

IN OTHER STATES.

McKinley's Re-election in Ohio
Thought to be assured.

IOWA DIVIDED BY BOTH PARTIES.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill.—Both the Republicans and the Democrats are divided over the election of President Hayes. The Republicans are divided into two parties, one supporting him and the other supporting Mr. Tilden. The Democrats are also divided, with some supporting him and others supporting Mr. Tilden.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Many rallies in many cities have been held in support of the Democratic candidate, and this morning the voters began gathering their will at the polls. These are the first state elections since the presidential election was inaugurated, and the first since the great silver fight in Chicago. There has not been sufficient time since the end of that fight to develop its effect on the country at large, political as well as financial, and winning the battle now with a small majority of the popular vote is a decided advantage of the national party. They do not hope for more than that, even if they know the result of the election will be favorable to the Democrats. The Democrats expect to win by a wide margin, and the election will be decided by the national political questions largely. The political situation is now more clearly defined than it has ever been before.

The outcome of the election largely depends upon the result of the presidential election, which will be decided by the popular vote.
