CRITICAL ANALYSIS.

UNIVERSITY OF DESERET,
Salt Lake City, June 8th, 1887.

By carefully examining DeLand's Chemical Baking Powder with the microscope and with chemical reagents, I find that it is free from Alum, Starch, Flour, Bone Ash, Ammonia and White Earth; and that it consists essentially of Cream of Tartar and Bi-carbonate of Soda.

The Baking Powder examined I purchased at Barnes & Davis, in this city.

EVENING NEWS.

Thursday, - March 8, 1888.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Washington Bits.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The whole amount the Union Pacific will pay under the Outhwaite bill, added to the present payment of sums in the sinking fund ($7,784,083), will be $10,741,769. Taking into account, the report says, large partial payments increasing each payment and reducing the debt every six months, the average extension of the debt as a whole does not exceed twenty years. In consideration of the extension, all earnings of the road by government transportation or rentals owned, leased or operated by the company shall be applied to the payment of current maturing installments of the principal and interest, and no money is to be paid by the government for transportation or services of any kind over aided or non-aided lines until the next installment shall be fully paid. The additional security, says the report, offered by the company in mortgages on its branch lines and all other property may not be as great as it seems, but it is all the company has, and far more than the government lien now covers, far more than could be subject to the claim of the government on any foreclosure under existing laws.

In the bill an important change is made in the section of the Outhwaite bill, which provided that payments over and above interest to be made by the roads should be made during the first ten year period, one third of one per cent upon the whole debt. This is changed by the present bill to one-tenth of one per cent for the first five years and one-half of one per cent for the second five years of the same, the ten year payment being in accordance with the company's suggestions that payments be made lighter during the first five years and heavier during the second than was contemplated by original bill.

Section eleven of the Outhwaite bill, which required the companies at the request of the Department of Justice, to cause suits to be instituted in the names of the companies against persons who are or may be connected with them for malfeasance or other illegal conduct, is displaced by the following new section, which is intended to give greater strength to the purpose to prosecute offenders. "Acceptance of the provisions of this act by said companies (the Union Pacific and Central branch) shall operate as continuing authority from said companies to the Attorney-General to prosecute in the name of the companies respectively, by appropriate process of law or in equity, or by both, any and all persons who may be answerable to said corporations or to the United States as stockholders, subscribers to stock, directors, officers, agents and employes (past and present) of said companies respectively for or by reason of any violation of duty to said corporation, or violation of the criminal laws found by reason of any misappropriation of assets or property of said corporations respectively, or any other cause properly remedial at their instance, or at the instance of the United States. Should any sums of moneys be recovered under the provisions of this section, the same shall be placed to the credit of the proper company, as a payment on account of the highest numbered bond or bonds outstanding under the provisions of this act. Upon the acceptance of the provisions of this act, the Attorney-General shall proceed forthwith, and so long as the United States shall be the holder or the owner of the bonds authorized by this act, shall continue to prosecute, proceedings at law or in equity, or both, as shall be necessary to determine whether any stockholder or stockholders of said companies, or either of them, officers, agents or employees, past or present, or other parties, have been guilty of any crime punishable by law in connection with said companies. The Attorney-General shall prosecute said proceedings to a final judgment and execution, and in case of the collection of any moneys, they are to be disposed of as herein provided.

The House committee on Pacific railroads this morning received from C. P. Huntington a bill for the refunding of the Central Pacific's indebtedness to the government.

It provides that the court of claims shall make computations for finding the present worth of the debt, instead of the Secretary of the Treasury, as in the Outhwaite bill, and this court shall also determine and deduce the equities. The debt shall be divided into 250 equal installments, payable semi-annually, with security in the shape of 125-year bonds at 2 per cent, and the mortgage company may redeem at any time its bonds by discounting them at 2 per cent. There is an authorization for refunding the first mortgage debt by the company, and the last clause also provides for an alternative authorization for the government to refund said debt by issuing 2 per cent fifty year bonds, redeemable by the Central Pacific.

The sub-committee of the House committee on foreign affairs have agreed to report a bill to give effect to the Chinese treaty, which will be submitted to the Senate by the President in a few days.

In the ways and means committee this morning, after ineffectual efforts on the part of republican members to secure a hearing to manufacturers and others on the effect of Mills' tariff bill, a resolution by Breckenridge allowing communications to be filed, but refusing oral hearings, was adopted by a party vote. The republican members expressed their opposition to it. The committee then adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. A conference of the democratic members was held after adjournment, at which it was resolved to proceed with the consideration of the tariff revenue bill in the committee, when certain information, mainly tables showing the present and prospective tariff receipts, shall be received from the printer. It is understood this will be ready in a day or two, and a meeting of the committee will probably be called for Friday or Saturday.

The joint resolution recently passed by the House accepting the invitation of the French Republic to take part in the International Exposition in Paris in 1889, was reported favorably today with certain amendments by Senator Payne from the committee on foreign relations.

The committee has entirely stricken from the resolution as adopted by the House, the provision directing the commissioner of agriculture to secure, if possible, as part of the exposition, a competitive inspection of the pork products of the United States and Europe. They have also eliminated from the measure the provision authorizing the commission to prepare for gratuitous distribution at the exposition, a statement printed in English, French and German, descriptive of swine raising in the United States, together with such information as he may possess as to the relative wholesomeness of pork raised in this and other countries. The resolution is further amended by increasing from $200,000 to $300,000 the appropriation to defray the expenses of representation at the Exposition. The clause authorizing the President to assign one or more of the public vessels to transport to and from France, free of cost, such articles, as may be offered for exhibition by the United States, is stricken out, as is also the provision authorizing the appointment of one honorary commissioner to the Exposition from each of the several States.

In response to Senator Cullom's resolution of inquiry, the President today sent to the Senate a letter from the Secretary of State giving a history of the prohibition by France of the importation of American pork.

The Secretary says the department knows of no ground to expect that the decree of the French government will be revoked at an early day, inasmuch as the decree which prohibits the importation of American pork into France did not apply to products of any other nation, and thereby discriminated against this country, and inasmuch as the reasons assigned by the French government for issuing the decree were without good foundation, the government at once protested against the passage of said decree August, 1880, it has been from time to time the subject of earnest diplomatic representations by this government to that of France.

The House committee on commerce, by a vote of 7 to 6, has authorized a favorable report on Rayner's bill for a system of postal telegraphy.

The bill appropriates eight million dollars and places the general supervision under a fourth assistant postmaster general. The work of establishing the lines is to be done under the direction of the Secretary of War. Tariff for twenty word telegrams, ten cents for 500 miles or less; twenty cents from 500 to 1000 miles, and proportionately increased rates for longer distances. The report which will accompany the bill asserts that the service will be self-sustaining, defends the government's rights to build and operate telegraph lines, and states that public opinion, good faith and justice do not require the government to purchase the property and franchises of the Western Union.
