Judge Kinney, U. S. special Indian Commissioner has arrived from Fort Phil. Kearney, where he has been absent six months. About 6,000 warriors composed of Sioux, Cheyennes and Arapahoes are now concentrated north of Fort Phil. Kearney, and demand, as a condition of peace, that the soldiers shall be withdrawn from the country, the posts abandoned and the roads to Virginia city given up. As the country belongs to the Crow Indians, with whom we are at peace, the demands, if complied with, the Judge thinks may suspend but will not settle the difficulty. He apprehends that the next demand will be to suspend work on the Pacific railway, which is being built in this same country without the consent of the Indians. Judge Kinney confirms the report of the attack on Maj. Powell's party, Aug. 2, and is of opinion that there were 2,000 Indians, and that Maj. Powell killed nearly 200.

Acting Indian Commissioner Mix has received the following:—Omaha, Sept. 4. Iron Shell with 180 Indians, arrived on the North Platte to-day; he is from the northern hostile camp. (Signed) H. B. Denman, Supt. Ind. Affairs. By coming into the U. S. post at North Platte, Iron Shell and his band have manifested a desire to cease hostilities.
