

DEMOCRATS ARE NOT ADMITTED

Are Not Permitted to Participate in Consideration of Tariff By Senate Committee.

ALDRICH DEFENDS ACTION.

Senator Aldrich Wanted to Know if Framing a Tariff Bill Was A Private Snip.

Washington, April 1.—What turned out to be a general debate on the tariff was a feature of the Senate proceedings today on Senator Bacon's resolution favoring the consideration of tariff legislation by the full committee on finance instead of by the Republican members of that committee only.

Senator Aldrich insisted that the procedure adopted in this case was similar to that which had been the practice of the Senate for 50 years in dealing with tariff measures, and he added that the same method was adopted in handling the Wilson tariff bill, for which, he said, a substitute was framed by a subcommittee composed of Democrats.

DEMOCRATIC CONTENTION.

The Democrats contended for representation at hearings by the committee and argued that the Republican members sitting as such had no right to authorize the expenditure of the public funds in furtherance of an ex-parte consideration of the bill in committee. The resolution was finally referred to the committee on finance.

When Senator Bacon called attention to a statement made by Senator Hale last Monday that he had just come from the committee room where there were "30 or 40 Democrats or dissatisfied Democrats," it was explained both by Mr. Hale and Mr. Aldrich that the number had been "overestimated." It seemed, Mr. Aldrich said, that all the people coming before the members of the committee have been experts, whose assistance has been necessary for a proper understanding of the question being considered. He said the house had been having hearings and had published nine volumes of them, and he doubted whether any Democratic senator had read any part of them.

"You will have to make an exception in my case," said Mr. Bailey, interrupting, "although I have not read all of them, and don't intend to."

Mr. Aldrich said the experts are not subpoenaed nor paid any witness fees, and he declared that their statements were not public at all.

Senator Daniel insisted on knowing what objection could be urged by the senator from Rhode Island against the Democratic members of the committee hearing the statements. "Is it," asked Mr. Daniel, "a private snip for the purpose of framing a tariff bill without giving a right to representatives of the people to hear the testimony?"

PURPOSE OF COMMITTEE.

Mr. Aldrich said it was the purpose of the committee, so far as he knew, to hold public hearings.

Senator Rayner strongly opposed the majority method of framing the tariff bill.

"When you are dividing the plan," he said, "at least be fair to each other. On behalf of the senator from West Virginia, I at least beg of you to give him back his raw materials. He has stood with you on the field of battle and when the hour of submission comes the senator from West Virginia will be here and his protesting voice will not be heard in this hall against a single article on the schedule."

He referred to the coal mines of Senator Elkins and his indignation over the proposition to place the products of his state upon the free list.

"We, on this side," he said, "are in the camp of the vanquished, and so far as I am concerned, I would rather be in the camp of the vanquished than in the camp of the victors in the possession of the spoils."

Mr. Rayner declared that the Republican procedure was merely a stop chamber process.

ALDRICH REPLIES.

"I have a right," said Senator Aldrich, replying to the latter charge, "to have a conversation without having a Democratic senator cross-examine the person whom I conversed with." He declared that the Democratic members of the finance committee were holding meetings of their own, and that they had their experts.

Mr. Rayner said the members of the committee lost their individual character when they became a committee of the Senate charged with a public duty.

Mr. Aldrich replied that if the senator from Maryland should frame a tariff bill, he would not get the Democratic votes for it.

He said a distinguished senator from Maryland (the late Mr. Gorman) has stated the Wilson bill on lines that did not agree with the ideas put forth by the present senator from that state, and he did not believe he represented the views of all the people of Maryland, even of the Democrats of that state. Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina, Louisiana and other states of the south, he said, are no longer in sympathy with free-trade principles.

"You might as well be frank," said Mr. Aldrich, addressing the Democratic senators, "and admit that I don't intend to let such a speech as that of the senator from Maryland deter us from bringing just to every southern state. This tariff policy will be just to every section and to every interest of this country. I am quite certain that the senator from Maryland will have no followers upon his side of the chamber."

Senator Bailey indignantly resented the right of Senator Aldrich to speak for the Democratic party on the tariff issue and added that when the time came to vote that party would be found sustaining the principles of taxation that had so long been maintained by it.

Speaking of the inheritance tax proposed in the house bill, he said he would rather tax the living rich by means of an income tax than to tax the dead, "who are only moderately well to do," as proposed in the inheritance tax.

Mr. Aldrich suggested that the matter contemplated in the Bacon resolution would be taken care of by the committee of finance and it was by a viva voce vote referred to that committee.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. John Reed entertained the members of the bridge club yesterday at a luncheon at the College Inn, the table having a Cluny lace spread and a centerpiece of pink and white carnations. Afterward the club played bridge at Mrs. Reed's apartment at the Narves, the prizes being won by Mrs. J. T. Taylor and Mrs. T. R. Black.

The Women's Republican club will hold a meeting at Unity hall next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and Mrs. L. S. Stroup will give the "Gospel of the Rule Direct Primaries." The hostesses will be Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Hines and Mrs. Standford.

Mrs. C. E. Richards entertained at an informal luncheon yesterday for Mrs. A. E. Kessler, the table being decorated in ferns and covers laid for a half dozen.

At the card party given by Mrs. Beer yesterday in honor of Mrs. L. L. Looming, five tables were played and prizes won by the guest of honor and Mrs. Abner Luman. The decorations were in daisies.

An interesting program was given at the meeting of the Current Events and Current Literature sections of the Ladies' Literary club this afternoon. Mrs. C. E. Richards read from "Aunt James' Experiences," by Eliza Calvert Hall, and Mrs. C. W. Watson read a paper, "How I Came to Write 'Temptations.'" At the next meeting of the section the annual election of officers will take place.

Mrs. J. F. Grant Jr. entertained at a card party on Wednesday at her sister Mrs. D. C. Booles of Ogden, the decorations being in white tulips and ferns and six tables played. Assisting the hostess was Mrs. William Hunt.

Tonight the Governor's club give their last ball of the season at Ogden hall and preparations have been made for a delightful affair.

Mrs. W. D. Donohoe entertains her card club this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Odell and Miss Marie Odell left for an European trip today accompanied by their chauffeur Mr. Potter. They sail from New York for France on April 15, and will do much of their traveling by motor car, expecting to be gone six months.

Mrs. William Thurston Brown will be guest of honor at a reception given at the home of Judge and Mrs. D. N. Strain, by members of the Lloyd Alliance.

The board of directors of the Utah Federation of Women's clubs met this morning at the university and were afterward entertained at luncheon there.

Go to the Tabernacle tomorrow night and hear Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans in his famous lecture, "From Hampton Roads to San Francisco," Bufile call at 8 o'clock.

The best place to dance, is at the Ogden Socials. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday Evenings.
