

April has come rich to rivalling June this year as a month of weddings. Indeed, it has seen a number of interesting and happy marriages. The first in the season, and the fact that a number of equally interesting events are listed to take place in May seems to presage a winning popularity for June as the queen of the month of the year. However, there is time left yet for new announcements, and June gardens may still be dripping of their royal wares for bridal bells and bows.

The week's festivities commenced Monday with an afternoon card-party given in honor of one of the week's brides. The hostess was Mrs. Dorsey Ash, and the guest of honor Miss Dorlene Buckingham. The rooms were bright with spring flowers, and 500 were present. Miss Buckingham winning first prize as well as her special prize as guest of honor, and Mrs. W. H. Child second. About 19 guests were present.
