constock, the San Francisco Chronicle says; A revival on the Comstock lode has been expected for a long time. It was supposed that the draining of the low-er levels by the hydraulic pump would create it. But that was in a large sense a speculative idea and it failed. Extensive gambling in Jimstock shares ended years ago, It will take something more than a new system of milling to revive Nothing short of the discovery of one of the old-time ore bodies can do it. Working the lode on economical lines and making dividends by legitimate methods will doubtless restore con-idence in Comstock properties for in-vestment, but these things will not resurrect the spirit of speculation.

PRICES ARE MOVED UPWARD

At the Opening There Was a Well Distributed Demand for Railroad Stocks.

Bulls Marked Some Stocks Up a Point Steady Rise in St. Paul-Southern Pacific Down.

New York, Oct. 31 .- Prices moved up ward at the opening on a well distributed demand for railroad stocks. Five thousand shares of Southern Pacific sold simultaneously at 3814 down to 38. The market fell into extreme dullness. The bulls detected buying to cover shorts in augar and metropolitan street rallway and promptly marked them up a point. While the demand for Southern Pacific was small, the price improved to 38% before any pressure was felt. Near 11 o'clock the market was a shade off from the best.

A rise to above 116 in St. Paul steadied the market for a time. Persistent of-fers of Southern Pacific above 38 event-ually drove the price below that level and the other Pacifics were affected in sympathy. New Jersey Central rose 2 dausing the list to rise slowly STOLEN GOODS ARE FOUND Mrs. Atkin Recovers Household Props erty Taken Three Years Ago.

After a lapse of three years, Mrs. Anna Jones Atkin, formerly of Salt Lake but now of Provo, has recovered the property that was stolen from her house, when she was living on T street in this city. At the time the burglary was committed she was out of the city and when she returned she found her house literally empty, not an article of value was left and the disposition of the stolen property valued at $350, re-mained a profound secret up to a few weeks ago, when Ex-Deputy Sam Dowse got hold of a clew, and shrewdly worked upon it. Going to - cottage near Agricultural park representing himself to be an insurance agent come to inspect the house he located what he thought to be the lost articles. Monday morning Sheriff Storrs, of Provo, and morning Sheriff Storrs, of Provo, and Mrs. Atkin came up and Mr. Dowse conducted them to the house containing he suspicious goods, all of which were dentified by Mrs. Atkin. The lady of he house said that the goods had been ought at an auction, but she consented give them up rather than be subted to prosecution for receiving olen goods. Mrs. Atkin gathered up some of the goods and took them Provo with her last evening, the bal-ance will be sent on later. There are some other articles that have not yet been located.

MEAT AND PROGRESS.

They Go Hand in Hand, and Meat-Eating People Run the World.

The steady growth of the demand for meat in this country can only be explained by the assertion that the people are eating more meat than ever before. Of course the export demand has increased but the demand for home consumption has also increased and is still increasing. The Chicago Drovers' Journal says:

t'Meat consumption per capita is steadily increasing, and the nations whose inhabitants eat most meat are loing most toward subduing, pos ing and improving the earth. eating Britons encircle the globe, not only with their influence, but their possessions. India, containing greatest number of vegetarians, ex came under the control of the English beef eaters. Japan never woke up to the possibilities of her importance among the nations of the world until her people began to realize the value of meat. Chinamen are fond of pig meat and if they should come to get a taste American pork and form a beef, such as America grows to perfec tions, they would not be so much at the mercy of their enemies. At any rate, meat eating is on the increase and so is enlightenment." ENGLAND'S MEAT SUPPLY. It Has Been Great'y Reduced by the Shutting Out of Argentine. Either the United States is unable to supply the beef and mutton needed in England and which has been furnished by the Argentine, or else an effort is being made to force the dressed product on the market in place of the live stock. The London Meat Trade Journal says: ports were closed against live animals from Argentina on account presence of foot and mouth in that country, and the effects are becoming increasingly apparent in the diminution of our imports of live cattle and sheep for food. There has been some slight expansion, as compared with last year, in the shipments of sattle from the United States and Canada, but far from sufficient to make good the diminution in the supply from the River Plate, Accordingly the eight months' import of 327,729 head is 27,378 less than the corresponding total at this date last year. The absence, at this date last year. The absence of Argentine sheep from the slaughter houses is accompanied by an actual de-cline in the numbers from the United States and Canada. that South America's failure has not proved to be North America's opportunity. Our eight months' import of sheep, numbering 300,518 head, is 183,387 below the corresponding total in 1899. This falling off in the arrival of animals on the hoof has been accompanied by a large acrease in our carcass imports. fresh beef and mutton our months' imports total up to 5,228,577 cwt, or 347,773 more than at the same This increase, howperiod last year.
