Nos. 1, 3 and 5 EAST TEMPLE STREET.

HISTORY.

ZION'S SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY was organized August 6th, 1873. A meeting for the purpose of considering the subject of the formation of such a bank was held at the President's Office, July 1st, 1873, President Brigham Young acting as chairman. At that meeting the name now borne by the institution was adopted and the articles of association considered. The organization was perfected on date named above, George A. Smith being elected president. On death of President Smith, he was succeeded by Daniel H. Wells, and he in turn by President John Taylor. President Woodruff who was one of the original incorporators, and at that time elected a director, succeeded President Taylor as President of the bank, and holds that position at the present time. The present officers are:

OBJECTS IN FORMATION OF THE BANK.

IN all communities of intelligent human beings the thrift of the masses of citizens is one of the most important factors of the well or woe of the individual members of society. Among savages very little care for the future is shown. Among those who are addicted to the use of liquor or the enjoyment of vicious habits all restraint and self-sacrifice for future happiness or the happiness of those dependent upon them is thrown aside for the pleasure of present gratification. The drunkard, as a rule, does not save his earnings. Statisticians show that wherever a community is noted for its sobriety, there the savings bank grows fastest. With this knowledge before them, the original incorporators of Zion's Savings Bank felt that in a short time such an institution would be a most important factor in aiding the wage-earners among us to acquire that competence which should be the aim of every industrious citizen.

The growth of the bank has shown that its promoters were not mistaken. More than 11,700 people have attended this by depositing their wages, or their wealth, as the case might be, in this institution. The bank receives deposits in any sum from one dollar up, and pays interest thereon quarterly, or four times each year. If this interest is not drawn when due it is compounded or added to the principal, and earns interest from that time as if it were an original deposit. Have you ever considered what a little saved each day or each week and placed at interest would amount to? Five dollars a week is a few cents for fifty years and placed in a savings bank at five per cent. per annum interest, compounded quarterly, would at the end of that time have the depositor a sum greater than that left by any of the prosperous citizens of Utah at time of his death, with the possible exception of a half score of our wealthiest men.

Zion's Savings Bank & Trust Company aims to give its depositors: First, a safe place in which to store in seasons of prosperity that which will protect and sustain life in times of depression. Where those who are full of vigor and energy may provide for those days when peaceful rest should happily follow a youth and manhood of earnest toil. Second, To pay the highest rate of interest consistent with conservative banking.

For the accommodation of those who are busy until after usual banking hours, the bank is open for deposits every Saturday until 8 p. m. In addition the institution has strong and ornamental auxiliary Savings Banks, which it loans to depositors, and which they are allowed to take home with them, returning same to the parent bank when they are to be opened to deposit their contents.

The Duff Repertoire.—The Choral will go to the Tabernacle.—World's Fair Chorus a Failure.—Mrs. Beers's Frost.—American Productions to the fore.—Notes.

The coming of the Duff Opera Company on Friday and Saturday next is exciting a good deal of anticipation. And without doubt the attraction will justify it. Duff's company has not been seen here since he gave us Lillian Russell, Verona Jarnes, Harry Ellard and J. H. Rieby in his superb production of "A Trip to Africa." But that visit is very green in the memory of our theatergoers. Rieby, who has created more Gilbert and Sullivan roles on this side of the Atlantic than any other comedian on the stage, is still with the company, which now includes Helen Bartram as soprano, Charles Russell and William Schneider. In all probability the repertoire will be Friday a double bill, consisting of the famous "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Trini by Jury." Saturday afternoon "A Trip to Africa," and Saturday evening "Miss Helioid."

The directors of the charity mob have made a sudden change in their plans yesterday. After the Theater had been booked for the Light of Asia, Mr. Stephens ascertained that the Church authorities were willing that the Tabernacle should be used for the event, the second legal decision presumably having removed the difficulties that formerly stood in the way. The Tabernacle was accordingly secured and the theater canceled so that the great work will have the addition of the big organ as accompaniment to the singers.

The singers tell us that the Theater last evening did not draw as it should have done, mainly because too few invitations were sent out, and the advertising had been neglected. The first half of the season at the Theater should be a crowded one, and the singers have only themselves to blame that it was anything different. The drawing was heartily enjoyed by all present, and the music under Professor Canby was a pleasant feature. The management rely on the dancing matinee today to pull the seats up beyond the losing mark.

Probably the one feature of the World's Fair exercises on October 23, which most attracted the attention of music lovers here and the world over, was the chorus of 5500 selected voices which rendered the vocal music of the occasion. The thought of that number became—the vista of arches and colonades, the lofty domes, the ingenious steeple in front of the administration building, and all the other achievements and evidences of great possibilities on every hand. Small farm (they call it the hall) while Columbus' exploits were vaunted by orators, and their physical and moral equities were dwelt upon by the poet of the occasion, and sealed, regarded themselves with hunches. In that enormous space which, as they say of Saint Peter's cathedral, at Rome, seemed to have its own atmosphere, a hundred occupations might be carried on without the slightest and nine knowing that the scene of the jubilee days in London—a routine through, moving on the outskirts of the seated multitude, without apparent purpose, without even an apparent knowledge of the doings, 500 feet away, and with no manifestation of interest in anything whatever.

The drawbacks were so many and so great that one wonders why they had the ceremony in a building where success was impossible. An answer may be that there was a desire to let the people participate, and since there were all sorts and conditions of men (General Miles' refusal to order a military parade, that with was certainly praiseworthy. The people were there—all sorts and conditions of men—nobody was kept out, if he or she had a ticket—and the ticket, like heaven's rain, fell on the just and the unjust. The same time it was a gigantic blunder. Perhaps Chicago, were nothing less than a failure, may feel happy in the reflection that an error being made, it was an enormous one.

Besides the 5,500 voices the orchestra numbered 150 players. Other instrumental forces were the House military band of 50 pieces, John P. Sousa, conductor, and the Chicago House band of fifty pieces, A. Rosenhecker, conductor, and a corps of fifty under the direction of Mr. Canby. The musical societies and chorals of Chicago and its suburbs who contributed a part of their membership to form the chorus were the following:
