When to the trials of semi-starva-tion, which so many of the poor in the Old World endure, are added the rivors of winter and the sight of affluence and extravagance in vivid contrast to hunger, cold and wretchedness, it is not surprising that desperation should seize upon the masses of men assem-bled to discuss their grievances and utter their complaints. And it only Burns to influence their minds against the rich, and to make them believe that the rich, and to make them believe that there should be some partition of the abundance which the few enjoy to the exclusion of the many. There is no reason in a mob, and the scenes that were enacted on Monday in the Heitish metropolis show how inadequate is any ordinary police power to cope with the popu-lace when roused into fary. The police power to cope with the popu-lace when roused into fory. The police power to cope with the popu-lace when roused into fury. The poverty in London is but an indication of the general distress among working classes. It is only a short time since five thousand of the unemployed met on Glasgow Green in Scotland, and the plea of strong men for work which they could not obtain was theartrending. Similar meetings have been held in various parts of England, and the incapacity of the ordinary methods to afford relief has

The Chinese question is one thing, the lawless attempts to solve it are another. No matter how serious that question may appear to many people, they have no right to attempt its solution by brute force." And when it is used as in Seattle, though not with such murderous violence as at Rock Springs, the strong arm of the powers that be ought to be stretched forth in an unmistakable manner for the enforcement of law and the protection of

"Oh! but," they say, "Jesus brought a new dispensation." Well, his record appears to approve of only cellbacy, and our Senate does not appear to take kindly to that—not as a body. And then, as I say, it is to Jehovah, and not to Jesus, that the chaplain of our Sen-ate prays; and an unchangeable God can hardly have changed his mind— and his friends—since the olden days. Men may grow in wisdom; but can an infinite God learn morals from the C. F. Cleveland? The latter centleman, as well as the Senate, professes to believe in and worship Jebovah, and so long as they do so, the Mormon members have all the argument and logic on their side. So long as they do so, the Edmunds bill and the President's message will be absurdities, and will be looked upon by all fair-minded people as un-fair persecution of the most consistent followers on earth, to-day, of Jeho-vah, the God of the Bible. One other thing in the Edmunds bill that impresses me as a singular piece of inconsistency, is this: The bill is supposed to be an effort in behalf of the dignity and honor of womanhood. It is not the men Mr. Edmunds hopes or expects to "save" from the degra-dation of irregular marital relations. Mr. Edmunds is neither a blind man nor a lunatic, and he knows that so far

His body was found danging from a common halter in the morning. The regulators prepared the attack with great care. Guards were placed on every street leading to the fail. The jailer's wile rang the alarm bell and many citizens tried to reach the jail, but were pulled up by the six shooters. Garrett was arrested, for disturbing a Christmas tree festival at Snockley, Prairie, Deputy Sheriff Hars kindly permitted him to visit his home before going to fail, whereupon Garrett State papers before which appeared to be on neither side of the fonce; but in shis one Mr. Cleveland's feet are so far from the ground on either side, that his position approaches the ridiculous. CHICAGO, 9.-Judge Rogers, in the circuit court this morning, decided that the will executed by Wilbur F. Storey, late owner of the Chicago Times, in February, 1891, is valid, and directed that it he admitted to probate. The matter was heard on appeal from the probate court. The will was con-tested by blood heirs on three grounds, want of testamentary capacity, undue influence, and the instrument set being properly, witnessed. The sourt held that the testator was of sound mind before and after the will was drawn and that there was no evidence of imof a question at the same time. I say "or a Senate," for while the Senate is in no way responsible for the position in which the President has placed himsolf, it is engaged (and was last win-ter) in an equally absurd and incon-sistent undertaking. I stepped into the Senate chamber last winter in time to hear the chaplain, whom they are pleased to employ quote the wisdom of Solomon and of fer a prayer to Jehovah. Then the Senate took up the Edmunds bill against the Mormons! No-body seemed to see the absordity of the situation of quoting the wisdom of the most jumerously before and after the will was drawn and that there was no evidence of im-proper influence and that the will was legally attested. There is no room to question the fact that Solomon was a "Mormon" --- a polygamist. There is no question that most, if not all, of the "prophets" were the same. The men who. In regard to the stone throwing at the Carlon Club, Sparling said the members of that body had brought the attack upon themselves by appearing at the windows and langh-ing and jeering at the mob. In ex-planation of the rough treatment to which a lady had been subjected by the rioters, he said her carriage had been stopped because the lady was heard to order her coachman to "drive over those dogs."
