

"strong arm of the government should be employed to wipe out from the face of civilization every Latter-day Saint in Utah, men, women and children."

A murderer at heart, and yet he calls himself a follower of the meek and lowly Jesus.

Church doors being closed against us, we consented to speak in the court house, where, at 4 p. m., we had the pleasure of addressing a large and respectable audience on the subject of the Gospel. The Lord gave us, on the occasion, a rich outpouring of his Holy Spirit, and we gained a good victory for the cause of truth. In the neighborhood of Miner Hill, Squire Noblet and others received us with real southern hospitality, and opened their church doors to us, when we held five excellent meetings, all of which were well attended. Much prejudice was removed. Some are reading and believing and the prospects are very good to raise up a branch of the Church.

Finding ourselves near the State line we crossed the Tennessee River into the State of Alabama, where we held two meetings and testified to the people of the truth of the great latter-day work. We also, on June 13th, visited J. J. Barclay, ex-United States minister to Turkey. His wife is the youngest daughter of the late noted Rev. Alexander Campbell. She is a generous and fine spirited woman. She sang and played for us several pieces of music; and in return we showed them a copy of the Book of Mormon, and left them some strong testimonies of its divine origin. They seemed to be deeply and favorably impressed. During the few days of our sojourn in Alabama we found a few persons of faith; we also, on two or three different occasions, came in contact with wicked murderous men, who threatened us with violence and drove us from their doors.

At the little town of Pettus, which a few years ago was almost entirely destroyed by a hurricane, we called upon a doctor, director of the Methodist church, for a hearing, were kindly received by certain members of the family, to whom we taught the truth. The doctor becoming jealous of our influence flew into a violent rage and ordered us to leave his house. We tried to reason with him, but to no avail; the more we tried to reason with him the more threatening and violent he became. When springing from his chair, with murderous intent he ran into a back room for his gun or revolver. Considering discretion the better part of valor, we quietly withdrew from the premises.

In our travels we frequently find sign seekers who request us, as a proof of our ministry, to drink deadly poison, to carry serpents in our bosoms, to walk on the water and "fly through the air." Christ said it was an "evil and adulterous generation" who sought after signs.

Since our last letter we have baptized 4 persons, ordained a Brother L. F. Hamblen to the office of an Elder, and organized a small branch of the Church at Calboka, consisting of six members. Two families of 13 souls, the fruits of our recent labors, are preparing to emigrate to Colorado this fall. Brothers Argyle and Gann have also baptized three persons, and the prospects for the future are good. Recently Brothers G. Carver and H. Belnap joined us and will labor for the present in this conference.

Yesterday we held a good meeting here; several of the brethren spoke; Brother Stuart and myself also left our parting testimonies of the truth with the people. Brother Joseph Argyle was voted in as successor to Brother Pratt as president of the Tennessee conference. The Saints of Tennessee are a faithful and warmhearted people, and in taking our farewell of them we feel very grateful to them for the many marks of kindness we have received at their hands. All being well we shall leave here to-day on our return.

Your brethren in the gospel of peace,

P. P. PRATT,
D. STUART.

SHORT AND SHARP.

"How did you come to get married?" asked a man of a very homely friend. "Well, you see," he replied, "After I'd vainly tried to win several girls that I wanted, I finally turned my attention to one that wanted me, and then it didn't take long to fix things."

A certain lawyer was compelled to apologize to the court. With stately dignity he arose in his place and said: "Your Honor is right, and I am wrong, as your honor generally is!" There was a dazed look in the judge's eye, and he hardly knew whether to feel happy, or fine the lawyer for contempt of court.

"Young man," said a stern old professor to a student who had been charged with kissing one of his daughters, "young man, don't get into that habit. You'll find that kissing is like eating soup with a fork." "How so, sir?" asked the student. "Because," answered the stern old professor, "you can't get enough of it."

When a girl wants to have a good picture taken she should try to counterfeit that expression which takes charge of her features while she gazes fondly over the shoulder of her young man when he is writing something about doves and forget-me-nots, in her autograph album, or when he goes down deep in his pockets and rises to the surface with a paper of gumdrops.

It was a new girl who was a stranger in the town. The young lady of the house was much put out by her wanting to go to church on Sunday morning when she wanted her maid in dressing. "I don't see what you are so anxious to go to church every Sunday for," she petulantly observed last Sabbath; "you can't know any fellow in Danbury."—Danbury News

It is fun to watch a man endeavoring to raise the cork out of the neck of an ink bottle. The cork generally comes out pretty hard, especially when it is covered with sealing wax; and some how or other the ink flies up in his face and all over his shirt front—that is, if he has on a new shirt. If the shirt happens to be old and of no use the ink flies over his shoulder and dapples the wall.

A short time ago a little boy went with his father to see a colt. He patted the colt's head and made quite a fuss over it, until finally the stableman told him to be careful that the colt didn't turn round and kick him. When the little chap went home his mother asked him what he thought about the colt. "I like him pretty well," was the reply. "He's real tame in front, but he's awful wild behind."

The other day a farmer met a friend in Detroit who asked him how prospects were out in the country. "This dry weather is just killing everything," was the doleful reply. Some hours afterward a storm of rain broke over the city, and as the farmer ran in and out of the wet his friend said, "This will do good out your way." "Maybe, maybe," said the farmer, "but it's mighty rough on them's got hay out to-day."—Detroit Free Press.

It is said that the woman who hesitates is lost. This is not always so, however. Quite frequently it is the other woman who is coming right back of her and doesn't see her stop to pick up her dress. In one instance, last Sunday, on our main street, the woman who ran against the other was thrown, and in falling split a hole in her own silk with her own sunshade. Ladies in pausing to get the proper hold of their skirts should ring a bell or step out into the roadway.—Danbury News.

The best recipe we know, if you want to be miserable, is to think about yourself, how much you have lost, how much you have not made, and the poor prospect for the future. A brave man with a soul in him, gets out of such pitiful ruts and laughs at discouragements, rolls up his sleeves, whistles and sings, and makes the best of life. This earth was never intended for a paradise, and a man who rises above his discouragements and keeps his manhood will only be the stronger and better for his adversities. Many a noble ship has been saved by throwing overboard its most valuable cargo, and many a man is better and more humane after he has lost his gold.

Important to Wool Growers!

I take pleasure in announcing that I am making a pure "TOBACCO SHEEP DIP" from the best Kentucky Leaf, which makes an article of uniform strength and purity, without the addition of poisonous substances, and should be diluted 100 parts to one (although safe to use at any degree of strength) for dipping sheep.

This dip is convenient for use, as it only requires water to dilute it. As tobacco is so well known to wool growers who have used the same, I can only add that I have it in this convenient form for them—put up in one and five gallon tin packages, sealed tightly.

Order either of my Sheep Dips, viz.: Concentrated Extract of Tobacco. Also, Non-Poisonous Sheep Dip. Price per gallon:
