EVENING NEWS

Friday, - - August 10, 1877.

SHORT AND SHARP.

A New York lady complains of the present male style that there is too much collar and too little gentleman.

"My frends," said a spiritualist lecturer, "If we stop giving each other hell we shall find very little hell anywhere else."

The young Texan doesn't tell you his sweetheart is as sweet as sugar, but says, "Oh, she'll do to put in coffee!"

Ladies' waists are growing less, says a fashion item. That is what husbands hope, and there will be less waste.—Oil City Call.

The first step toward wealth used to be considered the choice of a good wife; but now-a-days wealth is the first step toward the choice of a wife.

"What did you get?" asked a wife of her husband on his return from a hunting excursion of several days duration. "I got back," he sententiously replied.—Albany Argus.

"Whatever is, is right," Pope remarked. But the man who arrives at the depot just as the train is scudding out at the other end is generally left.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Syracuse has a cartman by the name of Faith. Let's see—Faith—Faith—seems as though that name was familiar; oh, yes—he's the one that moves the mountains.—Fulton Times

It is a remarkable fact that the man who always insists that the deceased is better off as he is is the first to send for the doctor and howl and stuff medicine if he has the smallest pain in his stomach.

Ex-Governor Letcher, of Virginia, returning from a church fair, was asked by a friend what he had been doing. "I have been eating oysters for the Lord at a dollar a dozen," he replied.

They were courting clandestinely over the fence, and she had just remarked: "Yes, love, the eyes are the windows of the soul," when suddenly the old man closed in on him with a club, and his soul hasn't been able to see out of doors since.—New York Commercial.

There are 600 finger-nail doctors in Paris, yet all their combined skill cannot trim a nail so as to reach the place between the shoulder blades that sin laden men have been trying to scratch ever since Adam went out of Eden on a writ of ejectment.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Somebody says always face the person you are talking to. It is evident that this writer never stood in front of the man who comes into the office as soon as he gets sober to have his name kept out of the police report. Only a man with a nose on the back of his head could do it.

"Suppose we pass a law," said a severe father to his daughters, "that no girl eighteen years old who can't cook a good meal shall get married until she learns how to do it?" "Why, then, we'd all get married at seventeen," responded the girls in sweet chorus.—Elmira Advertiser.

Sarah Yates, of Abington, has always been a stroug-minded girl and opposed to matrimony. Recently, however, she received an excellent offer of marriage, and compromised with her principles in this style: "Mr. Bates, I have reflected on your proposition, and have concluded to submit to the humiliating sacrifice you demand."

According to the Roman correspondent of the Independance Belge, Antonelli's libertinism was very notorious, and there was no doubt whatever of his intimacy with Mme. Marconi, mother of the Countess Lambertini, who claims to be his daughter. The Pope did all he could to induce her to waive her claims.

"SUCH IS LIFE."—From the Worcester (Mass.) Press.

He was a singularly grave man, even for a sexton. For nearly half a century he had been a public functionary—had performed the conspicuous duties of a sexton; yet no one had ever seen him smile. Occasionally he joked, but he did it in such a funereal manner that no one could accuse him of levity.

One day he was standing on the church steps wiping his melancholy features with a red bandana. A hearse stood near by and three or four carriages were drawn up behind it. The notes of the organ floated out of the open windows with solemn effect. A stranger came along and said—

"Funeral?"

And the old sexton gravely bowed his head—it was.

"Who's dead?"

The old man again wiped his brow and gave the name of the deceased.

"What complaint?" asked the inquisitive stranger.

Solemnly placing his bandana in his hat and covering his bald head, the old sexton made answer—

"There is no complaint; everybody is entirely satisfied."

Said he, "Darling, you see for years circumstances and business and imagination have been doubling things up." Said she, "They must have been a sort of cucumber, my pet."

CentenniaL

World Exhibition,

MASON & HAMLIN

CABINET

ORGANS

Unanimously assigned the

"FIRST RANK

IN THE

"SEVERAL REQUISITES"

of such Instruments!

The MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO. have the honor to announce that the Organs of their manufacture have been unanimously assigned "the FIRST RANK in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of instruments of the class" by the Judges at the CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION at Philadelphia, 1876, and are the ONLY INSTRUMENTS OF THIS GENERAL CLASS AWARDED THIS RANK. This is after the severest competition by the best makers, before one of the most competent juries ever assembled.

They have also received the MEDAL, but, as is well known, medals of equal merit have been awarded all articles deemed worthy of recognition; so thus it will be easy for many makers to advertise that they have received "first medals."

The difference in competing articles, and their comparative excellence, are recognized in the Reports of the Judges from which the following is an extract:—

"THE MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.'S exhibit of Reed Organs and Harmoniums shows instruments of the FIRST RANK IN THE SEVERAL REQUISITES OF INSTRUMENTS OF THE CLASS, viz: Smoothness and equal distribution of tone, scope of expression, resonance and singing quality, freedom and quickness in action of keys and bellows, with thoroughness of workmanship, combined with simplicity of action."

(Signed by all the Judges.)

The Mason and Hamlin Organs are thus declared to rank first, not in one or two respects only, but in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of such instruments, and they are the Only ones assigned this rank. This triumph was not unexpected, for the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs have uniformly been awarded the highest honors in competitions in America, there having been scarcely six exceptions in hundreds of competitions.
