

CITIZENS HELD LIVELY MEETING

Protested Strongly Against Action of the City Council.

SOLONS SEVERELY CRITICIZED

Resolution Introduced But Withdrawn Calling for Resignations of Councilmen Mulvey, Black and Davis.

There was a very lively meeting of property owners on Second South street held in the Twelfth ward meetinghouse last night to protest against the action of the city council in awarding the contract for paving Second South with asphalt, after more than half the property owners had petitioned the council to have the street macadamized. The members of the council, particularly those from the Fifth ward, were severely criticized for their action in the matter. A resolution was introduced, but later withdrawn, requesting the resignations of Councilmen Mulvey, Davis and Black because of their alleged failure to stand up for the people of their ward on the matter of improving Second South street. The result of the meeting was that a subscription list was started to raise a fund in order to fight the paving matter in the courts. Those who signed the list agree to pay 5 cents per front foot, according to the frontage they own, to assist in the expenses of the litigation.

CRANE PRESIDED.

The meeting was presided over by Charles Crane and S. Kelly was chosen as secretary. Chairman Crane stated the purpose of the meeting and told of the efforts made by the citizens' committee to have the city council take heed to the protests of the property owners against asphalt paving and how the committee had been turned down. He said in part:

"The mayor examined the asphalt paving on Brigham street and condemned it. I asked the mayor to veto the paving ordinance, but I have not the slightest idea that he will. One of the councilmen told me that we ought to have macadam pavement if we wanted it. Mr. Leonard, chairman of the board of public works, agreed with me that it was an outrage to force asphalt on us if we wanted macadam. Your committee attended the city council meeting last Monday night, and we were told that it would make no difference what we had to say, as it would do no good. The whole affair was cut and dried. Mr. Cohn had something to say, but they would not hear him because they were afraid he would expose them."

"Your committee, representing the protesters on Second South street, was grossly insulted, grossly outraged and grossly betrayed. The attorney who will take up our fight in the courts, if we so decide, says that the action of the council is outrageous, infamous. He tells us to continue to protest, and not to show our acquiescence by silence."

"I am absolutely convinced that there is no use in protesting to the city council. I have no confidence in the majority that composes that council. I never saw 15 men who were so ignorantly helpless, so absolutely powerless in the presence of a wrong as they are here and vote the people's money away and refuse to let any citizen have a voice in the matter."

"The committee has left no stone unturned, and now it is up to you at this meeting. Shall we lay down and acquiesce? Shall we be bulldozed and betrayed? Shall we let Pat Moran reveal in the money wrung from the people of Second South street, it is an outrage that we be taxed for a so-called improvement. There are not five residents on Brigham street who are glad the street is paved with asphalt. Many who signed for asphalt regret it very much."

"What this meeting has to determine tonight is: Are we to become slaves to 15 incompetent imbeciles?"

EXPENSE OF LITIGATION.

Dr. J. M. Dart inquired as to the expenses of the litigation and was informed that they would amount to about $500. He thereupon moved that a subscription be started to raise the required amount.

W. J. Halloran, a member of the board of public works, challenged the statement that 96 per cent of the property owners on Second South street favor macadam. He further stated that macadam had proven a failure in Chicago, St. Louis and Los Angeles. He took exception to the remarks of Mr. Crane in criticizing the city council, but was called down by the chairman and requested to confine his remarks to the question before the meeting. Mr. Halloran then stated that if the Second South paving was defeated there would be no paving on any of Salt Lake's streets for several years. He then charged Mr. Crane with being opposed to all public improvements for the past three years. For that he was again called to order and instructed to not criticize his neighbors.

Isador Morris made the statement that Mr. Halloran was the only property owner on the street who wanted asphalt paving.

HENRY COHN SNUBBED.

Henry Cohn, another member of the committee which was snubbed by the council, was the next speaker, and during the course of his remarks he roasted Councilman Mulvey and the council in the following language:

"Mr. Mulvey promised me that before the contract for paving Second South street was let the three councilmen from the Fifth precinct would call a meeting of the property owners and get their views of the matter before any action was taken by the council. We relied on his word, but the meeting was never called. When we called and asked him about it last Friday he laughed it off. The councilmen don't care for the public at all, once they are elected."

"Go up some night and look at the men who do your business. There are men there who know how to make a living; they don't own property and don't pay a cent of taxes. How could they be expected to represent you?"

"At Los Angeles the people went before the council with ropes to enforce their demands, and if we can't enforce ours in any other way I am in favor of taking ropes and going down there to show them that they are our servants and must do as we wish."

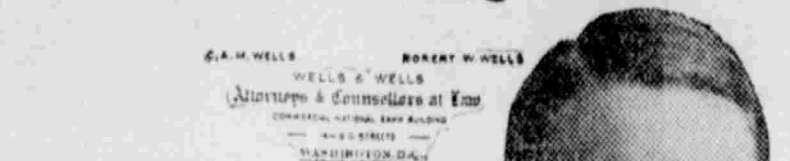

A. T. Moon and Samuel Wells both opposed macadam and urged the property owners to stand back of the asphalt paving proposition. Dr. E. V. Ritter said that he had noted the absolute failure of asphalt on East Temple street and that he wanted something better for Second South street.

SUBSCRIPTION STARTED.

The resolution calling upon Councilmen Mulvey, Davis and Black to resign was then introduced by Isadore Morris. A. V. Taylor and W. M. McCrean both opposed the adoption of the resolution, which was withdrawn. Mr. McCrean made quite an extensive argument in favor of macadamizing and challenged Mr. Halloran to deny that asphalt paving had been a failure in this city. Mr. Samuel Paul objected to the

A PROMINENT ATTORNEY

Writes a Very Interesting Letter to Dr. Hartman Concerning Peruna.

Having used Peruna at a tonic, it gives me pleasure to cheerfully commend it for its strengthening and invigorating qualities. I believe it to be the best medicine of its kind on the market.

The Above Testimonial Was Written By Hon. Robt. W. Wells, Attorney, Member of the Maryland House of Delegates Since 1902 and a Member of the Bar U. S. Supreme Court and Maryland Courts.

What is a Tonic?

A tonic is a medicine that increases the appetite, increases the digestion, increases the power of the system to assimilate and appropriate food.

This is the action of all true tonics.

To be sure there are tonics that are simply stimulants. They irritate the stomach, and an unnatural craving for food is excited. This class of medicines should be classed as stimulants rather than tonics.

A tonic, as above stated, quickens all the functions of digestion. It invigorates the body by furnishing more force for the body.

The action of true tonics is not temporary, but lasting.

The lassitude which warm weather brings is due to an under-supply of nutrition for the body. Plenty of food may be on the table, but the food is not relished, or else is not digested.

Slight catarrhal derangements of the stomach and bowels will so effectually interfere with digestion as to produce great depression of the system.

criticism of the members of the council. She urged that such talk be stopped, and that the protesters get down to business, and closed her remarks by saying that she would much rather attend a women's meeting than one for men. This created much applause and laughter.

The motion to start a subscription list on a basis of five cents per front foot, to bear the expense of the litigation was then carried and a large number of those present signed the list before leaving the building.

PASSED EXAMINATION.

Good News From Robert G. Lee, Appointed to Annapolis.

Robert Corwin Lee, the young high school boy who was recently appointed to the Naval academy at Annapolis by Senator Sutherland, yesterday notified his father by wire that he had successfully passed the final physical and mental examination and was ready to enter upon the regular course of study at the academy. The young man is the son of W. A. Lee, the attorney, and was a member of the senior class in the high school this year and would have graduated but for the fact that it became necessary for him to go to Annapolis before the close of the school year. The young man is 17 years of age and was a hard worker in the cadet corps while at the high school. His many friends will extend congratulations to him upon his success as the final examinations for entrance to the naval academy are indeed very hard.

GOOD SUGGESTIONS MADE.

Sound Advice Given by Fred J. Kiesel Of Ogden.

The Boise Statesman says: Fred J. Kiesel, who was chairman of the executive committee of the irrigation congress three years ago, making the preparations for the eleventh annual session that was held in Ogden, has written a number of letters to Executive Chairman Gwinn, in which he has drawn up his experience in the work of a large number of very valuable suggestions.

Mr. Kiesel has just penned another letter to Mr. Gwinn, in which several suggestions for the betterment of the congress are made. One idea that he has contributed is that an engrossed invitation should be prepared by the local management and sent to Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, the last president of the congress.

He strongly approves of the invitation extended to the correspondents at Washington of the metropolitan dailies to visit Boise and the west at the time of the congress, declaring that their presence will be "a great thing for Idaho and the cause of irrigation." It will help you to get the $100,000.

He urges that not only the Clark cup for irrigated products, for which he extended a challenge a few days ago on behalf of the irrigators of Malheur county, Oregon, be put up to

EXERCISES AT ST. ANN'S ORPHANAGE

About One Hundred and Fifty Little Ones Participated In the Program.

TALK BY BISHOP SCANLAN.

Congratulated the Institution on Fine Exhibition Made—Children in Marches and Songs.

The Kerner St. Ann's Orphanage held class exercises last evening, at the institution, which is situated on Twelfth South and Fourth East streets. Many of the friends and relatives of the children who are cared for at that home were present, and the evening was most pleasantly spent. It was the nineteenth anniversary of the consecration of Bishop Scanlan to the bishopric, and that gentleman was present and made one of his characteristic speeches, full of tender sentiment and wholesome advice.

The program was in charge of Father Kieley and the exercises were participated in by about 150 children, from the ages of 4 to 15 years. There were marches and songs in which all the children took part, choruses by girls' classes and by boys' classes, and exhibitions of work in the various departments, including housekeeping, cooking, mathematics, geography, music, spelling, etc., and the results were highly pleasing to the audience and gratifying to the persons in charge of the institution. Prizes were awarded as follows: Stenography and music, Edith McCallum; church doctrine, Castle Clark; good conduct, Mary Young; housekeeping, Mary Warner; arithmetic, Angelina Mena.

BISHOP'S DISCOURSE.

After the awards had been made by Rev. Father Kieley, Bishop Scanlan delivered a discourse, in which he said in part:

"I am proud of you all, I am sure, and feel especially so because of the beautiful gathering means to myself. I congratulate you on your fine exhibition. It shows the practical side of your training and that is the important thing. A good boy or girl, studious and industrious, need never be poor or wealthy. Take pains to do what comes to your hands well. Do it better than others do it. Learn first what you can do, and do that thing better than any other boy or girl. There is always room for a superior man at the top. Do not try to do everything. No one can learn to do all things. If you have a taste for music, use the piano or other instrument, but if your tastes lie in another direction do not waste time on them."

"Dear children, we are all very pleased with what you have done. We naturally want to see what you have been doing for the past year, and the practical showing pleases us all. You have done well. I could not solve some of those arithmetic problems you did myself, at least without study. Little children, be good, be moral. A moral life is the true basis of all success. If you are weak, careless, untruthful, maybe dishonest, no man wants you. If you are cheerful, kind, patient and energetic, all will love you, and help you. A widow in San Francisco asked me to place her boy in a situation to earn his living. I recommended him to a business man. In eight years that boy received a salary of $3,500 per year and was indispensable to the business. You can do the same if you will. Have the altruistic thought, to help others. Make good use of the higher qualities of head and heart, and you will succeed. Keep your tongue and temper. No man had better begin his life with a bad character. There may be a future president among you tonight. You are away from temptation, under kind teachers, and these are the years for you to build character. I congratulate you and your teachers, and wish for you at the very best outcome to your lives. What I said to the boys is applicable to the girls. Be good and true, and modest and wise, and God will bless you all."

"I cannot speak too highly of Peruna, and will not forget to recommend it on every hand. I will answer any letter from those desiring to know what Peruna has done for me."

be contested for at this session of the congress, but that the other two cups presented at the exposition held at Ogden three years ago be secured and presented for the management of the congress, if unable to secure these cups, offer others to be completed for year after year, at the expositions of the irrigated products of the arid section in connection with the irrigation congress.

There are two of these cups besides the Clark cup. One, known as the Havermeier cup, was donated three years ago by the sugar people for the best exhibit of sugar beets. The other, the Pabst cup, was given for the best display of hops, and is now held by a man in Montana.

Mr. Kiesel also suggests that it is very important to secure "good and characteristic" badges, made of bronze or gun metal, and not of rag, as these badges are usually kept as souvenirs. "They should be emblematic," adds Mr. Kiesel, "of Boise and Idaho and irrigation."

BOISE-PAYETTE PROJECT.

Uncle Sam Decides to Rush Work to Protect Water Rights.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, D. C., June 30.—In order to preserve the priority of water rights and thus render possible the completion of the work on the Payette-Boise irrigation project, in Idaho, the secretary of the interior has declared that an extraordinary emergency exists, under the provisions of the eight-hour act of Aug. 1, 1892.

According to the laws of the state of Idaho, before performing any work in connection with the construction of projects involving the appropriation of water, it is necessary to file an application with the state engineer for a permit to make such appropriation. This application must state the time required for the completion of construction of the proposed works, and the law requires that one-fifth of the work must be completed in one-half the time required for the completion of the entire project.

In order that the required amount of work on the Payette-Boise project may be completed within the time specified, it has been found necessary to rush the work of construction, which has been delayed by difficulty in obtaining early delivery of machinery and in securing laborers. It was also found upon opening bids for the construction work that a portion of the system must be done by force account, and the necessity of re-allocating for bids caused much further delay.

DESERET NEWS IN EASTERN IDAHO

Four Hundred New Subscribers Since the New Train Service Went Into Effect.

STORY OF GROWTH OF RIGBY.

It is Now Forging Ahead as an Important Business Center—All Business Increases.

(Special to the "News.")

Rigby, Idaho, June 29.—This part of Idaho now enjoys an excellent passenger service over the Oregon Short Line since the recent change in trains. The through "Yellowstone Limited" arrives in Rigby from Salt Lake at 5 o'clock a. m., and returning leaves here at 10:15 p. m., southbound. In addition to this train there is also a passenger train arriving here from Salt Lake at 7 p. m. and this train leaves here for Salt Lake at 8 a. m. There is also a mixed train up and down the road in the middle of the day, carrying passengers.

The only object the people now have in regard to the running of trains, is that the Yellowstone special carries no mail. Formerly letters posted here in the evening would arrive in Salt Lake next morning, and a reply could be received here the day following. Now all mail days over each night both in the Rigby and Salt Lake postoffices and it requires five days and four nights to send a letter to Salt Lake and get a reply. If the Yellowstone special carried the mail—which is the fastest train on the route—instead of the mixed—which is the slowest—the mail service would be as good as formerly, which was all that could be desired.

A unanimous movement has been inaugurated by the Commercial clubs of Rigby, Reubens, Sugar City, St. Anthony and Marysville, to have the railway mail official, wherever is responsible for the present undesirable service, to have the Yellowstone Flyer carry the mail.

The Deseret News has scored several points in the public favor, by sending their papers through on the flyer by express. This enables their subscribers here to get the "News" at 5 a. m. each morning, which makes it the earliest paper with the latest news to reach this part of the country.

The "News" representative was in Rigby today, and informs your correspondent that he has secured over 400 new subscribers, since the paper is delivered here early each morning after it leaves the press.

Rigby is forging ahead as an important business center, notwithstanding it, as a town, is but a few years old. Two years ago the town was incorporated. It now has over 30 business houses, including a bank, up-to-date flouring mill, steam brick plant, planing mill, newspaper—the Rigby Star, a modern opera house, and nearly every other establishment found in a progressive and thriving western city.

The business of the Short Line has increased so rapidly here of late, that the company has found it necessary to employ additional help. M. J. Hammond, formerly the principal of the Rigby school, has been added to the depot clerical force.

Rigby built and equipped during the last school season a large 12-room modern school building, at a cost of $12,000. It has the latest heating and ventilation system, a fine piano, library and all of the latest furnishings necessary for its equipment.

The town fathers have recently expended over $500 in improving the town square and public streets, so that Rigby will soon boast of fine roads and a beautiful park.

According to a recent statement issued by our local bank, which has been doing business but a little over two and a half years, with a capital of only $10,000, they have on deposit over $50,000. This is a pretty good showing for such an institution which relies almost entirely on the farmers, or an agricultural community, for its patronage.

The forecast of this month over $15,000 was paid out to the farmers adjacent to Rigby for wheat and hay. This grain was what the farmers held over from last year for spring sale, after selling a great deal last fall and winter. The farmers of this valley are getting very well-to-do financially, and it is believed they have made a better record in this regard than those who have settled in many other localities. An illustration showing the loading of the surplus crop appears on the Idaho page today.

The best crop this season is in excellent condition thus far. Practically all the thinning is over with, and no blight has yet appeared. The average is from 15 to 20 per cent larger in the valley this year than has ever been planted before. This industry has now assumed huge proportions in eastern Idaho.

M. E. Peck has sold his furniture business to the Marler brothers, who are moving to Teton City, who believe Rigby is the coming town, and they will enlarge the business to the needs of this community. The business will be conducted under the name of the Rigby Furniture company, which is now incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000.

The Rigby Opera & Amusement company has closed its building and leased it to W. G. Kimball, who has remodeled it, put in a large glass front, and will conduct a hotel therein. The town now supports three hotels. The new Peck Opera House enjoys a lucrative business.

Rigby will not celebrate the "glorious Fourth" this year, and the citizens will join our neighbors in other nearby towns who are billed for big attractions on the national birthday. Rigby has celebrated the Fourth the past three years in succession, and decided to take a rest this season.

Our town now boasts of two automobiles of the two-seated variety, owned by Joseph Woodmansee and George E. Hill, Jr. Another evidence of progressiveness. They appear to be giving good service, and are much enjoyed by their owners.

A big excursion to eastern Idaho from Utah points tomorrow, is expected to bring a large number of visitors and prospective home-seekers. There is room for many thousands of people in this great well-watered valley.

PROTECT PROPRIETARY MEDICINES.

Did ever occur to you that proprietary medicines are a blessing to mankind generally? The good ones have long continued sale, the poor ones have short life and soon leave the market.

If we had to depend entirely upon physicians and druggists it would be expensive and very inconvenient at night, especially in the country and at times when neither could be conveniently reached. For nearly forty years Boschee's German Syrup has been used in many families, and thousands of lives of adults and children have been saved by its use when it was impossible to reach a physician. German Syrup is the best household remedy for cough, colds, throat and lung trouble. It quickly relieves the hacking cough, loosens the phlegm, and brings sound and refreshing sleep. Twenty-five and seventy-five cents. Get a copy of Green's Prize Almanac. At all druggists.
