

MAGAZINE PRINTS CHURCH HISTORY

American Historical Magazine
Has Able Article by Brigham
H. Roberts.

COMES AT OPPORTUNE TIME.

Period of Investigation Along Lines of Religious Thought Indicated in Current Literature.

At a time without doubt the most strikingly opportune in its existence, the Church is to have its history presented to a thoughtful and scholarly public in a series of magazine articles. The circulation of this magazine is to a class of readers which is only reached by a medium of the highest type. In the July number of the American Historical Magazine, the official journal of the American Historical society, and each month thereafter for two years, will appear a history of the Church by Brigham H. Roberts, and in his best style.

The various steps which led to the publication of this article, form, of themselves, an interesting story. Last year appeared in the Tribune of this city what was denominated a treatise on the origin of the Book of Mormon. It was from the pen of Theodore Schroeder, formerly of this city. It transpired that the Tribune was reproducing these articles appearing in the American Historical Magazine, written by Schroeder. Through some extended correspondence the privilege of replying to these articles by Schroeder was accorded by Mr. Roberts and in four installments he answered them in masterly style, the last of the series of replies appearing in the March number of the Magazine for this year. In extending the privilege to reply, coupled with it was a requirement that the articles be in keeping with the literary standard of the publication. The publication of the series of articles by Mr. Roberts was a delicate acknowledgment of the excellence of Mr. Roberts' literary style.

CHURCH HISTORY REQUESTED.

These four articles overturned whatever ideas in regard to the Book of Mormon had been implanted in the mind of the readers of the Magazine by the personal of the Schroeder articles, the latter's revival of the Spaulding story and others of familiar type being met with convincing facts stated with the intimate acquaintance of a subject with which, perhaps, few are more familiar than Mr. Roberts. The impression created by the replies in the minds of the reading public, and publishers and the president of the American Historical society resulted in correspondence in which an exhaustive history of the Church was requested from Mr. Roberts. It resulted first in a visit to New York, where the

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than in all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH CURE, Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally, in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. Its acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Magazine is published, and then to the consummation of the arrangements for early publication of the history. Steel engravings and photographs will be artistic features of the articles, as is shown in artistic proofs just received from the publishers. Mr. Roberts is impressed with the fact that at this time far more than any other the publication of such a history is opportune. He points to the fact that questions involving higher religious philosophy are absorbing the attention of some of the foremost thinkers and writers in the nation, citing the recently completed articles of Harold Bolce on the present trend of university teaching, as only one example. It will be his special effort to set out the doctrine of Divine guidance in material things, that God communes with or reveals Himself to man today, and that man may seek and receive Divine guidance now as well as in past ages; that the Imminence of God is today recognized, whereas when it was proclaimed by the Prophet Joseph Smith in his writings and in his sermons, it was cast aside with the declaration that such things were of the past and were to come no more.

A PSYCHOLOGICAL MOVEMENT.

The time is now arrived, Mr. Roberts believes, when students of historical development in America must recognize the agency of Mormonism. Aside from its theology, it must be subjected in the abstract to a critical analysis of the philosopher as a cause for many things which have marked the development of the nation, and as an agency which has spread across the seas and has reached into all lands inhabited by man. And aside from this consideration is the one equally significant: Mormonism through the Book of Mormon as translated from the golden plates hidden within the hill Cumorah presents the true history of the two American continents and their peoples; that it explains in the only way that may be accepted many questions in the progress of man and the spreading of the tribes from the older world. In his history Mr. Roberts will consider the development of Mormonism in its many stages. The treatise will be the nature of it, close many open links in the chain of American history, also linking the doctrine of Mormonism with the development of philosophical thought.

The American Historical Magazine is far from one of what have come to be known as "popular magazines." It is a publication read by a scholarly and deep-thinking class; its lists of subscribers containing the names of some of the most eminent thinkers of the day, and its contributors being men noted for their attainments in many higher branches of thought.

RIFLED CANDY MACHINES.

D. Daniels, an Electrician, is Surprised While at Work in Theater.

D. Daniels, giving his age as 29 years and occupation an electrician, and who has shown an adeptness in the art of rifling slot machines, was caught in the act of robbing the candy slot machine in the Majestic theater on east First Street this morning, and is now in custody.

Daniels was detected in his work by Dan Leed, agent for the machines, and William Jones, and was promptly arrested by them and taken to the station. Daniels' method of operation has been to slip into the theaters during the morning hours when the janitors are cleaning the house, with a skeleton key open the candy slot machines fixed on the backs of the chairs, and the dimes dropped in by the customers for the candy.

Daniels had been under suspicion for some time and last night Mr. Leed dropped in several of the boxes, number of dimes were kept, and Daniels was caught in the act of opening the boxes. While at his work he was grabbed by the two men, and at the police station several of the marked dimes were found in his possession.

INTERESTING FEATURES BY GYMNASIAC CLASSES

Physical Education Portrayed by Men and Women at University Yesterday.

There was a large attendance at the university last evening to witness the exhibition of the pupils taking the physical course, which was given in the gymnasium. About 60 students participated in the exercises, which were such as are carried out in the daily classes. Most of the work was under direction of Dr. W. G. Anderson of Yale, who has had charge of the physical work for the last two seasons. Several of the exhibitions were also given by Professor Jacob Bolin, the Swedish gymnast, and Miss Martha Johnson of the city schools.

The work of the evening began with club swinging by the senior class, which was followed by tactics and free gymnastics by the junior class. Both of these classes were under the direction of Dr. Anderson. An exhibition of folk dancing and apparatus work for women was given under the direction of Miss Martha Johnson of the city schools. She also directed several clever school dances, entitled the "Flea Bon body dance," and "Cinderella." The exhibition of Swedish educational gymnastics given by Professor Jacob Bolin was as interesting as anything presented during the evening. Apparatus work for men was followed by "Wolver" dance, called "The Gilbert dance." The evening closed with an exhibition of apparatus work given by the city schools. The exhibition was given by Mr. McNeice. As the class has been running only three weeks, a still better exhibition is looked for at the close of the school in three weeks.

ATTORNEY GENERAL WHO PROSECUTES THE SUGAR TRUST.

The practical confession of the sugar trust that it was guilty, duly under the Sherman law in its compromised suit with the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company has caused the department of justice to begin a careful study of the evidence with a view of possible commencement of criminal proceedings. President Taft is much interested in the case and has directed Attorney General Wickersham to go to the bottom of it. George H. Earle, Jr., receiver of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, recently stated that he would not lay his evidence before the department of justice, alleging that he made strenuous efforts some time ago, without success, to interest former Attorney General Bonaparte in the matter.

CATCHING MONKEYS BY HUMANE METHOD

Their Thirst and Appetite Lead Them To a Life of Captivity in The Gay Circus.

A famous animal man was telling recently how wild animals are captured for the great Sells-Floto circus. Monkeys, he says, are captured by whole-sale in the Sudan by a simple device. First, all the drinking places in a given region are covered with thorny bushes except one. In this way the monkeys are concentrated, when thirsty, at one spot. Corn is strewn on the ground near the drinking place, and the monkeys have grown partial to that spot, an enormous cage, similar to the thatched huts used by the native Sudanese, is carried to it in the dead of night. One side of the cage is propped up on a stake. The daily allowance of corn is then strewn inside the cage. This is repeated for several days, until the monkeys have no hesitation in entering the cage. Then, at night, a long cord is attached to the stake, the cord is covered with the desert sand, and extends to the hiding place of the hunters. Presently a troop of monkeys appears, confidently enters the cage, and begins to eat the corn there. The hunters then pull are cord, the stake falls, and the monkeys are driven forward, forcing them to the ground by means of long sticks, enter the cage and bind the prisoners. The Sells-Floto circus will bring to Salt Lake City, next Monday, the finest variety of monkeys ever seen here in connection with their attractive zoo features.

BUSY IN LIBERTY PARK.

Preparing for a Big Time Next Monday.

Preparations for a big day at Liberty park are being made by the park keeper, Mr. Heath, who has a large force of men at work cutting and hauling the hay, erecting a steel flag pole 60 feet high and making a temporary platform for those who will take part on the program. Benches and tables that have been set aside are to be put in repair and brought into service for the crowd.

Mayor Bradford, members of the city council, and other city officials have indicated a willingness to cooperate with the committee having the matter in hand to bring about a sane and sensible observance of the anniversary of the nation's birthday. Crackers and other explosives are to be forbidden in the park on that day and every precaution taken to prevent any accident to the children and to the mobiles and carriages will be expected to remain on the outer driveway. The center drive and cross drives will be kept open for the children and the soldiers during the parade. Ropes will be stretched around the large lawn south of the band stand so that the exhibition of the soldiers from the fort can be given without interference and yet be seen by all.

The steel flag pole, situated in the center of the parade ground surmounted by a large flag. This, of course, is set up permanently and will be in use for the G. A. R. in August. An effort will be made to get the circus to parade through the park immediately following the program so that those who do not go to the business section for the purpose.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Yesterday Miss Viola Burrell and T. William Jones were married in the Temple and in the evening a large reception was held at the home of the bride, the rooms being beautifully decorated with white roses, lilies and palms, and with festoons of white paper twined with pink and white sweet peas reaching from the chandeliers to the four corners. The dining room was also in pink and white, sweet peas being used throughout. The bride wore a gown of white lace over tulle and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaids, Misses Emma Abbott, Grace Burrell and Gertrude Clayton, wore each in pink and carried bouquets of sweet peas. Mr. Fred Crabbe was best man. Three little girls, Rachel Burrell, Doris and Violet Wisney, had charge of the wedding cake. Music was furnished by the Hawaiian troubadours and assisting during the evening were Mrs. Sam Burrell, Mrs. Burrell, Mrs. Pingbury, the Misses Ruth Everett, Bell Abbott, Bessie Held, Georgia and Polly Reynolds, Ida Mitchell, Ella Tresser, Vera Wisney, Lily Linholm, Miss Norma Jamerson, E. L. Burrell, Mrs. George Felt, and Miss Vera Felt. After July 15, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will be at home to their friends at Tenth avenue between I and J streets.

A number of parties are made up for the performance of Margaret Whitney's opera, "The Sub," tonight at Whitney Hall.

Lieut. and Mrs. Kneeland L. Snow entertain at a dancing party at the post this evening in honor of Miss Storm who will be married early in the autumn.

Miss Ruth Cooper has issued invitations for a patriotic party to be given on Saturday, July 3, at her home.

Another wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Lila Parrell and Montgomery Elliott, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Parrell, by Rev. P. A. Simpkins, in the presence of the immediate families, and a wedding breakfast following, the table being prettily decorated and covers laid for the two families. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott have gone to Bingham to reside.

Miss Emma Holberg and Dr. Frank L. Gower were among yesterday's bridal couples, Rev. P. A. Simpkins performing the ceremony at the home of the bride's brother, Thomas Holberg, in the presence of the near relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Gower left

Our Semi-Annual Clearance Sale Provides more Unmatched Economies

This event has but one purpose—to quickly convert merchandise into money. To do this, we have cut prices deeply. This sale has proved, by the enthusiastic crowds that have bought liberally since it started, to be the greatest bargain distribution of the season. It's an occasion distinguished by opportunities for totally unprecedented and unequalled money-savings on seasonable goods.

Our present stocks must be radically reduced and the time to clear counters, shelves and tables is all too short. We must work quickly, cut prices ruthlessly and sell largely.

When this sale ends, we aim to have bidden good-bye to a vast majority of these goods. This clearance sale enables us to start seasons with new stocks—and gives you price-savings not obtainable elsewhere or here at any other time.

Dr. and Mrs. Orson Howard leave this evening for Long Beach to spend the summer.

The residents of the Miller flats arranged a delightful surprise for Mrs. Miller on Monday night in celebration of her birthday anniversary, the affair being in the way of a dinner, at which covers were laid for about 50. The table was laid in the arbor and the decorations and after the feasting, a minstrel show was given by the men of the party with Dr. John Q. Critchlow directing.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Salisbury are home from their wedding trip and are at home for a time at the home of Mrs. Margaret E. Salisbury.

Mrs. F. L. Oswald and Miss Hazel Oswald leave shortly for Long Beach to spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Harris, of St. Louis, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Needham.

A PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT.

"June Rose Time" Presented to Large Audience Despite Oppressive Heat.

"June Rose Time" was a success at the Salt Lake Theater last night and the pretty program as carried out by the Junior and St. Cecilia choirs of St. Mary's cathedral, was a delight throughout to the large audience which attended despite the oppressive heat. The concert was given in honor of the Rev. Laurence Scanlan, and was by the direction of Miss Nora Gleason. Sixty children participated in the program, some of them not more than three years of age. The pretty children and their sweet voices were delightful features of the evening. The dancing of the Cronia sisters of Ogden was much appreciated. The ribbon drill by children from St. Mary's academy was a pretty number and the solo by Ruth Kileen was very well received. A Scotch dance was given by Viola Service, Bessie Service, Sadie Stevenson and Ivy Williams to bagpipe accompaniment, and was one of the unique features of the program. At the conclusion of the program, Bishop Scanlan addressed the participants, presenting ing gold crosses to those taking part. Roses were distributed by thirty girls in white. The proceeds of the entertainment go to the organ fund of St. Mary's.
