

Protably the most pretentious ban- | ciferation reached its zenith. His speech quet ever given in the State of Utah was that tendered to Senator Clark at the Commercial club last night. There

Oh the Saints who dwell in Zion, And the Angels on the shore, Had yearned to be united Full twenty years or more. And financiers from Buffalo, give me a chance to shoot myself. For-give me as you can be forgiven. I greet you all with a thousand greetings, -Herman." To this was an incoherent postscript.

Among the man's effects was a num-ber of letters from his parents and other relatives, and a tele-gram from Houston telling him that a ticket and money awaited him at the horse to a pole in front of a harnes Union Pacific office here, and instructing him to call for the same. The stranger was an arcritect and evidently shop on First South street, near West a man of means and refinement. Word is expected from Huston, Texas, today from relatives there, as to what disposition to make of the body.

GUARD'S ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT

were something like 300 guests present and all did homage to the Montana multi-millionaire who has finally removed the last lingering doubt that may have existed with reference to the building of the San Pedro road from here to Los Angeles, and then on to the coast. Altogether the occasion will be long remembered and should really mark the beginning of a new era of industrial growth for Utah.

Senator Clark made his appearance about 8 o'clock, and for a time he was kept busy shaking hands with the men who had met to do him honor. The commodious and elaborately decorated room of the club house presented a most animated scene. Occupying prominent place in the decorations was a large, life size likeness of Senator Clark. About 9 o'clock the guests repaired to the banqueting room which was almost bewilderingly beautiful. When Senator Clark appeared he was cheered to the echo, and when Judge Powers was introduced by Joseph A. Silver, vice president of the club, as toastmaster of the evening, there was general approval; and a most excellent toastmaster the judge made. Then for more than three hours the feast proceeded. About 11 o'clock J. Ross Clark, brother of the senator, came in on a belated train from Los Angeles. His reception was extremely cordial and very gracefully did he respond to the welcome.

POWERS AS TOASTMASTER.

Judge O. W. Powers was in his happlest vein and from the time he rose to his feet until Senator Clark led the singing of the Star Spangled Banner some four hours later, whenever the toastmaster essayed to introduce a new speaker he was the recipient of much applause. After Mr. Powers had indulged in some preliminary remarks upon the occasion of the organized expression of the people of Utah toward Senator Clark as presented by the gathering in the banqueting hall he launch-ed into a dissertation upon the true mission of wealth which he argued was not to treat humanity as though were dependent upon its bounty, but rather to greet men as equals and with them engage in co-operative effort to make the barren places more habitable and build up communities where none before existed. Both the miner and the farmer were world benefactors he maintained and wealth thus gained was untainted by usury, and as it was thus gained there spring into existence towns and marts of trade. Incidentally he paid a glowing tribute to the self-made man and the force of sheer pluck. He concluded his eulogy of the honored guest of the evening by saying: "I feel that I may say that although man may drape your shoulders with the toga of a senator, and while you may become the official head of a grea transcontinental and oceanic transpor tation system, that neither public place nor corporate power will add greater luster than your life-work has given to the name which you have stamped upon the mountains of the west, and which will endure through time-the name of a great American William A name of a great American, William A. Clark."

GOV. WELLS' HIT.

The toastmaster then introduced Gov. Wells who responded to the toast "Our Buest." The governor immediately got into touch with his auditors and was interrupted frequently by applause as made a happy hit. But it was when proceeded to recite a home-made te made a happy hit. whiskers" that the laughter and voings with which our hearts abound to-ward him. No matter how sincerely meant, such expressions might have to one of his type and temper the blance of flattery, and that would give offense. The effort would be entirely superfluous, moreover so far as this vas and beaming company is concerned, for at best I could only feebly and in part convey the sentiments of esteem which one feels. You may, therefore, rest content, sir, with the assurance that your presence gives us genuine pleasure, and that our greeting possesses the true cordiality that should exist among friends. And when to this assurance is the observation that the ments here manifested are shared by the whole community, enough will have been said to cause you to realize that you may make yourself feel just as free and natural as you want to, and that you are entirely at home.

SHEER FORCE OF PLUCK.

In the personality of a self-made man there is always something of interest there is always something of interest, something that exacts esteem. In his record and from the fund of his ex-periences may ever be drawn something that will give encouragement to others. We like to meet and mingle with mer who, by sheer force and pluck and perseverence have advanced themselver from the ranks of the masses to affluence and eminence and lofty station Such men's lives and labors furnish : spur to resolution, and supply new evi-dence of the comfortable thought that with those who are made of the right stuff, there is no such word as fail.

HAS WON HIS SPURS.

It is a pleaasnt and exaiting reflection that from those who seem born to dig and delve, there comes now and then one who moves mountains. Tollers there must needs be, and there are mil lions whose ambition and capacity are content with such a fate. But captains there must also be, whose ceaseless energy and breadth of conception lift then out of environments however me-diocre or constrained. And the pro-position is both sure and salutary that in this great land of ours, by neither birth nor bequest nor adventitious in cident are our captains endowed. By cident are our captains endowed. By morit and industry they show their fit-ness, and no hindrance can keep them back. It is because of the possession of these qualities, and because of the ttainment of this position that we make manifest on this occasion our admiration of the particular captain who house us he here an energy the who honors us by being our guest. His success he has himself won; and for any new Pegasus he may choose to mount-why, he has already won his epurs.

RAILROADS ON PAPER.

Our present concern in him, however, is less excited by any possible inten-tions as to the winged horse, than en-lievened by his aims and declarations as to the iron horse. It is not the pur-suit of the muscs-it is the capture of the markets, the establishment of new commercial relations, that moves us to lively interest in his operations. We have had many railroads to southern California-on paper. There have been numerous surveys, and charts, and concessions and rights of way, with com-fortably furnished local offices for the would-be magnates, and great volumes of journalistic eloquence and ingenuity explaining how it was going to be done. HOPE DEFERRED.

Our hopes have been sent soaring as on eagle's wings, only to be dashed "with a sickening thud," like the fa-bled tortoise, upon the rocks of the hard, unyielding earth, which somehow or other declined to grade and girdle itself with rails at the wish and behest of promoters. We have at so many times had railways to Los Angeles in our minds that we simon forced to our minds that we almost feared to put our fingers in our ears lest they should be crushed by the machinery. We have not only bestowed boquets

With millions at their back hundred times had started Right in to lay the track.

And engineers from Swedenborg, And magnates from Oskosh, The hundredth time had ridden down The Meadow Valley wash.

And they rambled round the from mines, And surveyed many a route, They first laid out the desert, Then the derest laid them out.

And the air was full of cinders, And private cars and smoke, And City Councils granted blocks, To companies that went broke And still the Saints gazed longlingly

Far o'er the sunburnt ground, Nor heard the rustling Angel's wings Nor locomotive sound. When the little man from out the north

With whiskers sprinkled o'er His face in thick profusion. Came knocking at the door.

Oh, I hear you want a railroad," He said with modest smiles; 'A road that's warranted to run Full seven hundred miles.

I'm a little busy just right now, But if you'll wait and please Be patient till I get things fixed Out in Los Angeles.

'I'll some day come and see you sure, And tell you what I'll do. And there's one thing to depend on I'll own the road clean through

I want no gold or subsidy, Nor grounds for city station, I only want your faith and prayers And full co-operation.

Oh this little man with railroads, And with whiskers everywhere, Is full of million dollar bills, But never an ounce hot air.

And so like Mary's little lamb, The patient people waited, Until Their faith and hopes and prayers And dreams eventuated.

And now just hear that chorus raise From off the desert dark, The Saints and Angels shouting praise To William Andrew Clark.

KEARNS INTRODUCES CLARK. Senator Thomas Kearns was the third Senator Thomas Kearns was the third speaker and received warm recogni-tion. In a few words he introduced the guest of the evening to whom he re-ferred as "the pioneer of Montana, the honest miner, banker, financier, and United States senator, and yet with all that the humble, honest, good generous and noble-hearted fellow-W. A. Clark. I am proud to be with him in Salt Lake Clity."

SENATOR CLARK'S LONG TALK.

City

Senator Clark, president of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake, spoke for nearly an hour during which time for nearly an hour during which time his speech was constantly interrupted by cheers, clapping of hands and the thumping of cutlery upon the tables. When he told of his first visit to Salt Lake in 1862 with a span of mules, branded B. H., and $2,500, the result of his gold mining in Montama as his sole control the banquaters fairly made the capital the banqueters fairly made the rafters ring. As he touched on what would be done in the direction of developing the country by means of branch lines the applause was no less marked. When he eventually resumed his seat three cheers and a figer were given with a vim. Senator Clark said: Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Commercial Club of Salt Lake:-Standing in the presenc of and as the hon-ored guest of this representative assem-bly of the highest type of manhood and citizenship, which cannot be excelled in intelligence, enterprise, courage and pa-

Other colored men informed the officers that [ the New York coon had left Ogden this morning and he was followed to Uinta where it was ascertained he had boarda train for the east. Officers along the railroad have been notified and it is thought the thug will be in custody be-fore night. Dr. Gordon, who attended to the injuries of the youth, is of the opinion that they are not necessarily fatal.

An attempt to burglarize the residence of Abe Coone, on Madison aven-ue and Twenty-fourth street was made last night. The thieves had started to break into the kitchen window when a neighbor discovered what was going on and telephoned for the police. The noise made in calling for the officers, however, alarmed the intruders and they made good their escape.

BIDS REJECTED.

At its meeting last evening the board of education rejected all bids submitted for work on the new annex. The rea-son for this action was that the architect had submitted other plans which were more acceptable and new bids on these will now be advertised

A wagon presently bumped into Spalding's horse which frightened him so that he broke which frightened him so that he broke loose from the rope and tore up Rich-ards street. The runaway there smash-ed into one of McCoy's best rigs, which had been hired by a Denver traveling man, bending the rear axle; and then caromed off to the other side of the street into an Eigin dairy wagon. The Spalding horse then broke loose from his overturned rig, but was captured, while the dairy outfit thrashed around while the dairy outfit thrashed around into South Temple street, and in front of the "News" annex the horse climbed into a buckboard rig owned by Mrs. Margaret Smith of Eleventh South and Eighth East streets. Fortunately, Mrs Smith had just alighted, so she was un art. The dairy horse caught in the ackboard so that the rear wheel had be removed in order to extricate the simal; and what was remarkable. M:s. Smith had a tub of eggs in the sysgon and not one of them was broken. A one was hurt in any of the collisions.

THE POPE'S HEALTH.

Dr. Lapponi Contradicts Alarmist Reports About It.

Rome, June 18 .- Dr. Lapponi has giv. en the Stampa a long interview, contradicting the alarmist reports circulated concerning the points theores that the physician says the pontiff is wonderful-ly well for a man of 94, and that his presence at the consistory to be held Monday next will be the best answer to pessimists. Dr. Lapponi adds that the pope was

MORE INDICTMENTS FOR POSTAL FRAUDS.

Washington, June 18 .- The federal grand jury which has been investigating postal affairs probably will bring in five indictments today against persons involved. Asst. Dist. Atty. Toggart, who has the cases in charge for the government, was at his office earlier than usual this morning and was busily engaged in going over the indictments. He denied himself to all callers Although every effort has been made to keep the public in ignorance of the action to be taken until the papers were ready for presentation by the grand jury it is learned on unquestioned authority that the jury has voted to re-turn indictments against August W. turn indictments against August W. Machen, Diller B.Groff, Samuel A. Groff, George E. Lorenz and Mrs. Lorenz, the two latter being residents of Toledo, Ohio, The specific charge it is understood, will be conspiracy to defraud the government

The fact that new indictments would be returned against Machen and the Groff brothers has been talked of for some time around the courthouse but it was not expected that action would It was not expected that action some be taken so soon. The sensational fea-ture of today's probable proceedings is the connection of Mrs. Lorenz's name with the transactions which led to the arrest of Mr. Machen and the Groffs. At the time of the arrest stories were in circulation that there was a go-between but the information at hand then was not conclusive enough to establish the identity of this particular party. Whether or not Mrs. Lorenz acted in this capacity is not known but it has been suggested that this go-between was a woman
