Miss Marks represents that she has a knowledge of all that passed while the preparations were being made for her burial, but that she was unable to give any sign until the fear of burial aroused her into action.

LA SALLE, Ill., May 26.—While an Illinois Central freight train was howling along toward Chicago at 10 o'clock last night it suddenly came in collision with an obstruction at the Oglesby incline, just a few miles south of this city. The train was hurled from the track into the ditch. News of the wreck did not reach here until 10:30 a. m. When the crew of the train fled into the Illinois Central station, August Baldwin made haste to report the particulars to the military authorities and a detachment of soldiers was dispatched to the scene of the wreck. The engineer of the freight says that as he crashed into the obstruction he saw a half dozen men run away from the tracks. While the trainmen were jacking up the first set of trucks of the engine, they were fired upon from the neighboring forests. It was found that the strikers had piled railroad ties on the track, but it is not believed that they intended to wreck the freight, as it was an extra train and its running time could not have been known by the miscreants. The fast night express train is due here at 1:22 a. m., and it is believed that the strikers plotted its destruction.

CRIPPLE CREEK, May 26.—The strikers seized a train at Victor about midnight and proceeded down Florence and Cripple Creek railroad to Wilbur, where the Denver deputies were in camp. At 4 a. m. a battle occurred between the strikers and the outpost of the deputies, in which Geo. Crowley, a miner, was killed and several miners and three deputies were wounded. The particulars are hard to obtain as the wires have been cut. A non-union miner was shot dead in a saloon at Victor this morning.

DENVER, May 26.—Judge Hallett in the United States circuit court this afternoon, in refusing an injunction restraining the miners at Cripple Creek from interfering with the Raven mine, which is in litigation, said, "If the state government has fallen into the hands of socialists, which it has, that is your misfortune."

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—A sensational affair occurred in the San Jose hills, south of Covina, a little fruit town in the foothills of the Sierra Madre mountains, east of this city, day before yesterday, which may result in considerable international complications. A young Englishman was set upon by a gang of hoodlums and beaten into a state of insensibility, and was then tied to a tree in a barren spot and left to perish.

The young man is Robert Beaucamp, nephew of the archbishop of York and heir of the Marquis of Chumly. Beaucamp finally extricated himself from his perilous position and succeeded in making his way home. He is naturally very indignant at the outrage, and will probably lay his case before British Consul Mortimer.

Young Beaucamp belongs to the Sixth hussars in her majesty's service, and was actively engaged in the last African and Egyptian campaigns.

TAHLEQUAH, I. T., May 27.—Beginning tomorrow, Treasurer E. E. Starr, of the Cherokee nation, will commence the disbursement of $6,840,000 to 24,300 Indians per capita. This large amount is the proceeds of the sale of the Cherokee strip to the United States government last year, and will be the largest amount of money ever paid out to as few people in the United States.

CRIPPLE CREEK, May 28.—Despite the efforts at arbitration the strikers have not abated their preparations for warfare, defensive or aggressive. Three new forts have sprung up on Bull's Hill. Four forts are said to be occupied by 1,000 men. They are amply provisioned and prepared for a siege in every way, except they have not a large supply of water. A troop of cavalry has been organized, and thirty horsemen are constantly scouting.

The miners' union will today decide upon the question of arbitration. President Calderwood favors this plan, but as the self-constituted committee by which it was proposed spoke only for J. J. Hagerman, and it is doubtful if the other mine owners will agree to it, its success is uncertain.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., May 28.—The union has appointed a committee to go to Colorado Springs to confer with the mineowners in regard to arbitration.

Mrs. May's lodging house, where several mineowners made their headquarters, was searched last night by strikers and every weapon was carried away.

The coach from Midland was stopped at the top of the big hill above town today. On board were the union miners captured by the deputies in the fight of Friday night. Word was quickly carried to the Fort and Bull Hill and Supt. McDonald and the other two prisoners were released. Five miners, members of the union but who would not leave the Abe Lincoln mine to join in the warfare, were driven off Bull Hill today.

The Miners' union appointed President John Calderwood and Shepherd W. Maupin a committee to confer with a like number selected by the mine owners, the four to select a fifth and attempt to arbitrate.

ROUSE, Colo., May 28.—The miners at Picton struck today and joined the Trinidad and Fremont county men here, making an army of 1,300. The Rouse miners are still working. Twenty Italians coming from Trinidad attempted to seize a train at Rouse Junction. The engineer and fireman beat them off with shovels. Shots were fired and the Italians were arrested and put in jail here. The strikers threaten to release them.

DENVER, May 28.—Governor White's decision not to send troops to Cripple Creek in the absence of a request from the sheriff, was reached at midnight at a conference of lawyers who reached the conclusion that with the first shot fired at the deputies by the militiamen civil war would have been instituted, and the governor, not having declared martial law, would have been in rebellion. The governor says if the fighting begins he will send troops. He says the mine owners should go to the courts for redress, if the miners preventing the opening of the mines. He favors arbitration.

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—This is the day fixed upon by the Bituminous coal mine operators of Clearfield and allied districts in central Pennsylvania for resumption of work at 40c a ton. The strikers remained away from the mines. Soft coal is extremely scarce. Agents are making a profit of $1 to $1.50 a ton, whereas 10 cents was a fair profit before the famine set in. The region that competes directly with the central Pennsylvania bituminous mines are the Cumberland mines, Maryland, the West Virginia fields and Pocahontas, southwestern Virginia. In Cumberland the men are resuming work. One reason is said to be when the last, great bituminous strike occurred in 1884, the Clearfield miners failed to stand by them.

SCOTSDALE, Pa., May 28.—Three Hungarian strikers succeeded in getting through the lines of deputies at the Moyer Coke works at 11 o'clock last night. George B. Keffer, the chief watchman, attempted to arrest them, and one shot Keffer in the breast inflicting probably a fatal wound. The Hungarians fired as they ran. Keffer raised himself from the ground and fired six shots. The blood along the road indicated that the shots took effect. The body of an unknown man, supposed to be Deputy Woolman, was found in Fayette creek yesterday. The head and face were battered out of semblance to human features and the clothing was nearly stripped off the body.
