BATTERED VICTIM AT MORGUE

It May be Coincidence But Jack Lavery, Who "Died of Alcoholism," Answers Description.

An interesting question for police inquiry is the matter of the death of a man named Jack Lavery, whose body lies at O'Donnell's undertaking parlors, with a death record showing that he came to his end through alcoholism. His age is given as 45 years, and he resided at 31 Second East street.

The matter to determine is whether this Lavery has anything to do with other causes than alcoholism. The face is badly battered, and discolored, as if a club had been used in producing a hastening end, there would be evidence enough on the face to convince a jury that the club had been used well and skillfully.

This morning a conversation was overheard on a First South street car, west-bound, by a reporter of all of the local undertaking establishments for the body of a man who had been beaten about the face and head.

Late this afternoon the body of Lavery was found, answering the description. While the matter may be entirely a coincidence, and may have absolutely no connection with the conversation on the street car, still there is room for investigation which could not be carried to completion this afternoon.

"I tell you," said one of the three on the car this morning to her companions, "when a man comes home drunk and starts to abuse his wife, I think she's a perfect right to defend herself. If she took a pick handle to him, and smashed his head in with it, it's her own affair, and I don't think the police ought to be told anything about it."

To this the man answered: "Yes, I think that way, too. I was going down to tell the police, but I'll never do it so far as I am concerned. A woman has a perfect right to use any weapon she can get hold of on a man that comes home drunk, and she ought never to get into trouble over it, either."

MRS. LAVERY SILENT.

At 2:40 o'clock this afternoon the "News" located Mrs. Lavery at her home on south Second East street. She was in a high state of nervous excitement and refused to answer questions, referring the "News" to Dr. Douglas.

All that could be learned from her was that her husband had long been given to drinking; at such times would remain away from home. Friday she hunted him up and succeeded in locating him. She brought him home Saturday evening, and then she says he took sick, finally dying Monday.

"I turned the body over to the Knights of Pythias lodge to which he belonged," she said, "and they got Dr. Douglas to examine him. Dr. Douglas testified that he died of pneumonia, and he was sent to O'Donnell's undertaking parlors. Efforts to get the wife to say more than this were unavailing, and she declined to answer questions. The couple were married nine months ago, and since that time Lavery has been a constant carouser while Mrs. Lavery has worked to support both herself and the man.

DOCTOR'S VERSION.

Doctor C. L. Douglas was located in his office in the Auerbach building. He was suspicious of the case, "he said, "I was by no means satisfied that the death was from alcoholism, and I did not certify that it was from pneumonia."

"I was first called in Saturday evening and noticed the beaten-up expression of the patient, I thought he was getting over a jag, and would recover. Sunday I again called, and he seemed improving. Monday noon they telephoned me he was dead. I turned the case over to Dana T. Smith, acting coroner, and have not heard of it since."

"Did you know anything of an encounter?"

"Well, I understood that the woman used some instrument on the picket from a fence or some such instrument, although I did not know the details."

DEATH OF M. MONROE.

Veteran of Mexican War Passes Away At Preston, Idaho.

Marcellus Monroe, a Mexican war veteran, formerly a resident of Utah in the early "fifties," died today at Preston, Idaho, which place had been his home for 30 years. Mr. Monroe was bound for California, when upon reaching Utah he joined the Church and remained here. He led an expedition to Salmon river, Idaho, for the relief of the men at the mission there. The deceased was 80 years of age and is survived by several children. The funeral will take place at Preston on Sunday next.

At the University today two talks were made which indicate a growing policy in favor of widening out athletics. It was the occasion of the presentation of a silver loving cup, given by a class of 1895, to the senior class, winners of the interschool football championship.

In his speech of presentation Prof. William G. Roylance attacked the present policy of putting the interschool series at the end of the season, instead of at its beginning. "While I know the coach," he said, "cannot excuse his time to the club team, still I feel that they should be one at the beginning of the season, and that from their members men should be picked for the principal squad."

Couch Maddock followed Prof. Roylance with a speech in which he favored the new movement, and said that with the 100 suits ordered for next year, he would be glad to provide a class series, and to thus use up probable material for the main squad.

A "U" club was also organized today, to include all those who have made their varsity emblems in athletics. Bryant, Palm, and Snow were elected president, secretary and record keeper respectively. These with Judd and Grant comprise the executive committee.

The members of the victorious senior class team are Jones, Meyerhopper, Peterson, Woolley, Hatch, Haver, Bennion, Goldman, Ledger, Allen, Hunter Hintz, Holder and Herbst.

VAN HOUTGTON ON TRIAL

Charged Jointly With Geo. Wilson and "Razor Jack" Richardson With Robbery—Wilson Guilty.

Paul Van Houghton was placed on trial before Judge Armstrong this morning for robbery, alleged to have been committed by him, "Razor Jack" Richardson and George Wilson on Nov. 27 last. The evidence being given in Van Houghton's case is practically the same as that given in Wilson's case during the two days.

Wilson has been found guilty and will be sentenced Monday. The trial of Richardson will come up March 2. During the examination of yesterday, much amusement was occasioned by the answers of Van Houghton, who was excused. Mr. Burt, in answer to a question of James Smith, asked him if he had ever been robbed, said that he had been robbed, and was being robbed every day. Mr. Burt then asked him if he believed he was being robbed every day by the capitalist class. He listed John D. Rockefeller as one of the larcenists and included in his list almost everybody, but the butler man to the house in which he had been robbed, and even in between. When he was asked if he had ever been robbed by such a man as Van Houghton, he rose to his feet and declared that he was not certain one that he had not.
