over everything.

The telephone system is nearly ready for operation in Salt Lake. But remember, that to get the truth by telephone it is neces-sary to have a good man on the other end of the line.

The Grand Rapids Times says "The temperance cause has received to the ordinary offices of the lesser quite a backset in Jacksonville, Illinois, from the discovery of sixteen skeletons of infants when the waterworks reservoir was drained the other day." Is this a modified copy of the Cleveland rumor?

The Canadian trade and navigation returns of the past fiscal year disclose the fact that in 1880, for the first time since confederation, the conditions of faith and repentence, nor exports of the Dominion exceeded confirm a person not baptized. So, the imports. It seems that in 1880, the Dominion increased her exports officer unless directed so to do by of 1879 by more than $16,000,000; but while her trade with Great they also being governed by the Britain increased $13,018,438, her law of the Church in this case. trade with the United States fell off $8,207,863.

An exchange says: "Judge Noal Swayne, who has just retired from the bench of the United States Supreme Court, began life as an anoth-· cary's clerk at Alexandria, Va. He married Miss Wager, a Virginia heiress possessed of slaves, and immediately set them free." From this it appears he commenced the drug business very early. Most bables are utilized as drug depositorie about as soon as they begin to breathe, but few enter the world as dispensers of apothecaries' goods.

The necessity of teaching schoo children something of the current history of the world is insisted upon with much good sense by the Detriot Free Press. The school-boys and girls of to-day, it says, "know infinitely more of the Wars of the Roses and the American Revolution than of the Afghan war or the Franco-Prusslan war, or even the war of the rebellion. Of the threatened war in the East they know nothing; and it is a part of the present system that they shall know nothing. Yet, with a liberal use of the daily paper in place of the reading-books now; in vogue, both boys and girls could get a better ides of the science of government, especially as it is to-day, and would be better informed."

IN a brief synopsis of a public disourse, it is not to be expected that given nor that all the points on which he touches will be stated in that fulness and perspiculty which would be exhibited in a verbatim report. Condensed and imperfect sketches of a sermon ought not, therefore, to be received as authori tative. Neither should arguments or theories be founded upon them. It is not' safe to cite them as proof of any disputed opinion, because however ably written, they are not Good temper is like a summer day, in the precise words of the speaker, the sweetener of toil and soother of and may not convey his meaning disquietude. It sheds a brightness with that degree of exactness which

In illustration of this we will refer to the question of the right to ordain men to the priesthood. As a matter of fact, according to the revelations office in the Melchisedec priesthood on this subject, a man holding an has the authority or power to ordain others, not only to the priesthood that he holds but or Aaronic priesthood. Yet he has not the right to do this of his own choice. The selection of individuals to receive those ordinations is not vested in him. The presiding authorities hold that right, and the branch or Stake, as the case may be, have a voice in the matter. Now, taking the different sides of the sert, or be reported as asserting, the in part. The authority to ordain is vested in the Elder as well as the authority to baptize and confirm. But the Elder must not baptize anyone who has not complied with the he must not ordain an Elder or other presiding over him.

This is the kind that most upon another; one revelation unpeople lobby for when they are folds the truth partially proclaimed in another; one discourse often amplifies and explains another. And to "rightly divide the word of truth" and clearly comprehend it in its fullness, text must be taken with text, revelation with revelation, sermon with sermon, "line upon line, precept upon precept,"

There is a simple subject which we will mention in this connection, because we have heard it frequently cited by persons who think it contains a contradiction. It is declared in the revelation on celestial marriage concerning the sealing power, "there is never but one on the earth at a time on whom this power and the keys of this Priesthood are conferred." This is the President of the Church, who also holds the keys of men officiate in the sealing ceremonles. How is this? Simply that one holds the keys, but others having the same priesthood may administer in the ordinances under his direction; So, while the head of the Church is the only person to receive revelations for the Church as that he wrote the name of T. R. ing the same priesthood may receive revelations in their own sphere, and every member also may be thus enlightened in their several positions and callings, but what they receive is not for a guide to the Church.

These things should be considered from both sides and not judged by a partial view. And so with all the doctrines, rules, regulations, ordinances, gifts and authorities rectly understood, but when only seen imperfectly may appear in a needful to investigate, it is wrong Hamble inquiry will be divinely assisted; boastful contention will be aided from beneath,
