

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

SAILING OF MISSIONARIES.—By letter from Elder Wm. H. Miles, dated the 29th ult., we learn that on that day the following named missionaries left New York on board the steamer City of Washington: A. P. Dewey, Lot Smith, Geo. H. Peterson, Geo. H. Easton, and J. Q. Knowlton. They were well and in excellent spirits.

REPENTANT INDIANS.—Brother Dimick R. Huntington reached this city from Sanpete on Monday evening, and brings with him a good report of the Indians. He met and had a talk with about 120 of them at Fort Ephraim, about noon last Saturday. President Orson Hyde, and Bishops Johnson and Peterson, and a good number of the brethren were present during the evening. "Black Hawk" brought the crowd in, among whom was Tam-a-ris, a Shishonee Chief, the one who is known as the rider of the white horse, who has committed most of the murders during the Indian disturbances South, and is regarded as being a much worse man than "Black Hawk" himself. Five of the principal men spoke on the occasion, expressing themselves very humbly and penitently over their past bad deeds, and asking that they must do to be saved. "Black Hawk" said that for four years they had no heart, but now they had got heart, eyes and ears, and could both see and hear. They agreed to protect the settlers, and give them warning when mischief was threatened by marauding Indians, and also agreed to bring in all Indians they could who were still wandering and bent on mischief. "Black Hawk" recommended that a telegram be sent to Quinn-ar-row, at Parowan, for him to send out his own sons to being in the wicked Indians who committed the recent depredations in that neighborhood. During the conversation the Indians wanted to know who was making bad medicine and killing all the rabbits in the valley, as they are dying off in great numbers. Bro. Huntington informed them it was a disease among them.

The Major says he never saw such crops before in Sanpete Valley.

LATE PERIODICALS.—Mr. James Dwyer, of the Railroad News Depot, East Temple street, has brought specimens of the current numbers of "Haney's Journal," "Zell's Cyclopaedia," "Harper's Weekly," "The Wit's Penny," and "Cundy and Whitcomb's five cent series of sheet music," also Frank Leslie's "Illustrated Newspaper," all of which can be obtained at his place of business. Give him a call.

WARNING TO ALL.—The sudden death of Miss Paul, an account of which appeared in our columns yesterday, should be a warning to all, both old and young of the danger of taking cold substances or fluids into the stomach when the body is heated; such a proceeding is most dangerous. Death does not always follow such indulgence, but serious injury does almost invariably. Many people when they are heated think how grateful a drink of ice water or a plate of ice cream could be to them, and if opportunity offered they take it without either or both without the least reflection as to the consequence. There are laws which govern the human organism that can no more be violated with impunity than can the laws by which a steam engine is controlled. Let a stream of cold water be injected into a hot steam boiler when the steam is low and an explosion is almost sure to follow. No sane man who knows anything about a steam boiler, would commit such an act of folly. The human system is controlled by laws which are equally rigid, they must be observed or health and perhaps life will be the penalty. We have known men and women who, intelligent on other subjects, seemed singularly obtuse upon all points connected with the care and management of their bodies, as though they were not the most delicate and finely organized machines in existence; but were capable of sustaining any amount of abuse without injury. Such people are only apt to learn their mistakes when it is too late to profit by the knowledge. It is time that the laws which govern man's organization should be understood, and the rising generation be taught that his one of the highest duties of religion is to take care of the tabernacles which God has given them. When these are understood and observed, and not till then, may we hope to become a healthy people.

A SQUAW AND HER PAPPOOSE MURDERED.—On the morning of Saturday last, on Mill Creek, close by the Church pasture, about five miles from this city, a squaw and pappoose were found dead in the same ditch, the throat of the squaw being cut in four places and her brains knocked out. About three feet from her head lay her pappoose, with a scar across its throat and stabbed in the breast. An Indian, said to be a chief, went down to the spot on Saturday afternoon and said something about a white man having once hit a short time after a squaw went into the house of Bro. Thomas Howard, the man who discovered the bodies, and said "white man had done it, and he would kill him." There was an Indian camp close by, but they moved off during the day. We have since been informed that the man who was murdered was one of the wives of an Indian who died recently, and that she had in some way or other incurred the hate of a son of her husband, and it was he who was referred to as the "big pappoose," whom the squaw accused of being the murderer. An Indian, named "Indiana Jim," supposed to have been the one who committed the deed, has been implicated in the transaction, has been arrested and is now in jail, awaiting further developments.

THE GLASS BLOWERS.—Last night there was a beautiful and interesting exhibition of the glass blower's art in the 13th Ward Assembly Rooms, which seemed to surprise and delight the audience. Decanters, tumblers, pipes, birds of paradise and other beautiful specimens of art were blown on the spot, some of which were presented to the holders of tickets having the lucky numbers, distributed among the audience. To-night the exhibition will be repeated, and all desiring to have a couple of hours of delightful amusement should visit the Assembly Rooms this evening.

LAKE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—By letter from Elder Geo. Nebeker to Elder Wilford Woodruff, which has been kindly handed to us to make extracts from, we learn that the prospects of success as the result of the Elders' labors on the plantation are much more encouraging than they have been. Bro. Nebeker says:

"The native brethren have improved some of late in their habits and also in their appearance. We have had from thirty to sixty of them working for us for the last six months, and some of them at very heavy work, and with few exceptions, they have fulfilled their agreements like men. Our meetings are very well attended by those living near by, and our little congregation is increasing in size and also in appearance. Twelve have been added to our number recently by baptism on the farm. We are now near done grinding for this season, and have taken off about one hundred tons of sugar and a large quantity of molasses, already. The molasses has been shipped to and sold in San Francisco, which has kept us all very busy the past winter. We have also cultivated and enlarged our crop so that we have the prospect for twice the amount of cane next season that we had last season and will commence grinding in October next. Our mode of employing and working the natives differs very much from our neighbors, the planters, and the result is we accomplish more and with less trouble, and in this we have attracted the attention of numbers, and many congratulate us on our success, and say that 'Mormonism' when applied to a cane field is no humbug. The rules we grind with look better than when we commenced, and they get no attention except to be turned into the pasture when not at work. I expect to start the last of June with a few tons of sugar and molasses for home. I think from what I learn that we can furnish our friends sugar cheaper than they can get it elsewhere. Jesse Harmon, a son of Jesse Harmon, of Salt Lake City, called on me the other day and is now in Honolulu; his friends perhaps would like to hear from him."

CARTELLO'S CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE.—Dan Castello's Circus and Menagerie left this city for the north early on the morning of the fourth instant, having given, during its stay here, six evening performances and three matinees, all of which were largely patronized. Probably no performance ever given in this city were better patronized or met with a larger degree of success than those of this circus. We expected they would draw, but we were not prepared to see them maintain their popularity throughout the entire week as they did. The crowded audiences which were present on the occasion of each performance spoke more highly than words could of the estimation in which the public held the entertainment. Everything connected with the performances was attractive, and of a first-class character; there was nothing that could shock the sensibilities of the most fastidious of riders. They possessed the charm of novelty for our people, for thousands had never seen anything of the kind, and those who had witnessed such entertainments elsewhere enjoyed these with a zest that must have been encouraging to the performers. The feats of horsemanship were remarkably fine; it is seldom that as good riding can be seen in any country, and then Castello was a horse in himself, his vaulting, his exhibitions of his trained horse, his "whopper" of a horse "January," and his trained mules, so apt at discriminating between the good, moral boys, and those of the opposite character, and his witty and humorous remarks, all show the first-class artist and made him a universal favorite here. Dan, Jr., gives promise, if he lives and meets with no accident, of being "a chip of the old block." These entertainments cannot fail to give satisfaction to the public wherever they are witnessed. After this there is no use for any one whose circus comes here with an expectation of securing patronage. Dan Castello has ruined the prospects of all such. It is with them about theatres and theatrical performances—they must be first-class to obtain patronage. Since our Theatre has been opened, and the people have witnessed the representations by the first-class performers which have trodden its boards, they have become very discriminating and critical, and no theatrical performance that is not really good is received with favor, and performers must be excellent in their line to be well received. We are pleased that this is so, and on this account we have been gratified at seeing Dan Castello and his Circus and Menagerie here, as we have reason to believe the door is now sufficiently closed to "cheap shows" of which there are so many in the country.

Through Freight without Transfer.

This Line is operated by the Michigan Central, Illinois Central, Baltimore and Ohio, and Quincey; Chicago and Alton; Great Western of Canada; New York Central; Hudson River; Boston and Albany; New Haven and Worcester; Worcester and Nashua; House of Representatives; and other lines.

THE "BLUE LINE" is the only route that offers to shippers of freight the advantages of an unbroken gauge of track from Chicago and the Mississippi river to the seaboard, and is of the SAME GAUGE AS THE UNION PACIFIC, over which these cars will run on completion of that road.

THE BLUE LINE CARS

are ALL OF THE UNION BUILD, and are largely composed of steel from the best of a mixed construction, and the consequent difficulty of repairs while remote from their own shops.

The Blue Line is operated by the Railroad Companies who own it, without the intervention of intermediate parties between the Roads at Line and the other.

The facilities of the line for making transfers are unequalled.
