

— What's going on in New York and Brooklyn?—All sorts of fraud.—Graphic.

— Ladies are beginning to use colored starch for their ruffs, as did the beauties of the court of the good Queen Bess.

— Figs are twenty cents a peck at Augustine, Florida, and butter eighty cents per pound.

— A St. Cloud saloon-keeper facetiously interrupted a temperance lecturer with a bill of $1.80 for recent cocktails.

— A villainous Eastern exchange says that "Chicago alone will postpone the millennium at least ten centuries."

— The Supervisors of Iroquois County, Ill., have given Mrs. Smith 200 for adding four to the population at a single effort.

— A Milwaukee woman has commenced proceedings for a divorce six different times, and yet she is not happy.

— A colporteur in Kansas was told that "this 'ere region hain't much on Bibles, but if you want to make money bring us out a load of shotguns."

— An Englishman who was visiting in Danbury says he has but a poor idea of the freedom of a country that has to get its weather from the government.

— Brooklyn appears to be suffering more from the "ring"-worm than New York, or even Washington.—N. Y. Graphic.

— "Came to his death while being hit on the head by a spider in the hands of his wife," was the verdict in a recent case in Illinois.

— A Boston gentleman who dislikes formality offered a lady $5,000 if she would marry him without the usual preliminaries of courtship.

— A Buffalo man has a pint of water brought from the Red Sea, and he has several times offered to trade it for the same amount of old Jamaica.

— A Peoria woman threw a brick at a dog recently, striking herself on the back of the head with such force that it knocked her down.

— Miss Miranda Thompson, of Illinois, shears sheep, mows grass, and binds wheat, and goes to church on Sundays with the biggest bustle in the town.

— A Cleveland youth had his hand taken off in a planing mill lately. He was to have given it away in marriage next day anyhow.

— This is a Chicago man's experience at Long Branch. He says he was bathing between two Eastern D. D.'s, and he came out so dry that he did not need a towel.

— Money is one of the wheels of trade, it is the oil which renders the motion of the wheels more smooth and easy.—Hume.

— "The one thing," says Jean Paul, "which a maiden most easily forgets is how she looks—hence mirrors were invented."

— A Beloit editor takes it upon himself to say that "cows, elephants or rhinoceroses may run gracefully, but women never."

— A party of serenaders in Macon, Ga., tooted sweetly in front of a house for a brief period before they discovered that it was empty.

— Don Carlos' wife has not joined him in the field. She has too high an appreciation of feather beds to be guilty of any such folly.

— A Wisconsin thief stole a parson's sermons, but pawned his last stolen watch to purchase sackcloth and ashes after reading them, and returned them in great depression of spirits.

— Dr. Geo. H. Bell desires the Bee to inform housekeepers that the rinds of cucumbers scattered around their haunts will kill or banish ants, black crickets, cockroaches, etc.

— An epitaph in a Pennsylvania churchyard: "Here lies the body of Amy Major, who departed this life March 20, 1792. Suffice it to say that she was an honest woman—the second noblest work of God."

— "What are the wages here?" asked a laborer of a boy. "I do not know, sir." "What does your father get on Saturday night?" "Get!" said the boy, "why he gets as tight as a brick."

— According to the Leader, a Des Moines liquor dealer received a telegram the other day from a prominent citizen of Indianola, to the effect: "Send me down ten gallons of soup at once."
