

FROM VARIOUS MISSIONARY FIELDS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Difficulties encountered by the Elder John Schuchman, of the Louisiana Conference, at the hands of the French.

To the Editor: We know that the communications from various missionary fields are interesting to many readers of the News. We include carefully those that are of a nature to show the progress of the work in various fields. It is not our purpose to publish anything that is of a nature to show the progress of the work in various fields. It is not our purpose to publish anything that is of a nature to show the progress of the work in various fields.

Since our last writing we, still more, have been laboring in what might be termed, "French country." It is possible to travel among people in Louisiana for days and find one person who can speak the English language. Indeed, there are some who speak it well. It is only a dialect of the long forgotten French. The people here are so used to it that they do not know it is not their own. They would not know without our statement that such a field is not the most desirable. While this field has not been very profitable in the yield, it has afforded great opportunities for work, and the experience that has been gained by the missionaries is sure to be of great value to the church. It has been a most interesting experience, and we have been able to do much good. We have been able to do much good. We have been able to do much good.

Elder Corwell, Joseph A. and John Wood have just completed a tour of the Louisiana Conference. They have been very successful in their work. They have been very successful in their work. They have been very successful in their work.

PREACHING IN THE SOUTH. Success achieved by the Elder Thomas F. Jones, of the Louisiana Conference, at the hands of the French.

The following communication was recently received from Elder J. G. Kimball for publication in the News. Having received letters written by several Elders laboring in the Southern States, from Elder John Schuchman, of the Louisiana Conference, it is desired that portions of said letters be made public, the object being to show Latter-day Saints that the work of the church in the South is being carried on by the hands of the church. It is desired that portions of said letters be made public, the object being to show Latter-day Saints that the work of the church in the South is being carried on by the hands of the church.

In the spring of 1904, Elder Elias S. Kimball, succeeded in his mission to the Southern States. He accompanied Elder Kimball to Chattanooga to see him, all information connected with the mission. On reaching Chattanooga, Elder Kimball received a telegram that Elder Schuchman, of the Louisiana Conference, was in the city. Elder Kimball, who had been in the city for some time, was very glad to see him. They had a long talk, and Elder Kimball was very glad to see him.

Elder Haight, while and myself are here. We tried to find a place in which to hold a hall or public place in which to hold meetings. However, we were unable to do so. We were unable to do so. We were unable to do so.

Gladness Comes. With a better understanding of the mission of the church, the people are glad to see the missionaries.
