

SOCIAL CHAT

Three interesting social events of the day are those planned for the Mrs. C. S. Denison, the president of the General Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. C. S. Kinney entertained at luncheon between 12 and 2 o'clock, this afternoon. Mrs. P. A. Vincent will give an informal tea at her home, and tonight a large reception will take place at the Ladies' Literary club, given in her honor by that organization.

Mrs. Thomas Kearns gave a pretty children's party on Wednesday for her little daughter, a cakewalk being an amusing feature in which Alen McMillan and Robert Jennings won the cake.

Albert and Charles Elbert were guests of honor at a musical on Tuesday evening given by Mrs. J. S. Houtz.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glendinning entertained at an informal dinner Monday evening.

Miss Zibella Clayton will give a reception on Wednesday, Oct. 7, in honor of Miss Annie Saville and Mr. James Tyler Young, who are to be married Oct. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cunningham entertained at a christening dinner this week at the Alta club after the christening of their baby. The table was in white and pale green, asters and maidenhair fern being used.

Mrs. H. G. Williams entertained the ladies of St. Mark's Guild this week at a Kensington at her new home on the corner of First and O streets.

Mrs. W. F. Jones and her sister, Mrs. Kell, entertain at an afternoon party next week.

Mrs. John Reinsmar will entertain at luncheon, followed by a euchre party on Thursday.

RECEPTIONS AND HOMES

The week opened with the 4 o'clock tea given on Monday by Mrs. C. I. Tuttle and Mrs. Bartling in honor of Mrs. Sparks of Nevada, whose illness, however, unhappily prevented her from being present. The affair took place at the home of Mrs. Bartling in the Holmes terrace, the whole lower floor of the Louise building being thrown open and beautifully decorated with palms, asters, sunflowers and ferns. The reception hall being in yellow, the parlors in red, and the dining room in white and green, with asters, pale green ribbon and green candelabra shades used with charming effect. The hostesses were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Russell Tracy, and in entertaining by Mrs. Pinkerton and Mrs. Dunn. Mrs. Langly poured tea, Mrs. M. K. Parsons presided at the coffee, and Miss Mamie Ross served punch. Delightful vocal numbers were rendered by Mrs. Kate Bridwell Anderson and Mrs. Martha Royle King.

Mrs. Alma Denbigh Katz was guest of honor at an informal tea on Monday given by Miss Helen Shearman, about 20 of the intimate friends being present. The rooms were simply but prettily decorated, and a delightful time enjoyed.

The bright hues of autumn leaves, red asters and dahlias mingled with the scarlet tints of ribbon streamers and candelabra shades made a brilliant picture of the home of Mrs. W. H. Dale on Wednesday, when about 50 guests were entertained at a luncheon. Baskets of berries, sprays of woodbine and beds of fern added in the picturesque effect. An orchestra furnished delightful music, and assisting Mrs. Dale in entertaining were Mrs. David E. Hemphill, Mrs. Frank B. Stephens, Mrs. Russell Lord Tracy, Mrs. Fred Hale, Mrs. Geo. Steiner and Miss Rosalie King.

Another delightful tea given on Wednesday was that at the Country club in honor of Mrs. W. G. Sharp and Mrs. T. B. Davis, at which Miss Mary Louise Anderson was hostess. The day being so fair, the refreshments were served out doors, the tea table being at one corner of the porch and the chocolate at the other. These were decorated respectively with nasturtians and marigolds and dark red dahlias. Mrs. George K. Fischer with Mrs. Arthur Bird presiding at the one end and Mrs. Robert Harkness and Mrs. Union Worthington with Miss Hanauer at the other. A game of clock golf was played on the links, the prizes being won by Mrs. Davis, Miss Woodward, Miss Burke and Miss Hamner.

On Wednesday Mrs. W. H. Dale entertained a second delightful tea, the rooms being beautifully decorated as before. She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Sam Bransford and Mrs. David Evans, and assisting in serving refreshments were Mrs. W. H. King, Mrs. Levi Evans, Mrs. George Putnam and Miss Dora Dague.

Mrs. A. D. Melvin held an informal reception on Wednesday, at her home on First street. The rooms were prettily decorated, and about 60 guests called the hostess being assisted by Mrs. John Reed, Mrs. A. G. Andrews

CLUB CHAT.

The great event in club circles this week has been the meeting of the state Federation on Thursday, Friday and today, the event being doubly interesting from the presence of Mrs. Denison, the president of the General Federation, and the excellent program planned for the occasion. The meeting has been an important and most interesting one, and will be remembered with pleasure by those participating either as members or guests.

A notably pleasant event in club circles

was the opening meeting of the Reviewers, which was held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Nelson. It was distinctly a musical afternoon, Mrs. Nelson giving a paper on "Women in Music"

and the music of a number of women who have attained note in musical composition being rendered. Mrs. Kate

Bridwell Anderson, Mrs. Plummer,

Mrs. M. R. King and Miss Edna Dwyer

gave the vocal program, and Mrs. Agnes

Osborne, Miss Isabel Monahan and Miss Oliver the instrumental. The new president, Mrs. C. D. Moore, gave an informal address.

The Cleofan holds its first meeting of the season next week, when Mrs.

Stanley Clawson will read a paper on

Stephen Phillips.

The meeting of the Round Table club

was another unusually interesting event. The club met with Miss Jean

Preston who was also chairman of the day. Sir Lewis Morris, the Welsh

poet, was the subject, and Miss Preston read a biography from material gathered on her recent trip abroad. The place cards were exceptionally interesting and unique, being Welsh dolls purchased in Wales, dressed in the Welsh

fisher costume, and carrying the native

fish baskets. The table was decorated with old English china, ferns and nasturtians effectively arranged. Present

as guests were Mrs. M. B. Whitney,

Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Gannett.

On Monday evening in honor of their 20th wedding anniversary.

The wedding of Miss Pauline Moore

and Mr. Herbert Bower on Wednesday evening was one of the prettiest of the season.

The First ward Mutual gave a very enjoyable and unique reception in the social hall on Thursday evening. Great credit is due Mrs. Margette Dusenberry

for her untiring efforts.

Mr. and Mrs. Alma Smoot have moved to Heber to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Pratt of Salt

Lake will reside in Provo for the future.

Misses Meulach and Lena Bachman

are enjoying themselves in Salt Lake.

Mrs. Dottie Lewis is down from Col-

on on a visit.

The Fifth ward gave a very enjoyable fruit festival on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Edwards of Salt

Lake was in Provo on Wednesday.

Mrs. Jacob Evans is a Salt Lake visitor this week.

Mrs. Phil Speckart and Miss M. Alice

Isely are the Provo delegates to the federation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Evans have been visiting friends in Provo for a week.

Prof. E. W. Nichols was a visitor to Salt Lake during the week.

Mrs. Maud Rich has returned from a six months' visit to her husband who is laboring as a missionary in England.

A number of our pretty young ladies

have left our quiet little city to engage in "wielding the birch" in other locations. Among them are the Misses Clara

Irons and Dagmar Olsen.

The pleasant smile of Apostle R.

Clawson was noticed on our streets

during the week.
