths of the crime of this city is produced by the non-"Mormon" one-fifth of the population, and that the preponderance is still greater in the same direction in other towns of Utah.

When it has been pointed out to Mr. Hollister that he has misrepresented gentlemen whom he has interviewed as a journalistic correspondent, he has crept out by stating that his copy had been departed from by the paper to which it was supplied. He never, so far as known, attempted any rectification. After this fashion he slips away from the responsibility of his crusade against the co-operative institutions of Utah, one of which, that of Brigham City, never survived his onslaught. He lays it at the door of his superior officer, without saying that it was he who took the initiatory steps, knowing at the same time, as any intelligent man familiar with the subject does, that the co-operative scrip did not come under the law relating to circulatory notes. But these co-operative institutions were purely "Mormon," intimately connected with "Mormonism," against which he says he has always done all he could. We are certain that he tells the truth, in that, at least.

What Mr. Hollister states regarding the manner of being dropped from office is doubtless correct, but we still hold the disclaimer was deserved, because of our conviction that he has, under its cover, inflicted injury upon a number of deserving and industrious people. His action in regard to the co-operative institutions looked too much like a man shooting at his victims with "Uncle Sam" as a breastwork. We have never said he was a defaulter in the ordinary sense.

We are sorry that Mr. Hollister should be so paltry in relation to what he terms Beadle's book. In the absence of a "superior officer," a prevaricating newspaper, or a scandalmonger, he adroitly shifts the responsibility to the shoulders of poor Beadle, whom he holds up as a paragon of intelligence and goodness. To state it mildly there is a wide discrepancy somewhere. We have received at different times a number of pictorial manifestations of the work. The illustrations are so disgusting that their character would put the Police Gazette to the blush. They are flaming, sensational, disreputable and utterly false in what they aim to represent. The names of two authors are given, one being "Beadle, Clerk of the Supreme Court of Utah, and O. H. Hollister, Collector of Internal Revenue." We do not see that we have put the matter of assistant authority any more strongly than that. Mr. Hollister's pretended belief in the correctness of the alleged narrative of the scandalous work will be one of the strongest proofs possible to all who know him of its utter unreliability. We have given Mr. Hollister the compensation he desired, although, in view of the contemptible fabrications he has uttered concerning us for which we do not care a straw, and ask no compensation—he was broadly our debtor. But, unlike him, we believe in being honest. We trust his expectations in relation to the enhancement of his digestive ability may be realized. We believe we are done with Mr. Hollister, and do not desire to have anything more to say concerning him. We wish him well, but do not believe that any man acting as he has toward a good and honest people will continue to prosper.

A GENUINE BENEFIT SOCIETY.

Zion's Benefit Building Society is making good progress, and is in every way what it purports to be. There is still plenty of room for more stockholders and we would like to see the interest in it increase. By the courtesy of Mr. Parsons, the chief secretary, we are enabled to present a full explanation of the conditions under which new subscribers can be admitted on an equal footing with those who took shares in the commencement.

Up to the present time it has been required that new subscribers should pay the full amount of the past subscriptions, dating from July last, together with a small premium in addition. The premium is added, because the money paid in by the first members has been gaining interest for some months, and it is therefore considered fair and equitable to charge this small additional amount in order to place the several members on an equal footing with regard to the profits made. For those who desire to take advantage of it.

In order, however, to make the conditions as favorable as possible for the people, in whose interest the society was organized, it has been decided to admit members also on the following conditions, from this time until February next. The regular subscription on each share per month is fifty cents, but if a member pay one dollar per month for the remaining six months of the fiscal year, it follows that by the end of the year he will have paid the same amount of money into the Society as those who have paid fifty cents per month during the whole twelve months. A small premium on each share subscribed will adjust the matter of accrued interest, and the initiation fee of ten cents per share will remain as at first.

Hence, if a new member wish to subscribe for five shares, say in January next, he might select either of the two conditions of membership as stated above.

By the first plan he would be required to pay as follows:

Initiation fee, 10 cents per share, $5.00
Back subscription, 6 months, 15 00
January subscription 2 50
Premium 0 45
Total $18.45

He would then pay $2.50 per month for the remainder of the year.

By the second plan he would pay:

Initiation fee 50 00
Subscription 5 00
Premium 2 50
Total $57.50

His monthly subscriptions for the remainder of the year would be $5 per month, but at the end of the first fiscal year he would pay $2.50 per month, that is, the regular subscription of fifty cents per share.

By this means it is estimated that the subscribers will be enabled to participate at the year in an equal division of the profits made.

It is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of this opportunity. The Society is doing a good work, and its benefits are already being manifested. About seven thousand dollars have been loaned out already, and its usefulness is increasing every month.

Centennial Celebration of Evacuation.

New York, 25.—The day opened with a dull, leaden sky. At sunrise the forts and ships fired a salute of 21 guns. At nine the people took possession of the streets and every kind of merry-making followed. They fired all the cars and omnibuses, and still the sidewalks of the Fourth, Fifth and Madison avenues and Broadway presented a dense mass of moving humanity. Decorations were elaborated on all the public buildings and club houses, but the residents of dwelling houses contented themselves with a display of the stars and stripes. Occasionally the colors of France and Germany mingled with the red and white of the national banner. All places of business are closed and the entire population of Manhattan and Long islands have given themselves up to enjoyment of this patriotic occasion. President Arthur and Governor Cleveland and staff are the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Other dignitaries from other States were also present; included among these are the governors of 12 of the original 13 States. The military display promises to be fine.

Notwithstanding the rain all the details of Evacuation Day celebration were fully carried out.

A Cold Country.

St. Paul, Minn., 25.—A cold wave struck this city late last night, the mercury dropping to 19 degrees above zero.

The Northern Pacific railroad reports from four to six inches of snow drifting at Glendive, Miles City, Forsyth and Billings. At each of these places the thermometer registered 15 below zero.

St. Louis, 25.—A dispatch from the West says: The Central Pacific Railroad Company and Wells, Fargo & Co. express company have offered a reward of $2,000 for each of either, or $10,000 for the whole of the party, that robbed the passenger train near Denning on Friday. It is believed that John Fries, a notorious New Mexican desperado, was chief of the gang.
