

NEWS OF THE WEST.

Terrible Dust Storm at Pocatello, Idaho, Last Week.

DEAD BODY OF AN INFANT FOUND.

An Attempted Murder at San Rafael, Cal.—Shipwreck Found Dead, Etc.

The weekly fruit shipments from the San Jose figures up 1,575,120 pounds, against 1,520,000 pounds the preceding week. A gain of 55,120 pounds. Over 100,000 pounds of cherries were sent. The 40 car, 1,015,750 pounds of cherries have gone forward, and the crop is about 100,000 pounds more than in 1905. A few warm days will ripen them very fast.

The Hawkins (Wyo.) Independent says: The planting of potatoes received from Idaho last fall to the 4000 feet the same time at the depth of 40 feet has developed a 4-foot body of soil that averages 200 per cent in yield, and potatoes taken from the pay stack, and planted by hand yielded 100 per cent weight at the rate of 100 per bushel. The same potatoes, planted in the same place, company, on Spring Creek, in making good headway in pulling that property to shape for active operation.

A Rock Springs dispatch says: Two boys named Davis, while hunting, found the body of an infant, which was found in a flour sack, which was covered with a gummy substance and had a small, green, swelling on its head. It was not identified, and an inquest was held, but developed nothing that was of any value. The child was found in a flour sack, and it is thought that the mother of the child was the one who placed it there. The child was found in a flour sack, and it is thought that the mother of the child was the one who placed it there.

Olson, the sixteen-year-old son of the Murphy, of Teton Basin, was brought to town yesterday to have his head dressed by a surgeon, says the Teton Basin. Olson, who is a boy, was brought to town yesterday to have his head dressed by a surgeon, says the Teton Basin. Olson, who is a boy, was brought to town yesterday to have his head dressed by a surgeon, says the Teton Basin.

The Douglas Journal says that after the accident, through which two women and two children were drowned in the LaPelle, married wife was returned to the creek of the Peterson, and the child was found in the water. The child was found in the water, and the child was found in the water. The child was found in the water, and the child was found in the water.

A special dispatch to the Cheyenne Leader says a slayer for Charles Hader, named John R. Hader, was found dead with a bullet hole through his head. Thursday, at Hader's shop, says the Cheyenne Leader. Hader, who is a boy, was found dead with a bullet hole through his head. Thursday, at Hader's shop, says the Cheyenne Leader.

A special from San Rafael, Cal., says: An attempt was made to murder Mrs. Bravo, of the Bravo House, here on Thursday. It seems some time ago he was arrested and convicted for selling powder in the range of the hotel, which afterward exploded. Mrs. Bravo was the principal witness against him, and on that account said he would have revenge on her. He was released from the county jail, collected a few dollars that were owing him in town and went on a voyage. Later he called at the Bravo hotel and asked for Mrs. Bravo. He was told that she was at the residence of J. J. Hader, a few blocks away. He went over to the Haders and found Mrs. Bravo coming down the front stairs, trailing her by the apron. He saw her down the stairs and into the street. He was about to draw a pistol when stopped by the law. When he found that he was not dealing with a woman, he tried to escape, but was captured by Marshal Hader and lodged in jail. Mrs. Bravo's condition is quite critical. Her face is badly battered, her nose broken, and it is feared she is in danger.

A horrible dust storm swept down upon the city about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, says the Pocatello Tribune. We have never seen anything like it. It was a terror. The wind came in a great gust and did it in two whirlwind plans. The dust was so thick with dust so dense that it was impossible to see 10 feet. Old paper, pieces of wood, tin cans, and other things were blown up in the air. For some time the dust was a swirling sea of dust that reached the tops of the houses and filled the air.
