

the committee on cemetery, Councilman Cohn and Kirkpatrick presented an ordinance in conformity with their recommendation. It amended section 3 of the existing ordinance, the only change being that the maximum price of lots is placed at $125 instead of $20, the existing figure. It should be observed that the committee on municipal laws has never had the matter in hand, the cemetery committee performing its functions in the matter.

The following extract from the report is interesting in view of the facts connected with the subject:

"Our committee desires to be understood that we do not by any means advocate a general advancement in the price of cemetery lots. The minimum of $12 per lot remains as it was and there will be no scarcity of cheap lots for years to come. Considerable sums of money must be expended annually to beautify the cemetery. With the steady growth of the city, expenses naturally increase in this as well as other departments, and it is but right to look after the revenue. All of which is respectfully submitted."

The committee state that they do not advocate "a general advancement in the price of cemetery lots."

No. These gentlemen would hardly do such a thing, as such an advocacy would be wrong. They, however, in their report and by means of the ordinance presented by them would make it possible for the section to charge more than any lot in the cemetery since its establishment, namely $125, the existing maximum being $20. The placing of the price upon these lots is left discretionary with the Section, subject to the approval of the Council.

The approval business is a nominal matter and is no protection under existing circumstances.

The pretended reason for this proposed outrage is that "considerable sums of money must be expended annually to beautify the cemetery." Now look at the transaction in its relation to this statement! In order to beautify the cemetery it is necessary to pay money and available to get the necessary money for its improvement. This is indeed a complex proposition.

The avenue into which it is proposed to cut is one of the most attractive features of the cemetery. It was the intention of the old council to run a grass plot up the entire length of the cemetery, and on it plant trees of every desirable variety. Now it is proposed, for grasping and sordid purposes, to reduce its width from three to two rods. Besides being susceptible of being transformed into the most attractive feature of the city burial grounds, the main avenue is a public convenience, because it is the facility with which teams can pass each other on it as they enter it from the narrower thoroughfares.

The committee say: "It is right to look after the revenue." We might here be allowed to suggest that that seems to occupy the attention of the city government more than any other subject. There is not much danger of the increase of revenue, resources and the lavish expenditure of the people's money being to any extent neglected.

The Council minutes of last Tuesday show that a motion was made to amend the rules and pass the ordinance submitted, and that, after on city burying grounds, forthwith. This brought Councilman Louis Cohn—one of the committee members who recommended the measure—to his feet at once. He stated that hereafter he would oppose the passage of any and all measures at the same meeting, because they introduced. It seems that this motion of seeming legislative consistency adopted by the committee, resulted in the motion to pass being lost. We trust that Mr. Cohn will adhere to his determination to "defy the law in the future."

He previously has in mind the action of the entire Council on the sewer ordinance, which was passed without being read at all. It was pushed through by a "thumbs up" process, Mayor Scott being the Simon who suggested that the reading of the important ordinance was a needless formality, because it was already registered.

There are a few points that may be appropriate for the public as well as the Council to consider in connection with the monstrous proposition in question. The section receives ten per cent of the proceeds of all the sales of cemetery lots. The minimum price is $12 and the proposed maximum figure $125. It is no longer connected with effecting a transaction of this kind. The purchaser makes his selection, the section names the price and on payment of it to him he issues a certificate or deed which is filed up in a few minutes. On a twelve dollar lot, of which there will probably be some, should the proposed ordinance pass—the section gets a fee of $1.25, and on one that costs $125 he gets $12.50. The amount of labor connected with the one transaction is no more than with the other. Can any person give a good reason why the section should be paid a large amount of the people's money in the one case compared with his revenue in the other? It will be observed, also, that the section's fee on a lot sold at the maximum price is more than the entire price charged the purchaser at the minimum rate. Now, just look at that! There is an idea of the enormous Messrs. Cohn and Kirkpatrick expect to create for the section, and the extent of the robbery they would perpetrate upon the people, we will note the income which would be derived from the avenue if it is proposed to mutilate alone. It is asserted by the committee that the partial destruction of this beautiful feature of the cemetery would provide six new lots, of the most valuable class. Say for instance that they would bring in $100 each—this is about the rate stated by Mr. Cohn—that would bring in the sum of $600 from that source alone. Of this amount Section Dunes would pocket $60. The sale of each of two lots would probably take up about half an hour of his valuable time, or thirty hours in the aggregate. Six hundred dollars for thirty hours' work shows that Mr. Dunn must be a man of inestimable value. Twenty dollars an hour is not bad wages. It should be remembered, however, that all the time the sale of these avenue lots is in progress, the thirty section is deriving a fat revenue from the sale of the lots at large, the price of which, according to the new ordinance, is raised between $12 and $125, regulated by the discretion of the presiding genius of the people's burying grounds.

As soon as Moore approached his room door, he saw at a glance that a robbery had been committed. The thought of the Canadian miner entered his mind like a flash, and he called out to the thief. The Canadian piece was offered in payment, and although it attracted the barkeeper's attention, nothing was thought of the matter until he went home a few hours later.
