SENATOR DUBOIS OPENS CAMPAIGN

Bewails Bitterly the Fact That Idaho Papers Will Not Print His Ravings.

REPUBLICANS GET BUSY.

Public Schools Begin Work for the Year—General News Budget From The Idaho Capital.

Special Correspondence.

BOISE, Ida., Sept. 14.—Senator Fred T. Dubois opened his anti-Mormon campaign in Idaho last Tuesday evening at the Columbia theater, where hundreds gathered to listen to his ravings. He was formally introduced by Rev. Lemon of the Christian church. He opened his address with words of lamentation over the fact that his party (which he called Democratic) had no newspaper to voice its principles in this state, and that necessarily it must communicate to the people by word of mouth. The Statesman and Evening Capital News (Boise papers) would not print anything for him, he claimed if they were paid for it; for he had tried them.

After arraigning his political opponents for a few minutes, the senator plunged right into what he called the "paramount issue in this campaign," namely, the "Mormon question." Unless this issue is met and properly disposed of, Mr. Borah and his friends, he said, will not carry one county in Idaho, save possibly two or three in the southeast. So prophesied Fred T. Dubois. He went on to say, "I have not made the issue. The people of this state and the United States have made it."

Referring to national legislation, with apparent view of courting favor among Republicans, the senator stated that according to the congressional records and the works in Congress of Senator Heyburn, Congressman French and himself, you could not tell to which party each belonged, so close did they hang together on all questions. The most important battle, he claims, is left to him alone to fight.

He referred incidentally to the sugar question, but went far enough into it to say that the people of Idaho would be better off if they had none at all; for, he shouted, they are all controlled by the Mormon hierarchy at Salt Lake, who are in combine with the leading men of the church and the confederation of church property. This all he claimed to be justly administered to this "corrupt, treasonous organization." After this, he continued, came the manifesto as a result of these persecutions, and the revolt within the church. "All was quiet for a time and then came a renewal of the practice, John Henry Smith, Cowley and Lyman came around telling people how to vote. Then the Mormons were all Democrats, now they are all Republicans. And now the fight is on again and the Democrats are loyally arrayed in battle against the enemy of our womanhood and our homes."

The senator here took another drink and then jumped upon the Republican convention at Pocatello. He declared "Every delegate in this fair state blazes when he thinks of the complete surrender at Pocatello to the hierarchy at Salt Lake." Borah and Gooding were taken by the name of the necks, he continued, and told "to get together and they did."

Alluding to conditions in the Mormon counties of Idaho, the speaker declared that hundreds of polygamous children are being born each month.

DRAWN TO CLOSE.

After talking for nearly two hours Dubois finally concluded to draw to a close. He observed that he was wearying his hearers. But his concluding remarks were somewhat sad. As if his future doom was foreshadowed to him, he said in part, "If I do not win it will be because of the 25,000 votes scattered through southern Idaho." At this point he evidently discovered another unexplored oil pot within him, and he touched it off, and this is what came from him: "I have been honored more than any other man from Idaho. But after hearing that appalling testimony at Washington, I never could come back to Idaho and say all is right, with this slight and curse of Mormonism upon our fair state," he said in the saddest tones of all. "If I am now to part with you, I implore of you to keep your state clean."

Senator Dubois began his anti-Mormon campaign last Monday before the county convention, and again Tuesday evening in the Columbia theater.

IN FEDERAL COURT.

A suit in the federal court, which has gained considerable local popularity, was disposed of yesterday. It was that of Alexander Bleasinger vs. Oregon Railway and Navigation company. The plaintiff asked damages to the extent of $10,000 for injuries received from falling off the train near Baker city, Oregon, while traveling to his home in Canyon county, Idaho. There was no vestibule on the car, and in passing into the passenger coach from the dining car he lost his balance and fell from the train. He alleged negligence on the part of the company. The verdict of the jury in the case was in favor of the plaintiff allowing him $2,750.

Vern T. Burns, charged with the theft of several hundred dollars from the Oregon Short Line Railway company, while in the employ of that company as ticket agent at Boise, who was recently captured in California by Joe Jones after a long chase of many hundred miles, was given a hearing before Judge Savage Tuesday. He was bound over for trial in the district court, but being unable to furnish his bond of $500 was retained in the custody of the sheriff.

DIVORCE PROCEDURE.

Five applications for divorce were granted by the district court Tuesday. Two others were deferred. At a meeting of the Idaho Inter-mountain Fair association this week about $2,500 were raised for the awarding of premiums, and $5,500 for purses for races at the coming state fair to be held in October. Last Monday morning, Robert Harville and Victor Brooks, aged 12 and 13 years, left home ostensibly for school, but neither has been heard from since. Diligent searching has been in progress ever since, but no trace of them has been found. No one seems able to even offer a suggestion as to the cause of their disappearance. The parents of the boys are almost distracted.

The first carload of sugar to be delivered from the new sugar factory at Twin Falls was received by the Idaho Mercantile company of Boise, it having had in the first application. This car will be delivered the 20th of this month.

OPENING OF SCHOOLS.

At the opening of the city schools on last Monday 1,121 pupils were registered. This shows an increase of 106 over the opening day last year. The Boise schools expect to enroll about 3,000 pupils this year.

The September term of the federal court opened Monday. The special session of the court, which was called to enquire into the alleged timber frauds whereby the government is alleged to have been defrauded out of a large tract of timber land in Washington county. A. W. Cook of Brookville, Pa., through E. S. White, is said to have secured about 20,000 acres of this timber land during the last four years. Out of the 20 witnesses chosen, 29 were from the vicinity of Meadows, Washington county.

The work of examining witnesses was proceeded with yesterday. It is not yet known what testimony the witnesses will give out, but enough is already advanced to arouse great interest in the case. It is claimed the grazing laws have been violated by grazing sheep upon the forest reserves. These cases will also be rigidly investigated.

One witness seemed rather defiant yesterday when he stated unhesitatingly that he had filed upon a valuable timber claim and within one hour disposed of it at a handsome profit. He said he dealt with his own money and it was none of the government's business. And to kind of justify his action he stated further: "I know of people who took timber claims who did not have $1.50 to their names, and if did not have $1.50 to their names, I don't see why any one should complain."

REXBURG ENTERTAINS VISITORS FROM CONGRESS.

REXBURG, Idaho, Sept. 13.—Last Saturday six Pullman cars, carrying 200 delegates to the irrigation congress at Boise came to Rexburg. The visitors were met at the station by the militia, brass band and a large number of the citizens of the town. The march was up Main street to Second East and then south onto the hill. After a short visit among the dry farms the delegates were escorted back to town, where, in the commercial parlors, they were served luncheon, after which Judge Hyrum Ricks welcomed them into his midst, to which Gov. More of Washington responded speaking very highly of the people here. Delegates from Utah, Kansas and Wyoming made short speeches eulogizing the people for the great work being done in converting his once desolate country into comfortable homesteads. Thirty states were represented and after two hours' fellowship the delegates departed for their homes singing the praises of Idaho.

The main feature of the new water works system are almost all laid and the water will be in them in a short time.

A slight frost visited these parts during this week nipping the vegetables and doing some damage to un-matured hay and grain. Most of the crops, however, are out of the reach of frost.

The beet crop is better this year than last and digging starts on the 20th. An extra shift has been put on at the knitting factory, in order to supply the demand for knit goods.

The academy begins its winter's work Sept. 24, and already the teachers are arriving in order to secure boardings which are scarce.

BURLEY CORRESPONDENT TELLS OF CONDITIONS.

BURLEY, Sept. 13.—Elder Miles Durfee of Oakley returned yesterday from a mission to the Southern States, having been gone about 29 months. The damage done by the recent fire is more serious than reported. Taylor & Sons, E. S. Whittier, lost all account books, so it will be impossible to tell what their loss actually was. A fire was started by flying shingles in the yard of the Burley Mercantile company, but was extinguished before any damage was done.

It has been rumored that the opera house could be rebuilt, but on account of the cost of the building being out of town, this cannot be confirmed. H. Ward & Sons have not yet decided whether they will rebuild or not. Hyrum Ward, who lost his barn and hay, will build and continue in business. Nellie Adamsen will also build at once.

SUGAR FACTORY, BLACKFOOT, IDAHO.

nesday and went to Twin Falls the same day.

Mrs. Isabella Webb, accompanied by her daughter Helen, left for Salt Lake Monday evening to visit members of her family. It is reported that Miss Helen will remain at Salt Lake and have her name changed by going through the temple sometime during the week.

Stephen Burston of Albion is on his way back to Chicago, where he is taking a course in electrical engineering. United States Commissioner Barber, whose office was burned in the recent fire, has opened up an office in the Danison building opposite the O. S. L. depot.

A number of citizens took advantage of the low rates offered by the railroad to Twin Falls on account of the fair. Friday about 350 delegates to the irrigation congress came down on a special train pulled by two locomotives. About an hour was spent inspecting the Milner dam. Arriving at Twin Falls, they were met by the reception committee, headed by the brass band. A hearty welcome was accorded them, together with a substantial breakfast, plenty of fruit and melons. At 1 o'clock teams were gathered to convey the visitors over the tract. About 15 teams were loaded, all headed for the Shoshone Falls and Blue Lakes. At the latter place they were greeted with open arms by Mr. Perrine, the owner. After spending a couple of hours viewing the scenery and partaking of the luscious fruit and watermelons, the party returned to Twin Falls, where they boarded the train on their way to St. Anthony. Many expressed themselves as being surprised at what could be done in a short time by means of irrigation. They also stated that this was the most pleasant feature of their trip.

Saturday, Engineer Ross accompanied by other members connected with the Minidoka project, was taken over the country on the south side of the river by B. C. Edwards and George Craner. They found the most of the people at their places getting ready for the water; some had already cleared the brush and fenced, while others had done but little. The visit of these gentlemen has greatly encouraged the settlers on this side, as they assured them that work on the project is being pushed as fast as possible and that the water would be on the land before a great many would be prepared for it.

EVERYBODY IS BUSY AROUND SUGAR CITY.

SUGAR CITY, Fremont Co., Sept. 13.—Everybody is busy these days getting in the hay and grain crops and preparing for the big rush when beet harvesting time comes. Most of the second crop of alfalfa and grain is down and the yield of both is reported very heavy, especially so on the dry farms located on the bench lands east of Sugar City. There will be plenty of hay for feeding purposes and the sheep are commencing to work their way from the summer ranges to the winter feeding grounds. The beets are ripening fast and preparations are being made to commence harvesting on the 20th inst. The crop is by far the largest this section of the country has ever seen and the quality is better than that of any other factory a large force of men is at work rushing the repair work, so as to have the mill ready for operation on the 24th of Sept., as that is the date set for commencing the campaign.

There is no letup in the building of new houses are going up in all parts of town and the contractors have their hands full to complete the work planned before winter sets in. Mark Pratt has let the contract for a pretty modern residence to be built on First North; Austin Bros. are building a large stable and storehouse on the west side of town; A. I. Comstock, cashier of the Fremont County bank, is busy moving from his old quarters to the handsome new bank building that has just been completed. Sugar City is putting on a rather lively appearance lately. Many strangers and visitors are seen coming and going, some to see the town and some looking about with a view of locating here. As is possible, it is not surprising that Sugar City has no saloons or gambling dens and wonder how it is done. The explanation is easily made. Sugar City is composed of quiet, peaceable citizens, and all are working to keep the town clean of such things.

Last Tuesday the Commercial club gave a smoker. It was an informal affair and everyone present expressed themselves as having a good time. The evening was spent in music, recitations, speeches and other good things. A kangaroo coat took the boards much to the amusement of those present.

Tonight a wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Wilkinson will be given at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Jensen. The couple were married yesterday in the Salt Lake temple. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson will make their home in Sugar City.

Saturday night Manager Fred J. Heath and Captain Will Johns will banquet the "beet" baseball team and their sweethearts at the Commercial club rooms. The team has won the amateur championship of Fremont county, having lost but three games out of seventeen played.

Last night this vicinity was visited by a light frost and today considerable rain has fallen. No damage has been done to the crops.

The afternoon of the 5th was intensely hot in most localities, and the night of the 6th-7th was in the southwestern valleys the warmest night of the summer. At Boise the minimum temperature on the 7th, 70 degrees, was the highest minimum on record for September. The 8th was somewhat cooler, but the mean temperature was still above normal. On the 9th the weather became much cooler, particularly over the western portion of the state, and on the morning of the 10th light frost formed on good crops, resulting in small amounts of rain, and some light precipitation occurred in western localities on the 9th. The total in most instances below the normal for the week. The week was generally free from high winds.

The first part of the season was generally cool. July was abnormally warm in all sections, while August temperature was about normal.

HOT POLITICS AT PRIMARIES

Republicans Put up Two Slates—Restraining Order Issued Against City Mayor and Council.

Special Correspondence.

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, Sept. 12.—The public schools opened on Monday and almost every class room was so short order crowded beyond its capacity. The school board has been compelled to rent one of the basements of a local church until the new school building is completed. Over 800 scholars were present on the opening day.

The Republican primaries were held here Monday in all four wards. The slates were in the field, the Republican party being somewhat divided, thus being what is called here the young and the old Republicans. The two factions put up a very spirited fight with the heaviest work concentrated in the first and second wards. In the third and fourth there was perfect harmony. In the first and second the old Republicans joined forces with the old Republican and ran the primaries. Every able voter was on hand and the Chairman appeared and endeavored to vote. They won hands down. However it looks as though the young faction will carry the day in the county.

A restraining order has been issued against the city of Idaho Falls prohibiting it from working on the proposed power dam. Neal McMillan is the plaintiff although it has every appearance of being made at the instigation of the Idaho Falls Power and Transportation company. The reason assigned for the action is that the city, by its mayor, and council, has no legal right to contract indebtedness greater than the amount of bonds issued. The power plant, it is estimated will cost from between $35,000 and $90,000. The mayor and council will fight the matter out in the courts.

Frosts have prevailed during the past few nights. Tender vines have been badly ripped and it is feared that some of the late grain has suffered.

Before I had taken half a bottle my cough was much better, and in a short time I was entirely cured. I surely believe it saved my life. It will always be my family remedy for colds."
