

EVERYONE PROUD OF CADET CORPS

Three Hundred Boys Who Won Envious Reputation Go Back to School.

PRaise HEARD EVERYWHERE.

In San Francisco and All Along the Line Kindness Met the Boys More Than Half Way.

When in the drill hall of the armory yesterday afternoon when the cadet battalion was dismissed after its arrival home from San Francisco, there was a little scene that explains the success of the battalion, that accounts for its splendid record since its organization five years ago.

EVERY MAN DEPENDABLE. "This battalion will turn out three times more during the present school year than to have a big picture eight feet long taken to be presented to the admiral—our admiral. It will turn out again some Friday to be later designated in the parade for the citizens of Salt Lake as an appreciation of what they have done for us. It will turn out for the last time this year for the Memorial day parade. I want to know how many men I can depend upon?"

"Every man cheered and held his hand high in the air. Not every man, no; there was a corporal and a sergeant mixed in with the other men, who did not hold up their hands. "Why can't I depend upon you, corporal?" asked Capt. Webb.

"I have some school work that will take all my time to make up," was the explanation offered by that man. "How about you, sergeant?" asked the captain of the other man. "That is my fix, too. I have a little work to make up."

Tired But Disciplined. The boys arrived here yesterday afternoon shortly after 3:30 o'clock. They were tired, but they had not forgotten the lessons they had learned at their camp ground at the Presidio. Not a laggard in the ranks, not a boy missing, not a one of them sick.

WILL NOT ASK AID. "The people of Salt Lake did more for them than they could do for us. They were so good to us that we can never say how well we appreciate their manifold kindnesses. We cannot go to them to ask that they give us further aid, and we will not do it. The concert in the tabernacle given the evening before our departure has not been fully accounted for, owing to the absence of Mr. Eaton and Capt. Webb from the city. The boys and Capt. Webb are very tired after their trip and Prof. Eaton has much at school to occupy his attention before the accounting can be made. We are hoping that when the account is straightened out we will find that there is no shortage. But the committee will handle that and it will not ask the people of Salt Lake to do more than they have done—so much more than we thought possible at first. They were so good to us.

The boys are now back at school. They have not forgotten their trip, nor will they ever forget it. They cannot feel but that they were accorded exceptional honor and that through the realization of their trip they have a standard to live up to. It was a trip that taught them more than a year's schooling, taught them a lesson in patriotism that will linger with them, and made of the 300 boys, 300 men.

Capt. Webb said yesterday in dismissing the battalion: "I am proud of every man of you. This is the proudest moment I have ever lived. Men, you have made good."

And every cadet was proud of his commander.

THE STOP IN OGDEN.

Cadet Corps Pays Compliment to High School in Recognition of Kindnesses.

An incident of the parade on the streets of Ogden yesterday afternoon by the Salt Lake High school cadets and which was witnessed by many hundreds of people on the main street, was the salute to the cadets by Capt. William A. Cavanaugh of the Fifteenth Infantry stationed at Fort Douglas and who accompanied the governor's party to the city to welcome the boys. The cadets, led by their commander, Capt. Webb, were marching up the street and Capt. Cavanaugh moved to the center of the street accompanied by some friends and when the "boys" came by saluted them as though they were battle-scarred veterans returning from the front. The salute was returned by the cadets at the command of the officers of the three companies. When the start was passed with "Old Glory," Capt. Cavanaugh and his friends uncovered their heads and remained so until the color bearer had passed. The act of Capt. Cavanaugh was warmly commended by people along the line of march who immediately became enthused with patriotism and they too drew to attention and saluted the flag.

After the parade had passed, Capt. Cavanaugh watched them for some minutes and in a tone that rang with pride, said, "There's a fine bunch of men. They work like regulars."

The boys then marched to the Ogden High school to acknowledge a debt of kindness and at the turnout they were loudly cheered at the school.

Among those at the union depot early yesterday morning was a laborer by the name of C. Dempster, who penned the following rhyme:

I. There wasn't very much ado— What wuz there to be done? But Utah's men, an' wimmin, too, All loves him—yes, by gum!

II. We didn't come to see no feet— No battalions could rob Him of the glory when we greet Our brave old "Fightin' Bob."

III. We didn't make no speeches, yet Our hearts wuz full o' throbs, An' many'n eye wuz kind o' wet, (An' so wuz "Fightin' Bob's").

IV. We seen his poor, tired, shrunken leg, We whispered pray'rs to God, "O Lord of all, we humbly beg, Be good to "Fightin' Bob!"

OVERLOOKED SOME BOOTY. During the absence of the family of Joseph Corrao last night, burglars entered the residence, 344 east Seventh South, and stole a lady's gold watch and other articles to the value of $25. The thieves were evidently frightened away before completing the job, as, according to the value of $50 and considerable jewelry were lying loose in a dresser drawer, a revolver lying on the bed was left undisturbed.

CREAMERY FOR SALT LAKE

Plant to Cost $100,000 is the Latest Proposition in Ranks of Home Industry.

In contrast to a cry of protest from Denver that ex-Senator J. C. Button of that state is the head of a great butter making plant, which, in fact, imports and sells only oleomargarine, to the extent of 60,000 pounds a week, an announcement is made in Salt Lake that the town is to have a real creamery to cost $100,000, and to include the buying of real cream from farmers at cash prices, among its other activities.

The new creamery is to be located in Salt Lake and to have an annual capacity of 6,000,000 pounds of butter. Until it is established the promoters are to make a start in the business in the Faust creamery here. They are W. F. Jensen of Topeka, Kan., and A. F. Henningsen of Butte, Mr. Henningsen is now here, while Mr. Jensen is in the east buying equipment for the plant. It is their belief, according to the declaration of Mr. Henningsen, that the Salt Lake market is now a safe one for all dairy and hen products and that these will increase in importance in the next three or four years to proportions previously unattainable.

That a permanent cash market will induce farmers to go into the bee, poultry and dairying industries is the conclusion of the promoters of the big dairy scheme, and in this connection Mr. Henningsen says: "It is the intention of this concern to operate exclusively in butter, cheese and eggs and we believe the development of this industry will be a great factor in the upbuilding of the intermountain states. With the tremendous outlet that will be assured the farmers through the association with the Henningsen Food company there will be no possible chance of overproduction,

COUNTY DECREASES DEBT.

In Marked Contrast to City, Which is Trying to Add to Burdens.

The last of the county's bond issue of $120,000 made in 1897 was wiped out by the action of the county commissioners yesterday, in an order for the issuance of a warrant for $60,000 to pay the same. This cuts the total indebtedness of the county down to $30,000, which was refunded last year at 4 1/2 per cent instead of 5 per cent, which the debt had been drawing previously.

The bonds paid yesterday were due in 1917, but as the county has the money, the commissioners decided to pay the debt and wipe out the interest. This is in marked contrast to the present situation in the city, which is now contemplating the issue of $600,000 in bonds to add to the burden of the taxpayers.

TAKES BUGGY TO SAVE CHILD.

Dr. Van Cott Answers Hurry Call to Ray Naylor's Home.

Upon receiving an urgent call for medical assistance yesterday afternoon, Dr. Ernest Van Cott hurriedly left his office in the Templeton and seeing the vehicle of Dr. Calderwood standing near by he jumped in and drove away. Not far had he gone when he was overtaken by an officer who demanded to know to who and whereof of such a proceeding. The doctor hastily explained and then drove to the residence of Ray C. Naylor, whose child he was unwillingly taking to the hospital. Dr. Calderwood early discovered his loss and believing that a real theft had been perpetrated, promptly notified the police. It was the second time that his horse and buggy had been misused, on the former occasion having been hard driven to several hours and then left tied without food or water. This time, however, Dr. Calderwood was of the opinion that the ends justified the means.

Dr. Van Cott succeeded in saving the Naylor child who but for his timely arrival would doubtless have died from the large dose of poison in his system.

COMMON SENSE VS STRONG DRUGS.

Simple Oil of Wintergreen Cures Eczema and Drives Out Old Foggy Treatment.

If you were to hack your finger or scalp your arm, you would apply some healing remedy as soon as possible, wouldn't you?

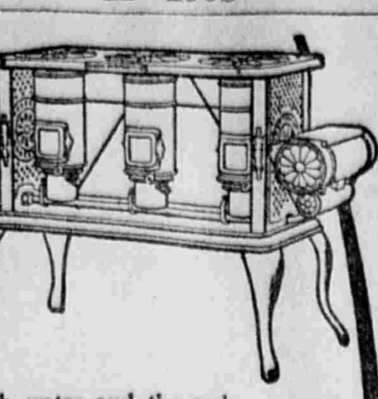

That would be good common sense and it would bring the quickest relief. You surely would never think of drinking medicine or doctoring the blood to cure a surface affliction.

It's just the same principle with distemper of the skin. Eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum and barber's itch can be cured and cured easily if you strike right at the trouble as you do with a cure a surface affliction.

Don't dose the stomach. Cure the skin through the skin. We know D. D. D. and you for it. Call at our store and let us explain. Druehl and Franken and Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept. Booklet on skin diseases free.
