Farming—Improvements—Mails—
School, etc.PLYMOUTH, Box Elder, Co.,
June —, 1876.

Editor Deseret News:

After the long winter we have had, everything looks well in this part of the Territory. Grain is looking well. There are some trying dry farming here, and their grain looks well. There is plenty of land here for farms. The missionaries here have finished putting in grain for this season and have commenced work upon the ditch for the purpose of taking out the Malad river. They are in good heart at present. There are parties here digging for coal. They have found some that will burn, and think they will find a ledge before long that will pay. The people are looking forward for better times, because they think that the country will be developed in more than one way. We have a post office here, and we have our mail regularly three times a week, so that we can hear what is going on in the world at large. We have a very good Sunday school here, in which everybody takes an interest for the benefit of the young and rising generation. Respectfully yours

W. P.

Editor Deseret News:

On the 7th of this month, Brothers Young and Hardy were here, held meeting and organized a Young Men's mutual Improvement Association, and the following brethren were elected and unanimously voted for, as officers of the association—President, Miron S. Roundy; First Counselor, Wallace W. Roundy; Second Counselor, William P. Willis; Secretary, Rufus A. Allen.

Not knowing how soon some of us may be called to go to foreign lands to teach those who are ignorant of the way to salvation, we as Latter-day Saints should improve each moment in doing something that will be for our own good and for the good of others. The Y. M. M. I. A. is to try and draw the young people's minds to something which will be useful to us at present and in future time.

If we could realize the future as we should, we would feel different from what a good many of us do. We would attend meetings more regularly and would study good books and not speak light of that which is sacred.

RUFUS A. ALLEN.

Editor Deseret News:

A few years since while traveling in Georgia, a woman by the name of Morris and one by the name of Wansley, received my testimony in relation to the gospel, and not long after, these sisters, with their families, removed to Prairie County, Arkansas, near Des Arc, and began to talk their religion to their neighbors. They wrote to me for books and papers, and continued to ask me to come or send some one to preach to them. After reading my DESERET NEWS, I put a stamped wrapper, one cent, around such papers as contained sermons, and sent them away. This I continued for several years, all the time trying to get some passing Elders to call on them, and did finally succeed in getting Bros. Boyle and McAllister to go, and when they reached the place they found many people hungering for a knowledge of God. These silent preachers, the NEWS and other publications, had done a good work, and these Elders, with the aid of the two sisters, have lately brought into the church by baptism a goodly number and organized a large branch of the church there.

I write this principally to induce the Saints to send the NEWS the Juvenile and other such publications to their friends abroad, instead of tearing them up for wrapping paper, &c. The government has done all we can ask in the way of cheap postage, and it does seem to me that good Saints should not waste these heralds of truth when so much good might be done with them at so small an outlay.

Again I propose that we make a new effort to save the million of dollars we pay out for worthless articles annually, that only help us to violate the word of wisdom, and thereby violate the laws of life. Let us turn these means to higher and holier purposes, and thereby gain to ourselves treasures that shall not be taken from us.

Most respectfully your fellow-laborer.
J. W. CROSBY.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

—The Chicago Journal of Commerce remarks—"If some of the 'business men' who have settled with their creditors now two or three times for ten, fifteen, or twenty cents on a dollar, would put what they have saved from their failures into a little farm, and would work it, they might not only get a living, but also soon make another payment on what they owe."

—An enemy of the profession proposes that to every death notice be appended the name of the doctor who attended the deceased.

—This is for the girls, young or not so young—"No trait of character is more valuable than the possession of a good temper. Home can never be made happy without it. It is like flowers springing up in our pathway, reviving and cheering us. Kind words and looks are the outward demonstrations; patience and forbearance are the sentiments within."

—A New Englander talks in this style—"In the assessment roll of my district, on a line of road half a mile in extent, there are seven residents, nine dogs, and a tax-payer. And with a full knowledge of the dogs, I believe they are better characters than their masters."

—William Cullen Bryant says he has written no Centennial ode, nor will he this year. Perhaps he remembers Lanier. But Bryant told the Young Women's Christian Association, at New York, lately, that if they would meet him nineteen years hence, when he would be as old as the nation is this year, he would give them such a Centennial ode as had never before been written.

—Mrs. Livermore is lecturing to the Californians on "A Nobler Womanhood." Mrs. L. objects to the two extreme conditions of womanhood—as man's slave, and as his idol, both conditions being unjust. That "nobler womanhood" is one of the admirable things we are looking for.

—Instead of waiting for something to turn up, go to work and turn up something, if it is only the oil, for there is health and wealth in that, and there is neither in loafing around.

—A western exchange talks of 'more derelict divines,' five of 'hem.—Rev. G. M. Davis, of Lincoln, Ill.; Rev. B. Benn, Presbyterian, Storm Lake, Iowa; Rev. L. D. Parker, Presiding Elder, Methodist Church, Eastern Kentucky; the pastor of a church in West Amboy, N.Y.; and the Rev. J. J. Thompson, a Presbyterian evangelist of Washington, D. C. There was a woman in each and every case. The West Amboy man blamed the woman entirely, said she gave him "ove powders," and he couldn't help it at all.

—A California paper has the following, dated Washington, May 22nd—"It is reported Grant said to Kellogg if he (Kellogg) were discharging his duties at home instead of being here asking for troops, peace would be maintained. The President added, with some vehemence, that he was tired of being annoyed with Louisiana affairs and did not want to be perplexed with them any more, and hoped Kellogg would attend to his duty. Ex-officers of the State of Louisiana here regard the rebuking as just."

—The stage pays better than the pulpit, the Methodist appears to think, for it remarks that Edwin Booth made over $50,000 on his recent southern tour of a few weeks, while eighty pastors, who preached a year in the Methodist conference, received only $45,000 for that period. It might not be difficult to find eighty actors who have not received more for a year.
