Dam Again Washed Ou

We had the pleasure of a call thi this morning from President E. D. Woolley, of the Kanab Stake, who is persons will arrive in this city from up trom his home in the South for the Provo, and transacting business. He reports a general time of health and prosperity in his diocese, with an exceptional calamity at Kanab. He has learned by letter written from there on the 3d inst., that the patient but sorely afflicted people of that burg have met with another of those reverses by which they have been almost years. It will be remembered that the dam: in the creek at that place by which the water was turned SEVERAL members of the family of into a causi for irrigating the fields, was washed away last summer and the bed of the creek gullled appear before the grand jury. Vermillion Park is a fine little valley, chiefly owned by Seegmiller and Woolley, but Bishop Robinson and two phia, the Girard Insurance Company, of the Roundy brothers also have ranches there, and dairying and stockraising are the chief pursuits of its inhabitants, though several thousand and the National Fire Insurance Com- bushels of grain are also raised there. annually. A new steam saw mill is being built by Jolley, Woolley & Co., on the "divide," five miles west of Vermillion Park, where there is an abundance of long-leafed pine, and from which point they expect to ship their lumber into the Sevier Valley, northward, and southward into Long Valley and Kanab, and even to the settlements along the Rio Virgen, for a market.

An enterprise of some importance is being inaugurated on the Kanab Creek about three miles below Vermillion Park, in the nature of reservoir-building by F. B. Woolley & Co., and if they succeed, as they hope to, in storing water by this means during the season when it is plentiful to irrigate some of the patches of excellent land found in the narrow valleys traversed by that creek, others intend to follow their example, and thus the means of living for one hundred more families will be provided for. The result of this experiment will be watched with interest, and it may lead to similar enterprises in other paris of the Territory.

Bad Blood.-This morning a trial which was held in the Police Court, revealed a very unpleasant state of feeling between a couple of business Jas. Lucas, green grocer, J. L. Sudden Death.-We learn with re-

An Infernal Machine. About 8 o'clock this morning a boy cagaged in Newcomb's photograph gallery on Second South Street, found on the stairway leading to that establishment an innocent-looking starch box which, upon examination, was found to have a hole in one side of it, with a partially consumed candle projecting from

it. On opening it, the thing was found to be a veritable infernal machine. In the centre was a three pound lard bucket almost full of some substance supposed to be an explosive, purpose of attending Conference at while surrounding it were chips, paper and sulphur to fill the box up and all saturated with kerosene. The candle had evidently burned for some little time, but just after the flame had reached the box and commenced to burn the wood it had been extinguished by some means. Who placed it there or what the motive, has not yet been found out, but the deputies impoverished during the past few are investigating the affair.

Released from the Pen.-To-day Brothers D. E. Davis, Chas. Seal, Andrew W. Cooley and Isaac Groo were brought down from the penitentiary, they having served their full term of imprisonment and 30 days extra because of the fine imposed upon them. The first three were released upon taking the required oath, but Mr. Groo, when being examined as to the amount of property owned by him, stated that he had an interest in a ranch in Wyoming valued at $500, the title to which had not yet been perfected. This, it was claimed by the District Attorney, was not exempt from execution, and after hearing the question argued, Commissioner McKay took it under advisement, and at 4 p. m. had not rendered a decision as to whether Mr. Groo could be released without payment of the fine or not. All of the brethren are in the best of spirits, and, of course, are pleased at again being at liberty, as we are to greet them, after having been immured in prison for refusing to renounce a principle of their religion. Two others, C. L. White and John Connelly, will be released to-morrow.

Fatal Accident .- A fatal accident occurred at a small station on the line of the Utah Central, in Millard Co., last evening, the following particulars [of which were sent by Mr. J. E. Ciinton, the agent on that division, tolthe general office in this city:

"Last night No. 1 train stopped at Neels as usual, south of the tank, as they do not take water there, only when really necessary. Just before the train was ready to start (a strong south was ready to start (a strong south wind was blowing), the engineer concluded he would not have water enough to carry them to Black Rock, so rang the bell to back up to the tank. Just at this time Henry McCardell, foreman of section 37, was coming in with a hand car, and it is believed from the evidence that fils little boy, four-and-half years old, saw his father coming and ran to meet him, but just got behind the coach, which knocked him down, and run over his legs close up to his thighs, cutting one entirely off, and leaving the other hanging. The poor little fellow only lived 35 minutes.

The parents of the child were witnesses of the sad scene. They do not feel to blame anyone for their child's death, realizing that it was entirely accidental. The remains were brought to this city and baried this afternoon.

Court Proceedings .- In the Third District Court to-day, in the suit of Rose Griffiths vs. F. D. Clift, the motion for a new trial was denied, and 30 days' stay of proceedings allowed in which to perfect an appeal.

In the case of the People vs. Frank McDonald, indicted for burglary, it was ordered that defendant's witnesses be subposnaed by the Marshal. David F. Walker vs. Lewis B. Rogers; plaintiff asked for judgment for costs upon the verdict, and defendant objected. The Court ordered that the cests be divided between the parties, and that judgment be entered according to the verdict. United States vs. Frank Treseder; indicted for bribery; demurrer submitted and overruled; ordered that the defendant appear on Monday next for arraignment.

The People vs. B. Y. Hampton, conspiracy, etc.; motion of bondsmen to surrender, heretofore submitted, denied for the reason that no copy of the undertaking, and no certificate of the officer to the surrender, had been produced to file, with the order. Ruling excepted to by counsel for bondsmen. The grand jury came into court and reported three indictments under United States laws, and one under Territorial statutes. Philip Steinhart vs. Fanny Davenport; judgment by default entered as prayed for, on motion of Attorney S H. Lewis.

The accounts of the United States District Attorney were approved by the court. The suit against the bondsmen of Fanny Davenport was taken up and argued by Mr. Dickson. The Rush City (Minn.) Post evidently thinks the late chairman of the "Utah Commission has not permanently ceased from aspiring to office. It says of him: "Alexander Ramsay has resigned his position as chairman of the Utah Commission. This great and good man abandons the cause of monogamy and leaves the Mormon Saints to the mercy of their plural wives. Do Farmer Gibbs and Charley Gilman realize that Bluff Aleck may yet ship his castor into the gubernatorisk ring 'for the good of the party?'"

THE memorial of the "Mormon" women, adopted at the recent mass meeting held in Salt Lake, was pre-sented to the Senate by Senator Blair, of New Hampshire, on Tuesday, and was ordered printed in full in the Congressional Record.

-On the afternoon of the 6th, while On the afternoon of the 6th, while Simon Child, a little son of W. G. Child, Sr., of Ogden, was handling a loaded rifle which his brother had brought into the barn on Mr. Child's premises, the weapon was accidently discharged. The bullet found a resting place in the neck of the little fellow's brother Theodore. Dr. H. J. Powers was called in, and he extracted the bullet and the patient is doing firstrate. It was a narrow excans firstrate. It was a narrow escape, however, for if the bullet had struck a little further forward, it would have extinguished his vital spark. There is no blame to be attached to the parents, as the boys had obtained the gun with-
