DAMAGE BY CLOUDBURSTS.

Damages to the extent of several thousand dollars was the result of two distinct cloudbursts which occurred in the foothills above this city last Saturday afternoon. Torrents of water rolled down the ravines in a mad rush, carrying everything in their path working wreck and ruin to all, obworking wreek and run to art. ob-stacles in the way, many acres in crops were destroyed and numerous irriga-tion ditches demolished. No lives are reported lost, but E. J. They managed to do so by jumping from their rig and climbing up the side of the hill. Their team and buggy were washed down with the swift current and the buggy completely demolished and one of the horses drowned. Following upon the hels of the flood came a conveyance bringing on a cot to a local hospital Mrs. W. J. Hefler of Idaho City. The torrents had washed such holes the road that it was necessary for the men in attendance to place the patient upon a stretcher and carry her for several miles, while wading at inter-vals in water waist deep. The woman had two convulsions en route. Her lit-tle baby, to which she had recently given birth, was literally thrown with its nurse from the wagon into the water, but both were rescued without serious injury.

CHEAP COAL FOR BOISE.

Hi Henry, who is performing active coal mining operations in the Horse-shoe Bend country, 50 miles above Boise, was in this city a few days ago and reported a very successful run at his mine. He is taking out 20 car loads of coal every day, he says, and will soon be able to place coal in Boise at from $5 to $6 a ton.

ROBERT SHEPHERD'S LITTLE BOY DROWNED

(Special Correspondence.) PARIS, Bear Lake Co., June 21.--P Another gloom has been cast over our little town by the drowning of Robert Shepherd's three-year-old son who fell into a canal that passes near their home Saturday afternoon. His body had floated about a mile and a half down stream before it was found. This is the second death by drowning during the past week, both having been small boys and drowned in the same canal. Funeral services were held this afternoon in the Second ward hall and were largely attended. The floral offerings were beautiful. The speakers were Robert Wallantine, President W. W. Richards, Blshop, Orrin P, Miller of Salt Lake and Bishop Robert Price. Another gloom has been cast over
