SARATH MERRILL, Elder Jesse N. Smith, who has been appointed a mission to Scandinavia, spoke of the feelings which the elders possess when they are called to go on missions; of the doubts and anxieties he experienced when he went before to the same place; and of the blessings which the Lord bestowed upon him through humility and in answer to earnest prayers. He bore testimony to the truth, expressed his feelings with regard to his mission, and requested the prayers of the Saints to be with the missionaries.

Elder Albert Carrington, who is also about leaving for Europe, to take charge of the missions there, reasoned on the principle that the object of our existence in this probation is simply to do right. Then arises the question with many, What is right? The latter-day Saints need have no doubts on this point; for they know that to do right, is to do the will of the Lord; and they need not be under doubt concerning the will of the Lord, for it is their privilege to possess the Spirit of God which will enlighten them and reveal to them the truth of every duty required and of every principle advanced by the servants of the Lord. He pointed out some of the ways by which the Adversary tries to allure us from the path of right; and urged upon the Saints to sustain each other in righteousness, showing the evil results of heeding to get rich and placing a false estimate upon wealth, seeking to gain it by unjust and iniquitous means.

Elder Brigham Young, junr., treated upon the mercies of God bestowed upon the Saints, and the opportunities which the young of the people of God possess over those who receive the gospel in the nations of the earth. Yet we are very weak and liable to go astray; but if we are humble and prayerful, and seek unto the Lord with full purpose of heart, everything that rises between us and the blessings of the Gospel will be removed from our path.

Afternoon.
Elder A. Carrington touched upon the alleged isolation of the Saints, contending that, though we have not been in possession of facilities for very rapid communication with each other and the outside world, we are not isolated, as has been claimed. We have traveled and gone wherever the Lord has required, as His servants have done in every age; but though in the world and among its people, we have not been of them. This is not isolation; it is merely a result of obeying the commandments of God. He considered that the railroad, which many believed would be the means of breaking up "Mormonism," will be a source of blessing to the people of this Territory. He referred to the mission to which he has been appointed, expressing his willingness to go wherever sent, and asked the faith and prayers of the people while absent.

President B. Young instructed the congregation on various points. His remarks were reported in full.

PRESIDENT Young and company reached Kaysville at 2.50 p.m.

GONE NORTH.—President Brigham Young, accompanied by Elders John Taylor, Wilford Woodruff, George A. Smith, George Q. Cannon, Joseph P. Smith, A. Milton Musser, and others, started this morning at eight o'clock, for Cache Valley. The President will hold meetings at Farmington and Kaysville, a two days' meeting at Ogden, meetings at Willard, Brigham City, and Wellsville, and a two days' meeting at Logan, during the trip.

For Europe.—Elders Albert Carrington and Jesse N. Smith leave by stage this evening for the East, en route for Europe.

THEATRICAL.—The performance of "Mary Stuart" on Saturday night was again witnessed by a large audience, who testified their appreciation by frequent and well-merited applause. The piece was mounted excellently, and was again well played.

To-morrow evening comedy takes the boards, in "As You Like It," Shakespeare's admirable comedy, with Miss Ince as Rosalind, who charms characters and audience, Mr. McKenkie as Jacques, who "met a fool in the forest" and discourses philosophically thereon, Miss Adams as Celia, Mr. Margette as the renowned Touchstone, and a full cast of the company. We expect a treat of no ordinary character in its performance. The change, too, from the tragic "Medea," "Ion" and "Mary Stuart," to the sparkling comedy of "As You Like It," will be a very agreeable one. Miss Ince was so charming in "A Morning Call," that we expect her personation of Rosalind will prove her as talented in portraying the higher order of comedy, as she has already shown herself in some of the most difficult tragic roles.

FINED.—The two men, Kahn and Lozer, who were arrested on Saturday, and whose trial took place at 5 p.m. that day, claimed a jury trial, but before it commenced they concluded to accept Alderman Clinton's adjudication. As there were two cases against them, His Honor fined each $150 for the two.

ARRESTED.—A telegram having been received by Captain Burt from acting Governor Hall, of Colorado, requesting the police here to arrest and detain one Edwin A. Walsh, known in Denver as Major Walsh, and stating that a requisition would be forwarded immediately, on the arrival of the eastern stage on Saturday afternoon, the officers arrested the individual in question, who became the first occupant of the new City Prison, where he now remains.

OUTWARD BOUND.—This afternoon the train of Shurtliff & Son started east, to bring in freight for Walker Bros. and Kahn Bros.

TRIED IT.—Mrs. Stephen Goddard tried to bring her existence to a terminal point by indulging in a little skydive, towards the close of last week; but Dr. Anderson's skill and science prevented the fatality sought.

Died:

Martha Ann Bitner, wife of Benjamin B. Neff, died at their residence on the State road, 15 miles south of this city, at half-past three o'clock p.m., on the 24th of July last, in the twenty-eighth of her age. She lived and died a Saint, leaving a husband and four children to mourn and feel her loss. The funeral was held in the 13th Ward Assembly Rooms, in which a large number of relatives and friends assembled to listen to addresses by Elders George A. Smith, W. Woodruff, and Joseph Young, sen. She was beloved and respected by all who knew her.

Brother Cannon, will you please insert the above in the News, and oblige her mother.
