

RUN OVER AND KILLED BY CAR.

John H. Wetenkamp Wants $10,000 from Rapid Transit Co.,

FOR THE DEATH OF HIS SON

Case Now on Trial—Negligence Complained of—Defendants Say It Was Boy's Own Fault.

The $10,000 damage suit of John H. Wetenkamp against the Salt Lake Rapid Transit company was called for trial before Judge Cherry and a jury today, with Twomey & Twomey for plaintiff, and Baldwin & Ricketts for the defendant.

The plaintiff to this action is the father of Herbert B. Wetenkamp, an 11-year-old boy, who was killed through being run over by one of the defendant company's cars, at the intersection of State and Ninth South streets, on Sunday afternoon, July 23, 1899.

The complaint alleges that the motor-man in charge of the car failed to sound the alarm bell, or give any signal or warning to the deceased of the car's approach.

It is further alleged that at the time of the accident the car was running at a rate of speed in excess of twelve miles per hour, contrary to the ordinance, and resolution by which the defendant company obtained its franchise.

By reason of the death of his son, Herbert, the father says he has been damaged in the sum of $10,000.

The defendant, in its answer, denies the allegations set forth in plaintiff's complaint, and further answering alleges that the accident, injury and death of Herbert B. Wetenkamp were wholly the result of his own negligence, and that of his father, who had not concluded when this report closed.

MRS. R. J. CASKEY BADLY INJURED.

Serious Accident Up City Creek This Afternoon.

FALL OVER AN EMBANKMENT

Little Carol Caskey Has Her Arm Broken—Condition of the Mother Serious—One Horse Killed.

While driving up City Creek canyon this afternoon, Robert J. Caskey, principal of the Collegiate Institute, and his family met with an accident by which Mrs. Caskey was dangerously injured, while her little daughter, Carol, had her right arm broken, and the others were all more or less injured. The party consisted, besides Mr. and Mrs. Caskey, of their three children and Miss Caskey, of Illinois, who is visiting them.

All went well with them until after the first brick tank was passed and the point where the prisoners are at work was reached. Here one of the horses shied, and a man rushed forward to get the animal by the bits. The horse at once commenced to back, and in the instant the carriage and its occupants plunged over the embankment, fifteen or twenty feet high. All were thrown out except Mr. Caskey and the younger child, Mrs. Caskey was hurt by the fall and the wheel ran over her abdomen, causing serious internal injuries. The child, Carol, was thrown with such force that the right arm was broken. In the dash down the hillside, the back of one horse was broken.

Dr. King was notified of the accident and as quickly as possible went to the scene with the St. Mark's ambulance and conveyed Mrs. Caskey to her home, 205 east, First South street.

The precise nature of the lady's injuries are not yet known, but they are very serious and at this time fears for her recovery are entertained.

The normal graduating class of the University held its exercises in room 35 of the main building this morning.

They were of an exceptionally fine order, abounding with wit, humor and the "Pith of sense." The room was beautifully decorated with bunting and streamers of red, white and blue.

The fifty graduates, forty-six young ladies and four young men, occupied seats on the rostrum, and their bright and happy faces were refreshing to look upon.

The exercises were opened with a piano selection by Miss Gertrude Felt, which was artistically rendered. Then came a song by a quartet composed of four young ladies of the class. The song was "The Goodbye Song," and evoked rounds of applause.

A report of the third year class exercises held the day before was made by one of the graduates, it was very amusing, being full of pleasant railway.

Miss Ida Parrott proved a treasure house of bright thoughts and rich humor in her paper on "Class History." The class song, which followed, was "The Goodbye Song," and evoked rounds of applause.

The class song, which followed, was "The Goodbye Song," and evoked rounds of applause.

Miss Ruth Palmer followed as the orator of the class. Her theme was "Are We Worthy." The address was thoughtful and was worded in a very felicitous manner. The center thought was the consideration of the question as to whether or not the youth of the country are worthy of the free educational system which entails such a high tax to maintain.

The '00 club created great amusement in a very clever original ditty which was full of humor and thrusts at various members of the faculty and the third year class.

A series of pictures were then exhibited, which were very amusing. The first one, which was "Why the Juniors Didn't Go to War." Then followed a burlesque on Miss Babcock by Miss Ruth Palmer, which was intensely amusing.

Miss Annie Moore exhibited much of the spirit of Tennyson in a beautiful and original class poem.

The class songs were the principal factors of the day, and the one which followed the poem was among the best ones.

Miss Blanche Thomas distinguished herself in a prognostication. It was a most splendid effort, achieving the high literary merit that has characterized this young lady's efforts in the past. The thoughts were exceedingly original and very humorous. If the various members of this illustrious class attain to the greatness pointed out for them by Miss Thomas' imagination, the universe will be filled with their glory.

The burlesque on the third year class singing practice convulsed the audience with its glaring discords and the spasmodic gyrations of the genius who wielded the baton.

The normal scholarship, which was instituted by the class of '99, was presented by John Condie, president of the class, in a few well worded remarks. The gift consisted of forty dollars in cash.

President Kingsbury responded briefly, thanking the class for its generous gift.

Mr. Franklin Neel, in a few well chosen remarks, presented to the third year class a hatchet through the means of which they might be able to fight its way through the institution. In connection with the hatchet he also presented a pipe of peace. The performance created much laughter. Mr. Calder replied briefly in behalf of the class.

The exercises were closed with a class song which was a very clever creation, put to the tune of "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground."

JOHN GRAY IS CONVICTED

Jury Finds Him Guilty as Charged in Information.

Will be Sentenced Tomorrow—Will Get from Fifteen to Eighteen Years.

The case of John Gray, charged with assisting a prisoner to escape from the State prison, and with being an habitual criminal, reached the jury late yesterday afternoon and a verdict of guilty, as charged, was returned. The prisoner will be sentenced by Judge Norrell at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

That Gray will get a heavy sentence is certain. The maximum penalty for aiding a prisoner to escape is fifteen years. So the least the prisoner can get under the law is fifteen years in the State prison, which, added to the ten years he has already been sentenced to, means that it will be twenty-five years before Gray regains his freedom.

He will then be an old man, being now almost forty years of age. He is understood to be the first man convicted in Utah under the habitual criminal act.

TENDER TO PROF. WIDTSOE

Is Offered the Presidency of the B. Y. College, at Logan.

A Reply Not Yet Received from Him—The Trustees Will Meet on Friday Next.

It seems not unlikely that Prof. John A. Widtsae will become the president of the B. Y. College at Logan.

The trustees of that institution have decided to tender him the position, and a cablegram was sent to his last address in London yesterday, making the offer, but no reply has yet been received. He has just completed a post graduate course in chemistry in Germany, and it is just possible he has already sailed from England, where he has been visiting, for home. The trustees will meet on Friday, when the matter will doubtless be definitely determined.

Prof. Widtsae has won the highest honors in the department of chemistry and is widely known through his connection with the Agricultural College at Logan from 1894 to 1898. Recently he was elected director of the experiment station of that institution.

CLOSING SCENES IN HAWORTH CASE

Likely to Go to the Jury This Evening.

HAMILTON'S LAST APPEAL.

He Follows Attorney Weber and Makes the Final Argument for Haworth—Allison Closes.

[SPECIAL TO THE "NEWS"]

Farmington, June 19.—The Haworth murder case is likely to reach the jury this evening unless Judge Rolapp should prefer to give his charge in the morning.

Attorney Weber made the opening argument for the defense this morning. His effort was an able one. He reviewed all the evidence in the case with great skill, and after calling attention to the fact that the prosecution rested wholly upon circumstantial evidence, undertook to point out certain features that threw serious doubt upon the defendant's guilt. He dwelt especially upon the testimony offered to show that Hamilton was in Ogden on the night of the murder and claimed that this was conclusive and sufficient of itself to justify a verdict of not guilty.

He was followed this afternoon by Attorney J. M. Hamilton, of Salt Lake, who is making an effective plea for Haworth.

Mr. Allison, for the State, will close the arguments, and he is anxious to finish the case as soon as possible. It is not definitely known whether the court will at once instruct the jury or not, but it is presumed that he will.

CHINESE REVOLT IS SPREADING WEST.

edly be by means of military wires, which will be taxed to the utmost by the demands of the commanders of the destruction of the company's wires between Tien Tsin and Peking that it is said it will take many days to restore them even after the united forces of the United States and Japan have been sent to the rescue. Hence signs point to long lapses between direct news and the little that leaks out except such official report as the government chooses to give out.

FRENCH WARSHIPS TO SAIL.

Paris, June 19.—The French consul at Shanghai telegraphs that complications in the Yangtze Kiang valley and the province of Tsachuan (Czechuan), appear to be diminishing. The minister of marine, M. De Lencastre, announces that the French armored cruiser Guichen will leave France for Taku June 23, and that the armored cruiser, Admiral Charner, and the second-class cruiser, Jean Bart, will leave for Taku June 24. He also announced that the two transports conveying two battalions of infantry and two batteries of artillery would leave at the same time.

ONLY ONE U. S. REGIMENT.

Washington, June 19.—Adjutant General Corbin declares that up to date only one regiment, the Ninth Infantry, had been ordered from Manila to China. In addition to the Oregon, which is to go up to Taku from Hongkong, the Buffalo, with 300 green landmen aboard, has been ordered from Southampton, England, to the Philippines, while the gunboats Princeton and Marietta, which are admirably suited to the service, will sail June 20. He also declared that the two transports conveying two battalions of infantry and two batteries of artillery would leave at the same time.

The Seaforth has been held at the same place in readiness to take on supplies for the naval contingent at Taku. If the Princeton and Marietta join Admiral Kempf, as seems probable now, he will have at his command a more numerous and effective fleet of gunboats adapted to service on the Pei Ho river as far up as Tien Tsin than those of other nations.

No reports were received at the state department today from any of its officials in China.

It is not known, consequently, whether or not the United States will send the other foreign ships in an engagement at Taku on Saturday.

In the absence of a copy of the orders to Admiral Kempf, it is not possible to give a precise definition of his position, but the facts are rather well supposed. He is not limited to the protection to American life and property, but may do anything in his judgment to conserve American interests of any kind in China. This instruction gives him the widest possible latitude in involving even annihilation of the United States with China in case it may be found necessary in that manner to prevent the usurpation or destruction by other powers of such trade privileges as we now enjoy in China, improbable as such alignment may be.

NO WAR WITH UNITED STATES.

A significant fact in this connection is that the official view here is still that there is no belief of war between China and the United States.

It is contended that the stirring events of Sunday morning do not of necessity involve us in war and that the action of the Chinese commander at Taku may yet be discovered or proven to have been based upon ignorance or misunderstanding. In this case it still gives opportunity for explanation by the Chinese government and suitable reparation will close this incident without war.

The Russian charge here, Mr. Wolcott, today notified Secretary Hay that his government has dispatched 4,000 troops from Port Arthur to Taku. The department accepted this statement without comment. It is known to the officials here that Japan also is sending a corresponding number of troops to the seat of the trouble, and that England, Germany and France are doing likewise.

of the soil, brave, resolute, having far greater intelligence and character than the Aztecs, disputed our possession. We sent Andrew Jackson down there to fight them and it took us twenty-one years to subdue them and send what was left of them west of the Mississippi. If the "Anti-everythings" had lived then, they would, I suppose, have urged us to turn over Florida, Mexico, the Aztecs, the Aztecs, the Aztecs. Would you, after the war with Mexico and the Gadsden purchase, have given the great area south and west of the Arkansas to the red Apache? Not so did our fathers construe their duty and as they built, so shall we, their sons.

Continuing on the subject of the Philippines, Mr. Wolcott showed the necessity for continued American control in the islands, and said:

AMERICANS NOT POLTROONS.

"The American people are neither poltroons nor pessimists, and they will not signalize the dawn of the new century by the surrender of either convictions or territory. Every soldier back from the islands, and they are in almost every hamlet in the land, returns an advocate of their retention. Our dead are buried along the sands of Luzon, and on its soil no foreign flag shall ever salute the dawn."

Mr. Wolcott said the nation would meet its high destiny with caution, but with faith that its duty was to bless, not to destroy. And with regard to the administration now in power, at the dawn of a new century, "the Republican party, which for forty years has been identified with everything ennobling and uplifting in our history, was never as vital, as virile, and as vigorous as today. And the heritage we shall transmit to the new century, to the coming generation and to their children, shall be a record clean and untarnished, an unimpeachable faith in free institutions, an unalterable belief in the patriotism of the people, and an undying love of liberty and of country."

REPUBLICAN TRIUMPH IN NOVEMBER.

Senator Wolcott has a clear, resonant voice which penetrated to the furthest recesses of the hall. He speaks, however, with great rapidity and this perhaps somewhat spoiled the effect of his speech. But the thousands before him were in thorough sympathy and he had no difficulty in striking the keynote of the hour. When, with outstretched arm he predicted the triumphant election of the Republican ticket in November the audience surrendered, and when he first mentioned President McKinley's name, he could not proceed for a minute owing to the demonstration. As he rehearsed the history of the four years of Republican administration, the prosperity which has blessed it, the victories it had won, the glorious outcome of the Spanish-American war, the campaign in connection with the Philippines which it had met, the convention repeatedly broken into applause. It was a key note speech covering the legislation which had been placed on the statute books and its note was the prosperity of this country and the legislation possible. That was the theme to which the demonstrations of the convention clung. When he said of the old issue of the Democrats that they were driven to find new issues in a war which they had been most anxious to precipitate, the convention rose at him, but the outburst was even greater when he declared that the division among the Republicans of the East and the West on the financial issue was a thing of the past and that those who had left the party four years ago in the West were returning on the issue of expansion. The first mention of expansion was also the signal for a demonstration.

APPLAUSE FOR WOLCOTT.

The Indiana delegation started the applause when Senator Wolcott announced that the thieving postoffice officials in Cuba would be hunted down. Probably the greatest demonstration occurred when he began to speak of establishing law and order in the Philippines, and that the last thing to be considered was to give up the islands.

The delegates got on their feet and cheered when he declared that our soldiers were being sent to the sands of Luzon and we would never give up the soil that held our dead.

He spoke an hour and ten minutes, and as his brilliant oration closed, there was another enthusiastic demonstration of applause. The delegates standing on chairs and waving hats, umbrellas and handkerchiefs, while at the same time the band added the enlivening strains of a patriotic air.

At the close of the New York announced the chairman, and again all eyes turned to the center of the hall, where this time the chairman of the ways and means committee was seen. He made another declaration of the rules of the convention, and other rules were adopted, and this prevailed without dissent.

The call of the roll of States, for the submission of members of the various committees, then began. It proved a tedious process, and the convention was virtually in recess as the names were handed in.

ROOSEVELT IS POPULAR.

While the lists were being brought to the stage, Governor Roosevelt was holding a regular levee in the pit. Delegates examined to find him from all directions. The New Mexico delegates with broad sombreros climbed over the seats in their eagerness to get to him and shake his hand.

People leaned over the rail of the pit watching his every movement. When order had been restored, after the confusion incident to this scene, Mr. Wolcott announced that the secretary would read the list of the various committees. These committees he announced, could meet after the adjournment of today's session.
